CHOLERA'S 105 VICTIMS

Steamer Carlos Driven from Brazilian Ports.

BANKS RESUMING BUSINESS.

Commercial Prospects Brightening Everywhere.

THREE BEACH HOTELS BURN.

Great Loss and Many Lives Endangered.

WIND AND RAIN STORMS

Do Great Damage in New York and the South.

105 Cholera Victims

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—A cable from Rio Janeiro says the steamer Carlos had arrived there, and that one hundred and five persons aboard her had died from cholera on the way. The steamer was escorted out of the harbor by a warship and ordered not to land at any Brazilian port.

Beach Hotels Burn.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Rockaway Beach, the famous Long Island summer resort, was visited by another conflagration early this morning. A fierce gale was blowing at the time and the flames spread with the utmost rapidity. Daly's hotel was next to go. Guests had barely time to escape in their night clothes. The Reynolds hotel followed, then the New Seaside house, the largest in the place. A heavy rain began falling then and the fire ceased to spread. The damage is heavy, as the structures were all new.

Financial Improvement.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 29.—A statement by the National banks of this city, shows that since the height of the financial flurry, July 19th, deposits have increased $2,000,000.

Denver Resumes.

DENVER, Aug. 29.—The German National bank re-opened its doors this morning, and received large deposits.

England Easier.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Stocks are buoyant in view of the large majority by which the Wilson repeal bill passed yesterday. At the close American railway stocks were higher.

Stocks Improving.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The effect of yesterday's action in the house on the silver question is apparent in stocks today. There is a general advance.

Storms in New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—A storm which swept over this city and the surrounding country last night from midnight till eight this morning was like one a few days ago which originated in West Indies but instead of following the coast swept more inland. It reached out in every direction for a distance of over 1600 miles as almost all telegraphic connections were broken and signal service unable to give a complete report of its course or exact direction, but local observations indicate that it probably made its way to sea through the St. Lawrence valley. Tides in the bay here were unusually high, owing to the southerly wind and angry looking waves. Vessels found difficulty in making headway against them.

Storms in the East.

AUGUSTA, Me., Aug. 29.—Sunday night's storm did incalculable injury to the farming interests of the southeast. No communication has been had with Charleston, Savannah, or Jacksonville, since Sunday afternoon. The wires are broken by falling trees. The damage to crops cannot be estimated for some days. Several buildings in Jacksonville, S. C., crushed mill dams and washed them away. Cotton is terribly damaged and tobacco devastated. In Wayboro, Ga., the cotton is greatly damaged. The storm was very severe in Screven county. Great damage was done to houses and crops.

Storms in the South.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The storm did great damage to the shade trees here. The electric light and telephone service in Alexandria and Georgetown is badly crippled. Telegraphic communication with the West was broken at 7:30 last night, and with the East about midnight. This morning a partial communication was restored to Baltimore. Communication was also cut off south of Lynchburg, Va. Intense anxiety prevails for further news from Savannah and other points further south. Rumor comes by wire from Richmond that trains from the south report Charleston, S. C., under water. Signal service indications locate Charleston right in the path of the tornado.

Locusts Innumerable.

TUNIS, Aug. 29.—A swarm of locusts so immense as to obscure the sun three hours passed over the city today.

Probably Cholera.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Aug. 29.—A woman said to be suffering from genuine Asiatic cholera was taken to the city hospital this morning. The house was fumigated.

BRIBERY CHARGED.

World's Fair Award Committeemen Have Charges to Answer.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—In the meeting of the world's fair commission yesterday Commissioner Mercer made a vigorous denial of any connection with the alleged bribery case. He demanded of the committee that an investigation be made. Beeson of Oklahoma also made a denial and a committee was appointed to investigate the charges.

Then Chairman Thatcher of the awards committee came forward with affidavits from officials of the Cary Safe Company charging that D. F. Higbee had demanded $2500 for securing a favorable award. The commission instructed the committee to take up this matter. Higbee arose and declared the charge absurd. He said he would bring an action in the courts for damages.

Ten of the commissioners said Commissioners Beeson and Mercer have interested themselves in the appointment of more judges than any other two members of the national commission. Mercer was vehement in the denial that he is guilty of any wrong doing. He claims to know nothing about the attempt to squeeze $10,000 out of Wolf-schmidt, the Russian whisky and wine exhibitor, to insure him the first premium on his exhibit, beyond that which he has read in the papers. "I never heard of Mrs. Harmon," he said, "until she was introduced to me Saturday in front of the agricultural building by Beeson. Beeson said she was an old friend of his. An hour or so later I learned she had been arrested for trying to obtain money from an exhibitor to secure an award in his favor."

The total number of admissions to the fair today was 100,000, of which 129,488 were paid.

Corbett Declines.

PORTLAND, Aug. 29.—Ex-Senator Corbett declines to accept the receivership of the Portland Savings bank on account of ill health.

