REVOLT AGAINST REFORM.

The revolt of the bosses and many of the leaders of the Republican party in Oregon against the reform movement within the party has been so strong and active ever since the last legislature adjourned that hundreds of voters have become disgusted and will either scratch part of the ticket or stay at home and not vote at all. The constant effort of the spoils-monger class has been to expel from the party every man who stood out against ring rule and robbery of the people.

The reform elements of the Republican party should not be driven from their duty in this crisis. They should get out their full vote on election day and vote for all Republicans who represent the cause of good government in state and county affairs. A new deal, abolition of sinecures and commissions, stopping the raids on the treasury in the name of clerkships and investigating committees—these reforms must be carried on by the Republican party of Oregon as promised in the platform or there will be no party left to carry on anything. The Republican party cannot become a mere machine to prevent reforms and progress that the people are bound to make.

Better roads, better government, lower taxes, more employment for laboring men and less fees and big salaries for the official classes, are imperatively needed. Men whose Republicanism means nothing to them but a desire for a chance to get a grab out of the treasury, naturally revolt at the idea of progress and reform that threatens to interfere with their conception of politics. They organize primaries and pack conventions. They put on the ticket men who will "stand in" and the process of robbery and extravagance goes on. If Republicans do their duty at the polls they will not put a premium on ring rule and officialism at the coming election next Monday but elect good men only.

NOTES ON NEW PUBLICATIONS.

"Tales from Town Topics" are issued quarterly and the last number is lively as usual.
Harpers for June has an able paper by the editor on education. It is a plea to have the schools taken out of the reach of the politician. "The teacher should know how to teach, and the teachers and those expert in education should have charge of the processes of education."

A volume of short stories by Henry James is shortly to be published by Macmillan & Co., under the name Embarrassments. The studies are entitled "The figure in the carpet, Glasses, The Next Time, and the Way It Came, and are sketched in Mr. James's usual minute and clever manner.
Macmillan & Co. have printed a sweet volume of poems, selected from the writings of Robert and Elizabeth Barrett Browning for the young. It contains over two hundred pages of their masterpieces that are of interest to the boys and girls. Price 40 cents.

Macmillan & Co. have in preparation The Introduction to Public Finance, by Prof. Carl C. Plehn of the University of California. It treats of public expenditure, public revenues, public indebtedness and financial administration. By far the largest part of the book is devoted to a discussion of the different forms of taxation.

Maynard, Merrill & Co., New York, send out a splendid edition of German text for the student and lover of the German tongue. They are beautifully printed, are supplied with vocabulary and notes. Among the latest issues are the following: "Immensee" by Theodor Storm; "Andreas Hofer" by Otto Hoffman; "Die Deutsche Kleinstadt" by August von Kotzebue; "Das Deutsche Ordensland Poesen" by H. Von Treitschke, edited by W. S. Lyon, with map.

McClure's Magazine for June contains a little battle study by Stephen Crane that, in its way, is more dramatic and striking than even "The Red Badge of Courage," the novel by Mr. Crane which is now attracting so much attention both in America and England. It shows, unmistakably, the hand of genius. While presenting with the strictest realism all the grimness of war, it is pleasant, and even humorous, in the denouement. Another bit of most distinguished fiction in the same number is Rudyard Kipling's "In the Ruth"—one of Kipling's earlier stories, but also one of his best, relating how that ever-entertaining orphan of the Jungle, Mowli, made acquaintance with white men and became a lover. The S. S. McClure Co., New York.

"Hints About Horses," is a pretty little illustrated manual published by the American Humane Society of Boston, that contains a great deal of information about the kind and proper care of horses. Many good people ignorantly and carelessly abuse and neglect horses when if they knew better they would save time and certainly save poor dumb brutes a great amount of suffering. Take the ordinary overcheck! How many know that a horse can pull more, travel faster, will live longer, will eat less, is in less danger of running away, with out the overcheck, than with it? There is a chapter on practical horse shoeing that we wish every blacksmith who shoes horses might read. The booklet is only five cents and contains a hundred dollars' worth of information.

"Aar and Humanity in Homer" is a series of university extension lectures by William Cranwell Lawson of Adelphi academy, Brooklyn. The lectures are a popular exposition of the features of human interest most striking in those masterpieces of all literature the Iliad and Odyssey. Homer was for many centuries the bible of the helenic race but the bible of merely a few thousand men of ancient Attic. The masses under our civilization will certainly a higher state of culture than did those in Homer's time but the literary elect will never surpass Homer in the art of expression as found in epic poetry. The lecture on the womanhood of Homer is a delightful review of the domestic life found on the pages of the Iliad and Odyssey. We cannot commend too highly this abate and exquisite little volume, suitable for a gift to any friend. Macmillan & Co., Pubs., New York. Price 75 cents.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gander man, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's new discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in result." Trial bottles free at Ised A. Legg's Drug Store. Regular size 50 cents, and $1.00
