Interchange of Compliments.

Hon. A. Bush, the banker, and Governor Penney had a pleasant interchange of political compliments at the state house. They were talking tariff Mr. Bush had said something about the governor opposing trusts, after having made three-quarters of a million running a sawmill under the lumber trust.

"That is nothing to the trust that existed when you had a monopoly of printing all the stray stock notices in the state at $5.00 each, and the law compelled people to print them in your paper," was Penney's reply.

Mr. Bush said something about that being cheaper than it is done at present and invited the governor down town to continue the discussion.

Congregational Church.

At the regular annual meeting of the First Congregational church Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Clerk, W. I. Staley; trustee, A. T. Gilbert; treasurer, Gilbert Bros.; deacons, Jos.
Cooke, and Mrs. E. E. Pentland; superintendent of Sunday school, Z. M. Parvin; assistant, Mrs. Alice Dodd; secretary, Percy Willis; assistant, Wm.
Sauger; librarian, Chester Parvin; assistants, Chester Murphy, Boyd Richardson; chorister, Z. M. Parvin; organist, Lizzie Holmerson.

Rev. S. M. Freeland was unanimously chosen pastor of the church for one year.

The thanks of the church were voted to Carl Roberts for his faithful services clerk during the past year.

BUSINESS CONTINUOUS.—In our issue of yesterday we stated that Mr. Hart had closed out his merchant tailoring business here. Since then we have learned that one of his former employees, Mr. G. F. Cecil, has purchased the business and will carry it on as before, the only difference being that he has made extensive reductions in the prices to suit the times.

COLD SNAP.—That kind of weather makes a warm hearth fire accompanied by good cider, nuts, pop-corn etc., a happy place. Van Eaton can furnish the best in town.

SOMEWHAT MIXED.—The nuts and candies at Clark & Eppley's. They have simply everything in that line for the holidays, and their stock is fresh.

BORN.—To Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Focht, in Highland, Monday, Dec.
11th, a son.

DO YOU?—If you eat pearl barley, sago, flaked or pearl tapioca be sure to get it fresh at Clark & Eppley's.

COL. GEO. K. SHIEL DEAD.

Sustains Fatal Injuries From a Fall Through a Basement Light.

Col. Geo. K. Shiel, at one time a man of prominence on the Pacific coast, fell through a hole in the sidewalk in front of Hotel Willamette, Tuesday night at 9:30 and was instantly killed. He walked out of the hotel and stood a few moments with one hand on the iron rail, facing the building. The walk was wet with falling rain. While fum-bling about his clothes, his feet slipped and he plunged over the railing head first, to the bottom eleven feet in the dark hole below the walk. As he went over Chief of Police Minto grabbed at him, but could not save him from his death.

Col. Shiel struck on his head, severely bruising and crushing the right side of his face. There were also scratches on the left side of his face. Marshal Minto was the only person who saw him fall and rushed into the basement of the hotel and dragged the old man in onto the floor. He gurgled once, ceased and died without a struggle.
Quite a pool of blood was on the step beneath where his head lay, and a passer-by says he heard a sound like a pistol cracking when he fell, and thinks it was the cracking of his neck-bones when the vertebrae broke. Col. Shiel had been slightly intoxicated all the afternoon.

Dr. Byrd was called, but the body was lifeless. It was taken to Clough's undertaking rooms. He had spent the evening at Hotel Willamette talking with public men and lawyers who congregate there. He had sat awhile in the reading room and started home, pleasantly bidding all good night.

Col. Shiel was a familiar figure on the streets of Salem and a character well known to all old Oregonians. He was sixty-eight years old, and had since the death of his sister lived almost alone in the world. He was a frequent visitor of the state library, and the haunts of the state house at all seasons seemed to have a charm for him.

Col. Shiel obtained his title on the staff of Governor Kerr. It is doubtful if he ever had military command.
During the fifties he was once prosecuted attorney of this district, but never acquired much fame as a lawyer or had much law practice. When in congress he entrusted a few thousand dollars to Ben Wood, of New York, to speculate in gold with. Wood accumulated $30,000 to $40,000, but turned it over to Shiel who soon dissipated it.

Geo. K. Shiel was the Breckenridge candidate for congress in 1890, against David Logan, at the June election. In November another election was held, at which Judge Thayer, of Corvallis, was the only candidate. He went to Washington and his name was put on the rolls by the clerk. Shiel contested and got the seat, as it was held June was the time to elect.

Shiel crossed the plains at a very early day and undoubtedly took part in common with most pioneers in the Yakima Indian war of 1855-56, under Col. Kelly.
He was a rank secessionist and he never took the oath of allegiance after the rebellion of 1860-65. His sympathies were entirely with the south in that fight, and it is related of Shiel that he often said he would starve before he would surrender.

Personally Geo. K. Shiel was a polished, kind-hearted gentleman, with a good education in belles-lettres, and a degree of gallantry and chivalry that graced every hour of his life. He had of late years lived almost entirely of the charity of old friends, and last year went to Washington, in the hope of getting an appointment to some con-sulate. He came home disappointed, but not soured and remained cheerful to his latest moments.

Col. Shiel was never married. There is a tradition that several of the Shiel brothers and sisters made a vow to remain single. One breaking the vow was immediately disinherited. No inquest will be held on the remains, which are still lying at the morgue.