Will Marry.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 29.—F. T. Howard, brother of Miss Abbie Howard, has announced that the marriage of Miss Howard to Mayor Carter Harrison of Chicago will take place in the latter part of September at the summer home of the Howards at Biloxi. It is also stated that the wedding will be attended by a large party of Mr. Harrison's friends and relatives from Illinois, and that there will be a gathering of all the Howard family.

Unsatisfactory Performance.

MADRID, Aug. 29.—At a bull fight at Saragozza, the audience, dissatisfied with the quality of the performance, smashed the seats and set fire to them. The police quelled the riot with difficulty, after wounding a number of the mob. At San Sebastian, the audience at a concert attacked the musicians because they refused to play the Basque hymn. They then proceeded to the hotel where the prime minister was stopping and stoned it. Troops called out were forced to fire on the mob, killing two and severely wounding several.

Funeral of Duke Ernst.

POTSDAM, Aug. 29.—The funeral of Duke Ernst of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha took place today and was attended by due pomp and ceremony. After the funeral banquet was given at the castle and all the visiting members of the royal families, ministers of state and diplomats were present.

Chicago Labor Troubles.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Another meeting of the unemployed was held on the lake front today, about 3000 men being present. The police arrested one man who was urging the people to go armed and fight the authorities. Aside from this there was no excitement on the lake front.

After the speeches the crowd wandered in an aimless manner along Van Buren street, until Siegel & Cooper's big general store was reached, here a number of men suddenly became seized with the idea of entering the store and made a rush for the doorway, shouting and yelling. Shoppers in the store were badly frightened and were hurrying for other exits when a force of police arrived and charged the mob which scattered with great haste.

Foreign Crop Demand.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The recent advices received by Secretary Morton from an agent in Europe fully confirm previous reports regarding the shortage of certain crops in many sections of Europe, which he represents is likely to guarantee a large demand for American forage crops, including corn. Although he does not think it likely that much of the latter will be used for human food, he represents that the tariff complications between Russia and Germany are liable to render the latter country especially dependent upon the United States for their supply.

Extra Session in Wyoming.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 28.—The news that the senate declines to seat the appointed senators revives interest here in the question of the governor's calling a special session of the legislature to fill the vacancy from Wyoming. Although Governor Osborne declared several times he would not call a special session it is believed pressure will be brought to bear upon him by his party and by friends of silver in both parties and that he will change his position on the question and call a session at once.

Police Shot.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 29.—Special Officer Charles Wetzel was shot and fatally wounded by an unknown man a few minutes before 12 last night. His assailant was quarreling with a colored man. Wetzel interfered, when the man placed a pistol against Wetzel's stomach and fired. Wetzel's assailant was George Clark, who is still at liberty. When escaping, he attempted to shoot another officer, but his pistol missed fire.

Railroad Salaries Out.

OMAHA, Aug. 29.—The expected cut in salaries of employes of the Union Pacific is now a reality. The order was made public today and takes effect September 1st. Every officer and employe of the road receiving $70 or more per month is affected. The schedule for reductions as quoted in the order issued today is as follows: Salaries ranging from $60 to $100, inclusive, 10 per cent; over $100 to $200, 12 1/2 per cent; over $200 to $500, 15 per cent; over $500, 20 per cent.

France and Siam.

BANGKOK, Aug. 29.—Negotiations between France and Siam are practically at a standstill. No date is fixed for a resumption of diplomatic correspondence. The Siamese commercial interests are attacked in a vital point by the new demands made by France. It is believed Siam cannot assent to them. There is a very unsettled feeling. The developments of the next few days are anxiously awaited.

Another Bank Suspension.

YORK, Neb., Aug. 29.—The First National bank of this city failed to open its doors yesterday morning. Officers state that the assets will exceed the liabilities by $60,000.

CONGRESSIONAL DOINGS.

The Financial Pot Boiling in Both Houses.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Senate—Senator Teller objected to the immediate consideration of the repeal bills, and it went over till tomorrow. Gordon addressed the senate in favor of the unconditional repeal of the Sherman act.

House—Catchings called up the report of the committee on rules, which the house proceeded to debate.

Senate—The committee on finance decided to report back the Wilson repeal bill with the recommendation that the Voorhees bill be substituted, and to set aside the national bank circulation bill now, also unfinished business, and favor the Voorhees bill, and to press the latter as rapidly as possible. Setting aside the National bank bill will require a majority vote of the senate. Silver men say they are indifferent as to which is considered first, both being alike objectionable. They declare they will fight repeal with all the force at their command. The Voorhees bill was reported to the senate as a substitute this afternoon.

Bank Resumes.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—The People's Home Saving's Bank reopened for business this morning.

Destroyed by Fire.

BOISE, Idaho, Aug. 29.—The entire business portion of the town was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The fire was caused by an explosion in May's drug store. There was no water and the fire burned until there was nothing left for it to feed upon. The total loss is $37,500. Insurance $9,500. Schroeder, Mays and Herron are the principal losers.

WILL START THE MINTS.

