PORTLAND OPIUM SMUGGLERS.

A Score of More or Less Prominent People Under Indictment.

Three more indictments for smuggling were reported Saturday by the federal grand jury, and before midnight William Dunbar, C. J. Mulkey and Captain L. C. Sweeney had been arrested and held in $1000 apiece to answer when arraigned. There are nine counts in the Dunbar indictment, Mulkey has 18 against him and Sweeney one. Each of them alleges opium smuggling.
There are now 20 persons under indictment for smuggling, 16 of whom were indicted last term. Against Nat Blum there are six indictments; William Dunbar, five; C. J. Mulkey and W. R. Jackling, three each; C. B. Cardwell, A. A. Porter, R. G. Paddock, Thomas Linville, M. Kearney, M. Caro, U. Patterson, R. Garthorne, John R. es, Thomas Berg, James Lotan and John Doe, two indictments each; Ed. Spooner, L. C. Sweeney, E. B. Lighton and John Doe, one each. Brighton committed suicide in jail, and Doe's identity is as much a mystery as it was when the indictment was returned against him. It has been said that John was an East Sider, who had passed away from earth before the bench warrant for his arrest was issued, but the district attorney neither denies nor affirms the report. Doe is the only one of the indicted who has not been arrested.

The first of the smuggling cases was called today in the United States district court, when Nat Blum will have opportunity to defend himself against a charge of smuggling 300 pounds of opium. As this case is expected to reveal Nat's attitude toward the other defendants, a large and attentive audience may be confidently looked for.
Among the witnesses who have come from afar to testify against the alleged practitioners of customs dodging is Special Treasury Agent Noyes, who first investigated the reports sent from this coast to Washington regarding their operations. Since he left Portland last June Mr. Noyes has been having lots of trouble in San Francisco, where serious doubts of his official integrity have been expressed by a leading newspaper, and a strong effort was made to get him arrested.

BLUM PLEADS GUILTY.

He Will Become a State Witness Against the Gang.
PORTLAND, Nov. 27.—Nathan Blum was arraigned in the United States district court this morning on charge of smuggling three hundred pounds of opium. He pleaded guilty and sentence was reserved. It is stated that Blum will also plead guilty to all the other indictments against him, and become a witness for the government in the trials of other defendants.

This afternoon W. B. Jackling, U. Patterson, Thomas Berg, R. Garthorne and L. C. Sweeney entered plea of guilty. The sentence is suspended in each case.

THIRD THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME: GREETING:—Whereas, it has become an approved and general custom among our people to set apart one day in the year for the express purpose of returning thanks for the multitude of mercies and blessings that have been bestowed upon us as a community and as individuals, NOW THEREFORE, I, G. Steiner, manager of Steiner's market, at No. 140 State street, in the city of Salem, by virtue of the authority vested in me as a freeman citizen of this grand republic, do hereby declare, designate and set apart, for that avowed purpose aforesaid, THURSDAY, the 30th day of November, A. D., 1893. And I do further, in my own behalf, return, unto the many and constant patrons of my establishment aforesaid, my grateful and sincere thanks for all past favors, and I do further in my own behalf aforesaid, and in behalf of the general public, cordially invite EVERYBODY to call at my said establishment aforesaid, at any time between this and said set date aforesaid, then and there to buy, purchase and secure unto themselves and families, the best of choicest turkeys, at 15 cents per pound, and ducks, geese and chicken at various and reasonable prices, also oysters, shrimps, clams and other shell fish, and food fishes of various and palatable sorts, as the same have been duly and attractively prepared by Tong Chee, the superintendent of my abbatoirs. This invitation is given because of the good it will do onto the people of this city whose interests I do seek to conserve...

Done at the office of said market, in the city of Salem, on this, the 26th day of November, in the year of the christian era, 1893, and our national independence, the one hundred and eighteenth.

IN CITY POLITICS.

Preparing for the Battle of the Primaries.
The city political pot is getting red hot. A caucus of second ward Republicans was held at Richardson's law office Saturday night, and they agreed to slate Wm. England, of the Williams' & England Banking Co., for alderman.

The New York Tribune Weekly and Weekly Inter-Ocean, as well as some San Francisco weeklies are offering the press of Oregon clubbing arrangements by which they put their papers in at almost nothing or at merely nominal rates. The Eastern weeklies are a week or more behind with news, and like the California weeklies contain no Oregon news or markets. But for some reason they want a circulation in Oregon, and hence offer publishers their paper so low as to club the two papers at the price of one. And they are not cheap at that. To meet this competition we are authorized to offer a club rate on the Weekly Oregonian and WEEKLY JOURNAL, at $2.00 a year for both papers. The price of THE JOURNAL alone is $1.50. The price of the Oregonian alone is $1.50. THE JOURNAL has the exclusive right at Salem to make this offer, and all who desire to get this cut rate can do so by paying for the WEEKLY JOURNAL and Weekly Oregonian, at the rate of $2.00 for both papers in advance. Neither paper will be sent after time for which payment is made. It is needless to say that the Weekly Oregonian is worth more to Oregon people than any four Eastern or California weeklies, and is by all odds the cheapest weekly newspaper the Oregon farmers can buy. Of course, at this special cut rate, no premium can be given with either paper. Order by mail or at THE JOURNAL office, next door to the postoffice.

E. W. Meeker, the Puyallup hopman, has an option on 600 acres of land near Independence, and has gone to London to endeavor to organize a stock company to engage in raising hops on this ranch.—Dallas Observer.
Puyallup Commerce: Pacific coast hops are doing a little better abroad than York states, owing to better picking. Foreign market is advancing. It looks as though the consumers will have to yield, and pay at least what it costs to produce the goods. The high price of land and the great expense of washing and destroying vermin make hop-raising in England a very costly business. It is claimed if they don't get better figures the business will have to be largely abandoned.
