hat I value very highly," said patri-irchal looking Colonel Fitzhugh of Texas, "They were given to me by Ion. Alexander H. Stephens of leorgia while he was in congress a good many years ago. He was very fond of playing whist and one evening had invited Senator Frye of Maine, Senator David Davis of Illinois and ex-Senator Robert Toombs of his own state to his rooms for a social game. The sat a good while, every member of the quartet enjoying the pastime with keen zest. In the cut for partners Mr Stephens and Mr. Frye were pitted against the other pair and won nearly every game, both ranking as master players. I think Mr. Toombs was the most indifferent player of the four. He was of too impetuous a disposition to master the science of whist After the play was ended the host presented me with the cards, and I would not willingly part with them."

-Washington Post. Little Danger In Eating Fruit. There is no possibility of harm resulting from a fruit diet, unless through carelessness or misrepresentation green fruit is eaten. The little people need continual warning on this point. As for the man who in his greed seeks to sell unripe fruit to young or old, the least he deserves is to be exposed to public derision and contempt.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Ice Water Early In the Morning. I am always surprised when I see a man fill his stomach the first thing in the morning with a glass of ice water. The ordinary stomach is tired anyhow, and when, yawning, listless. it wakes with the rest of the system, it feels like stretching and resting, folding its hands for a little more sleep and a little more slumber, just the same as the rest of us feel. What, then, must be its surprise to have thrust into it, through no agency of its own, it the unwilling receptacle, a torrent of its deadliest enemy, ice water? Having swallowed a glass of ice water, the ordinary idiot thrusts into the same stomach his oatmeal, his berries, his beefsteak and his potatoes and his hot roll and then wonders that he feels heavy.

Why, do you know what the stomach is doing all this time? It is wrestling with that ice water. Digestion cannot begin until the water is brought to its normal stomach temperature, and while the overburdened, overworked, strained organ is doing its best to warm this horrid stuff in it float your steak, your berries and your oatmeal, and there they must float until the gastric juice and the water are at a common temperature and the work of assimilation W S.
