A MINISTER LEARNS SOMETHING.

Ever since Rev. Kellerman of the Salem First M. E. church invited the old soldiers and their families to a memorial day service in order to pour out the vials of his Prussian wrath over the pension system of our country his days at Salem have been numbered.

His church was almost a unit in opposition to his returning to this charge, about the largest and most important in this conference. While many admired his ability all condemned his attack on the Grand Army. The conference acted wisely in sending him elsewhere, as his days of usefulness were numbered.

The grand army people and the church are very much delighted at the emphatic rebuke given Rev. Kellerman for introducing his pension politics into his pulpit, by sending Rev. Grannis, a prominent G. A. R. man to take his place at Salem. It is a welcome change to all who love the Union soldiers.

Musical Notes.

The prospects are that the conservatory will open on Monday, the 4th of Sept., with as many music students as in former years. The graduating class of 1894 will be the largest in the history of the conservatory. The teachers for the coming year are Z. M. Parvin, Dean, Miss Eva Cox, Miss Aliza Chandler, Mr. H. A. Kruse, Miss Nellie Carpenter and Miss Lulu Sargent. Dr. Parvin will be at the Music rooms, Woman's College after today and will register music students and appoint time for lessons or consult and advise with any who desire lessons in the future.

Huddleston & Holt are taking in considerable grain at the Marion warehouse.

Mr. Fisher has remodeled the house bought of Joseph Cook, putting in brick flues and a brick fireplace.

Mr. Shoemaker, of Salem, is a frequent visitor at Marion of late. We understand he contemplates buying property here.

The report is that Rankin Edgar has sold the McCully farm to a real estate man from Portland, who will divide it up into small tracts and set out in fruit and soil.

Selling Clothes to Sailors.

Ships arriving in home ports after lengthy voyages are always besieged by the runners or agents of the various seamen's outfitters of the place.

The competition is so keen among these people that they often undertake to supply on credit a certain amount of clothing to the seamen, to be paid for on the discharge of the crew, which event in some cases does not take place till a few days after arrival. Should an outfit succeed in effecting a good sale on these conditions, he arranges for a watch to be kept upon the parties to whom he has given credit, but notwithstanding this precaution he sometimes finds before pay day that his vigilance has been outwitted by the vanishing propensities of his slippery customers.

Without attempting to justify such acts of dishonesty on the part of the seaman, it must in fairness to him be stated that mean advantage is often taken of his circumstances (such, for instance, as arriving in port without presentable clothing in which to go ashore) to charge extortionate prices for the articles supplied under the foregoing conditions, and that it is often along the knowledge of this fact which suggests the attempt to evade payment.—London Tit-Bits.

Not Flattering.

The candidate for congress had been making a speech in one of the towns of his district where he was not well known personally, and in the evening while waiting for a train he strayed into a butcher shop, and without saying who he was began to pump the butcher for information as to how he stood.

"Did you hear that speech this afternoon?" he inquired after some general talk.

"Yes," replied the butcher, "I was there."

"What did you think of it?"

"Pshaw," said the honest butcher, "I've made a better speech than that a hundred times trying to sell 15 cents' worth of soup bones."

The candidate concealed his identity.—Detroit Free Press.

Street Trees.

T. Greiner gives a list of the trees which he thinks are best adapted for planting along the borders of streets. He places the silver maple first on the list for fulfilling all the conditions required. In rich soil its growth is often too rank. The white elm comes next in popular favor for its tall growth, lofty head and wide sweep of branches. The sugar maple is extensively planted in the north and is better suited to dry situations than the elms or other maples. The common horse chestnut is largely planted in northern towns. We would add to this list the black birch for its freedom from insects, and the black maple is superior to the sugar maple for the richness of its foliage, says The Conn.

THE STATE INSURANCE CO. PAYS.

The "State of Salem" has not taken advantage of the sixty days time in which to pay losses adopted by the Fire Underwriters, as will be seen by following items:

SALEM, Or., Aug. 23, 1893. My livery barn and contents located at Marion, Marion county, Oregon, burned on the 18th day of July, 1893. They were insured in the State Insurance Company of Salem, Oregon. I was in California at the time of the fire and for some time afterwards, hence the delay in filing proofs; said proofs having just been filed with the company. I am today in receipt of $500, in cash from said company, being the full amount of my claim. I cannot speak too highly in praise of this popular home company and its course during these hard times. G. W. EPLER.

SALEM, Or., Aug. 24, 1893. A short time ago I had the misfortune to have the livery barn that was occupied by me destroyed by fire, wherein I lost personal property which was insured with the State Insurance Company of Salem, Oregon. The loss was adjusted to my entire satisfaction, and they have paid me the full amount of my loss and claim on what property I had that was insured. I can cheerfully recommend this reliable home company. They have treated me fairly and liberally, and paid me in cash on receipt of proofs. J. W. LANCE. 8-25 3t dw

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution, and assisting nature in doing her work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J.