RIVER NOTES.

Steamer Three Sister came down yesterday and after discharging cargo returned at once to Corvallis. She has a large quantity of wheat and oats at points above Corvallis to bring down the river for Frisco. Her cargo here consisted of freight from San Francisco for Salem merchants and a big lot of flour from Corvallis for Portland also 40 tons San Francisco merchandise for Portland and other points. This will be transferred to Steamer Elwood.

The Modoc came down last night with a load of hay and straw for Knapp, Burrell & Co. She went down this morning and will return tomorrow from Portland.

Steamer Altona came down this morning on her trip to Portland. She brought down a lot of hops for the S. P.
Ry. Co. and charged a good round rate on them which that big corporation very much object to paying but nevertheless will have to stand.

Went we have to have some river commissioners appointed to protect the poor railroads from the steamboats?
Good for the Altona. The Elwood will be up from Portland tonight and goes down tomorrow morning at 6 o'clock.

The S. P. will put in a night watch for every six miles or so over the Sikkiyou this winter in order to guard against danger from slides and also from depredations by the herds of hoboes now passing through.

The military list in Lane county, as required by law. He finds 2943 persons in the county liable to military duty.
This is an increase of about 400 over last year.

George L. Atkinson, of Puyallup valley, gathered the leaves from 2500 plants of White Bury and Connecticut seed leaf tobacco, and they are now hanging in his tobacco house at Dieringer. The stock is said to be excellent.

Tyee Peter, chief of the Neah bay Indians, has been in Port Townsend for several days last week purchasing supplies, and outfitting his fleet of sealing schooners. He is the sole owner of three vessels, the James G. Swan, Lettie and Diaska, the latter comparatively new. The fleet has been beached at Hadlock all winter, where the three schooners have been scraped, repaired and thoroughly overhauled. All of Peter's vessels contain stowaway crews from captain down. They are thorough hunters and seamen.

On the Tule lake district, Klamath county, 19,000 bushels of wheat were grown this year and the settlers want a flour mill built at Yale.

During the warm weather of early fall, cricket eggs hatched by millions and later on frost killed the young hopper and Harney valley ranchers are in hopes of being well rid of that pest.

Some Eastern Washington ranchers are shipping sheep to Chicago and there feeding on corn. They report good returns.

There is to be a new saw mill built up on the Brittenbush with over 40,000 feet capacity daily and will be running by June.

BANKS AND BANKING.

Massachusetts has 1,181,303 savings bank depositors, with aggregate deposits of $389,528,388.

The banks of Great Britain had last year $1,420,000,000 capital and $3,130,- 000,000 deposits.

In 1890 English drafts crossed with a banker's name were made payable only to or through the same banker.

Bank holidays in England are Easter Monday, Monday of Whitenside week, the first Monday in August and Dec. 26, if a week day.

A bank of deposit and issue was established 1663 by a London goldsmith named Francis Child. This was the first regular bank in England.

The New England states have more savings bank depositors and deposits than all the rest of the country, leaving out the state of New York.

In 1640 the London merchants began the practice of depositing their spare funds with the Goldsmiths of Lombard street, who had strong safes.

The National Bank of Italy, like the Bank of England, manages the finances of the government. It is a practical monopoly and has branches in every large city.

The great panic of 1857, accompanied by a general suspension of specie payments, was precipitated by the bankruptcy of the Ohio Life and Mutual Insurance company.

In 1672 Charles II suspended all payments to bankers and other depositors of the money deposited with the government treasury, thus confiscating about $3,313,000.

The first bank of the United States was incorporated in 1791 and went into business in 1794. It was projected by Alexander Hamilton, and its capital was $10,000,000.

In 1896 occurred the first great run on the Bank of England, a year after its foundation. Its notes went to 20 per cent discount, but it stood the run well, and its capital was directly afterward increased to $2,201,000.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

FASHION'S FANCIES.
Ermine collarettes appear on some of the new long skirted coats of black cloth.

New dress bonnets for bridesmaids' wear, also for receptions and the opera, are combinations of velvet, fur and lace.

The beautiful rose tints among the choice importations for evening dress this winter exhaust all the superlative adjectives of admirers of this particular color.

Black watered silk dresses made with basque bodice and circular skirt have black moire capes en suite, the cape and edge of the dress skirt trimmed with narrow black watered fur.

On some of the new French bonnet models appears the becoming coronet front made of many rich and beautiful textures and garnitures, or severely plain and formed of velvet alone.

Box coats and loose sack shaped evening wraps of only medium length are shown at the best importing houses, formed of ermine fur, with pointed collarettes and huge sleeves made of black, dark green or dark brown velvet.

For theater uses are pretty velvet capes with cape collars and a straight standing medici collar lined with ostrich feathers. The cape itself is lined with some pretty contrasting color and the smart little bonnet en suite matches this lining in hue.

Velvet costumes of golden brown, Russian green, dark wine color and plum color or dahlia are made with seven gored skirts, and long York coat with immense sleeves, the only trimming being a very showy Louis XIV cravat of creamy velvet point lace.

Many of the black velvet skirts this season are cut in circular shape and trimmed with satin or moire bands, edged with a tiny roll of black astrakhan. The small Spanish jacket is made wholly of the fur, with large sleeves of the velvet. The collar and girdle are of jet.—New York Post.