Carlisle So Orders and Gold Will Be Coined.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Secretary Carlisle has ordered the United States mints at Philadelphia and San Francisco to be fully manned and the full capacity of both mints to be utilized in coining gold bullion. The treasury department possesses from $85,000,000 to $90,000,000 in gold bullion, which is part of the gold reserve of $100,000,000. These gold bars cannot be used as currency so it has been decided in the present need to coin the bullion on hand.

Two Magic Wards.

She was a gaunt, grim individual, and with the aid of an umbrella she was seen persistently elbowing her way along one of the crowded thoroughfares. As she entered one of the prominent stores and stepped to the counter she quietly looked over a smartly dressed lady who stood by her side. Then looking calmly around the store, as if to see if this display of wares met her approval, with a patronizing air she thus addressed the pretty salesgirl:

"Will you please show me your orange spoons?" at the same time adjusting her glasses.
"Sold or plated?" questioned the girl.
"Oh, sold," with a sniff.
"Do you wish souvenir or plain?" again asked the girl in a courteous tone.
"I don't know, but I must have a handsome one."
"Will this one at $5 be too expensive?" the girl continued, placing a handsome affair on the velvet.
The lady in black gave one glance. With a determined look beautiful to see she replied, with a curious inflection, "I don't like that."
"Then how would you like this one?" as she placed one of neat design before the purchaser.
"I guess not. You see, Harry is so very particular. But I said when I came to buy on his grandma's pocketbook could buy, and—"
"Here is a very pretty one; surely he would like this," but there was a tired look about the girl's eyes as she laid the third one on the counter before the would be buyer's gaze. "It was marked down." She never finished the sentence.
"Marked down, did you say?"
"Marked down from"—commented the girl.
"I'll take it," and not long after grandma was on the street, a most satisfied expression on her careworn face. That was how that salesgirl earned her money that day.—Boston Journal.

Jumping Giraffes.

It used to be an amusement and also a duty to me to try and show the animals to native gentlemen when they come from their country seats to visit Calcutta, and I invariably invited them to come with me to see the zoo. I think that the giraffes puzzled them most. One fine old Hindoo nobleman, with whom I have many a time been out tiger shooting on his own property, suggested that the giraffe was a new sort of tiger, but he was comforted and convinced when he saw them eat the branch of a tree from my hand. I wish that he could have been present to witness a performance of this pair of giraffes, which I did not see myself, though fortunately Lord William Berosford saw it and told me of it.

On the morning of the queen's birthday Berosford was riding past the giraffe enclosure when a feu de jole was fired by the soldiers of a native infantry regiment, whose quarters are not far from the zoo. At the first round of the firing the giraffes were startled. When the second round came, they took to their heels and jumped clean over the fence of upright gurnee or wattle sticks, about 10 feet high, that surrounded their inclosure.

When the third round came, the giraffes were so puzzled that they turned round and popped over the fence again and sought refuge in the house in which they were lodged at night. It is a great pity that a sportsman and rider like Lord William Berosford, who saw this strange sight, had not a mount on one of the giraffes.—Longman's Magazine.

How to Put Up a Clothesline.

A simple contrivance, designed to save a great deal of washing day work, can be put in place very easily. It consists of a little house or shed, 15 inches long, fastened stoutly all along one side against the outer wall of a building, or perhaps against a fence, through one objection to the latter is that the line when stretched and hung with wet clothes would pull upon the fence and perhaps cause it to sag in time. A part of the other or outer side of the little clothesline shelter is made in a sort of door, opening on hinges, which lets down, disclosing the bar on which the clothesline is wound. To this, at one end, a crank handle is attached with a ratchet wheel. In putting up the line, one end of which is tied to the barrel, first unwind the line and pass it around each pole until all is in the position wanted. Slip the loop in the end over the last pole, then go back to the box, turn the crank until all the line is straight and taut, then fasten by means of the ratchet so that it cannot unwind. This prevents "sagging" effectively. When the clothes have been taken off the line, wind it up and shut up the side opening to protect the rope from rain, dampness and mildew.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Nothing New In It.

"I spent half the afternoon the other day," said Mrs. Billings, "trying to match a woolen dress of my daughter's in silk, and the nearest I could come to it was at least two shades too dark, but that didn't disturb my daughter a bit. She simply spread out next day in the sun and faded it to a perfect match. She was inclined to take great credit to herself for this, for she thought it was an original idea, as indeed it was with her, but I explained to her that it was very old; that I had myself done the same thing with a faded gingham dress, for instance, for which I desired to make a new waist, or a new pair of sleeves; that I had taken a new piece of the same material and washed it and hung it out in the sun, and had repeated this process until the new material was faded to match the old; that in fact this is one of those discoveries that people simply keep on making over and over again."—New York Sun.

Cannibalism Among Crickets.

In an assemblage of many crickets kept for certain observations in a rearing drawer or box (cage de herborization) the numbers diminished from day to day. At last only one—a little fatigued—remained by the side of the remains of his former companions. Hitherto cannibalism among the crickets has been noticed only among captives, but I am now enabled to state that under certain conditions cannibalism is present among some or other of the free in the wild. It is the case among the locusts.—Carl Berg in Natural Science.
