Grandma—"People don't seem to marry as young as they did when I was a girl."

Grandfather—"No, old dear, but they do it oftener."

Dear Office Cat—Is a football coach a two, three or four wheeled vehicle?

Important Disclosure

"John," said his young wife, "have you any secrets you keep from me?"

"Why, no," he replied, wondering what in the world was coming.

"Well then, I am determined I will have none from you."

"You have secrets, then?"

"Only one, and I am resolved to make a clean breast of it. I'm afraid it will disturb you, John."

"Go on," he said hoarsely.

"For several weeks I have had a secret, John—a secret longed for a new dress, with hat to match."

Why is it that a married woman always waits until her husband is in bed before she asks him if he locked the back door?

A near-sighted man lost his hat in a strong wind. He gave chase but every time he thought he was catching up with it, it whisked from under his hand. A woman screamed from a nearby farm house.

"What are you doing there?"

"He mildly replied that he was trying to retrieve his hat."

"Your hat?" exclaimed the woman. "There it is over there under that stone wall; that's our little black hen you've been chasing."

Today's sunshine is mine, says the optimist, and he leaves tomorrow's clouds for the pessimist.

STRONG ELEVEN IS EXPECTED AT U. OF O. IN 1922 SEASON

EUGENE, Sept. 9.—University of Oregon expects this year to turn out the strongest football team it has had since the great Oregon eleven of several years ago which defeated the University of Pennsylvania and lost to Harvard by one point.

Last year the Oregon football machine was slow in getting up full steam but when it did start it went good and finished the year by defeating the champion navy team at Honolulu 25-0. This year the same Oregon eleven, minus only four men, will take the field at, it is hoped, the same pace it was traveling at the end of last season.

Four good men are ready to step into the positions of the four veterans who will not be back. The men to go are "Spik" Leslie, Mart Howard, Bill Reinhart and Bart Loughlin.

Although practice will not start until September 15, under Pacific coast conference rules, observers already are predicting that Prince Callison will play center, Van der Ahe, Spears and Bliss will be candidates for end posts, and Mautz, "Red" Brown and Shields will be among the candidates. Turkeson, a backfield star on the freshman eleven of a year ago, will try for a varsity post this season.

Football chiefs are coming back to the campus to get ready for the season. Coach "Shy" Huntington, who has been guiding hunting parties in the Cascade mountains near here, will be back in a short time to join Bill Hayward, trainer, who has returned from California. Huntington is optimistic regarding the prospects.

Oregon has four games at home, the one on November 11 against Washington State being probably the hardest of the year. The other home games are: September 29, against Pacific University; October 7, against Willamette university and October 14 against the Multnomah club. The traditional battle against the Oregon Agricultural college this year will be played at Corvallis November 18. The team plays Whitman college at Pendleton October 29, Idaho at Portland October 28 and the University of Washington at Seattle November 29.

RAT ATTACKS CHILD

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Large field rats in Bronx park, tiring of the diet of raw meat which they have been taking away from the lions in the cages at the zoo, set out today to rob children of goodies they were eating on the grass. One of the rodents, infuriated because 4-year-old Helen Miller clung to a cracker it tried to take away from her, buried its fangs in her leg and hung on until it was slain by workmen. The workmen then slew about a dozen more of the big rodents, which were darting about among other children in the park.

CENTER COLLEGE IS LOOKING FORWARD TO GREAT YEAR

DANVILLE, Ky., Sept. 5.—With twenty-six veterans of the squad that last year took Harvard into camp, Centre college football officials are looking forward to another great team this year. The schedule calls for ten games, with Virginia Polytechnic, Harvard, Clemson, Auburn, Kentucky and Washington and Lee being included.

"Bo" McMillan, the great quarterback of the last four years will not be with the colonels. Neither will Tom Moran. But "Red" Roberts will be present to guide the destinies of the Colonels.

Backers of the team are counting on young Herb Covington filling the hole left by the graduation of McMillan to a large extent. Some claim that Covington, while perhaps lacking the almost uncanny football instinct of the mighty "Bo" and his knack of outwitting the opposition, is a better broken field runner than McMillan. Veterans expected to report for duty on September 13, include: Captain "Red" Roberts, Terry Snoddy, Herb Covington, Hump Tanner, Mino Gordy, Buck Jones, Ed. Kubale, Bill Shadson, Tom Bartlett and a dozen others. The Colonels will not be able to use any freshman this year. Chick Murphy has been retained as freshman coach. Charlie Moran and "Chick" Meyers will have charge of the varsity.

The schedule follows: Sept. 23.—Carson-Newman at Danville; Sept. 30.—Clemson at Clemson; Oct. 7.—Mississippi college at Danville; Oct. 14.—Virginia Polytechnic at Richmond; Oct. 21.—Harvard at Cam-

THE STRAND

Football enthusiasts, of which there are an ever-increasing number, will find some stirring moments in a gridiron conflict which forms one of the sequences of "The Great Alone", a production starring Monroe Salisbury, which will be presented at the Strand theatre, commencing Sunday.

Contrary to the usual custom of picturing a corner of a stadium with a handful of people as spectators, the producers have reproduced the actual feature game of California's football season: Stanford vs University of California. And the scenes of the rooters' sections in the stadium will prove a revelation, aside from the stirring action on the field.

"The Great Alone" tells the story of a football hero who carried his chivalry into the great Canadian fastnesses and proved himself a man among men, though handicapped with the stigma: Half-Breed.

THE LIBERTY

"The Duke of Chimney Butte," in which Fred Stone appears in his favorite role of a cowboy, who puts to rout a band of cattle thieves, will be the feature attraction at the Liberty theatre today. It has to do with the adventures of a cowboy, who protects a young woman ranch owner against the operations of a band of cattle thieves.

"Sisters," the great production which shows how married life can be made real happy in one picture which is 100 per cent clean, and is without any of the sordid murder and suicide detail so prevalent in many pictures.

"Sisters" is Kathleen Norris' great story and plays at the Liberty Sunday.

Americans Cooperate in League Activities

GENEVA, Sept. 9.—While the United States government has consistently refrained from identifying itself directly with the league of nations, it has not held aloof from having its citizens co-operate in some of the league's activities. Five prominent Americans are now associated with varying forms of the league's work.

One of these is Professor John Bassett Moore, who is a member of the recently-created permanent court of international justice. Another is Dr. George Ellery Hale, director of the famous observatory on Mount Wilson, who has joined the committee of intellectual co-operation. A third well known American is Dr. Rupert Blue, assistant surgeon-general of the United States, who is lending his valuable skill and experience in public health matters to the league's health committee.

Two other American executives in the league are women. Mrs. Hamilton Wright, one of the most valuable members of the league's opium commission, and Dr. Josephine Baker, of the international health committee. Finally, on the various technical and clerical staffs of the secretariat of the league there are many American men and women, whose services are found extremely valuable. In an effort further to enlist America's interest and support in the league, an invitation has been sent to the Washington government to appoint a representative in the league's commission for the suppression of the white slave traffic.

Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general of the league of nations, is hopeful that it will be possible for the league to work out a policy whereby the United States properly can co-operate in an increasing share of the league's activities without impairment to her own traditional policy of detachment from European affairs.
