OTIS' REPORT

lay in sending reinforcements and in the event of hostilities early reverses were regarded as probable. The latest advices show that the Transvaal mobilization has been rapid and comprehensive. It is calculated that the Orange Free State already has 7,000 troops on border. From South Africa, the news is wholly concerned with feverish preparations for hostilities. Commandant General Joubert is reported to have said that he has 10,000 men on the Natal border, and that Commandant Cronje has 3000 on the Bechuana side. The British camp in the vicinity of Dundee consists of 5000 men with 24 guns in strong positions. The Orange Free State is actively commanding.

The Transvaal government has virtually taken over the Netherlands railway for military purposes, and Natal trains are being turned back. Telegraph wires between Natal and Johannesburg have been cut since Friday. According to dispatches from Pretoria, complete chaos reigns there. The government has declared a moratorium (an emergency act of legislature) authorizing a government bank to suspend specie payments for a given period, closed all the courts and suspended the English papers. It is said that there will be nearly 30,000 burghers along the borders by this evening (Monday).

In Johannesburg warrants have been issued for the arrest of some 30 prominent Uitlanders and journalists, but all received timely warning and got away safely.

An unconfirmed rumor has reached Johannesburg that the first portion of the Indian contingent has arrived at Durban Natal.

The special correspondent of the Standard, at Newcastle, Natal, in describing the flight from Johannesburg, says:

"The train occupied nearly twice its usual time, owing to stoppages to allow precedence to trains going with burghers to the front. The passengers suffered great inconveniences, particularly the women and children, being unable to get food. The men were drenched with rain in the open trucks.

"British and Dutch were being commingled when I left, and their goods were being seized. So far as I can learn there are undoubtedly at least 20,000 armed Boers, well horsed, at different points on the border, especially in the direction of Natal. They boast of their intention of invading Natal on Wednesday next, and of sweeping the British into the sea. It certainly looks as though Natal would be invaded in force.

"The burghers seem sturdy folk. They are dressed in a variety of costumes. The chief defect discernible is the large number of officials of inferior physique who accompany the troops. These are likely to prove a source of weakness.

"From Johannesburg to Volksrust, the greatest enthusiasm seemed to prevail. It is estimated that 20,000 Boers with field guns, now command all the heights within a 15 mile-radius from Charlestown."

Little Things

Often lead to serious results if neglected. Before starting in for the school Avenue, have your children's eyes examined, so that if any defects or derangements are found they may be corrected. A graduate optician will make the examination free and the cost of the glasses will be but a trifle compared to the benefit derived.

INSURGENTS MUST GIVE UP OR FIGHT.

Nothing in the Shape of Recognition of Insurgent Government--Only a White Flag and the Grounding of Arms would be accepted--Insurgents Desire Peace With Independence--Claim They Can Keep up Guerrilla Warfare Indefinitely and Harass Americans for a Long Time--Other News From Manila.

By Associated Press to the Journal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Dispatches from General Otis received this morning, giving an account of the meeting with the insurgent envoys. Otis said the interview indicated that the leaders were maneuvering solely with a view to secure recognition of the insurgent government.

All such overtures were rejected and the envoys were informed that the only thing the United States would recognize was the white flag and the grounding of arms. He also informed the envoys that such a capitulation on the part of the insurgents should come quickly in order to avoid the consequences of an actual war, as United States did not intend to permit any delay in the matter.

The Filipino envoys who came to treat with Otis in regard to peace brought from Aguinaldo a message that he wished to send a civilian governmental commission to discuss the question.

General Otis replied that it was impossible for him to recognize Aguinaldo's government in that way. They presented a letter from Aguinaldo as "president of the republic," which was an appeal for recognition. General Otis informed him that, while he was willing to correspond with Aguinaldo as general of the insurgent forces, he must positively decline to recognize him as president of the civil government.

"We desired peace, but peace with independence and honor," said General Alejandro, while conversing with a representative of the Associated Press. He impresses one as dignified and dispassionate and a keep man of the world. He designed the remarkable entrenchments from Manila to Tarlac. While reticent concerning his mission, his conversation throws an interesting light on the Filipino view of the American attitude.

"How long can the Filipino army hold out?" was asked. "The army is small and the situation is very difficult. It will give a FACULTY of 2, at 8 o'clock, at University of Oregon."

SALE INTER-STATE

ARMY, 1899. It is an interesting question what the cost to the American people is of maintaining the American troops in the Philippines. We do not, of course, know the amount, but it must be excessive. We perceive what an American soldier requires in this climate.

REAR-ADMIRAL SCHLEY CHEERED

New York, Oct. 2.—Everybody stood up Saturday night in the Metropolitan opera house when the big orchestra started to play "The Star Spangled Banner." While they were standing out of compliment to the nation, they looked about trying to locate some one upon whom to shower cheers. No one of striking note was in site. Up in a back corner of one of the first tier of boxes Rear-Admiral Schley sat peacefully, but was hidden from view. The theatre was comfortably filled. The play was "The White Squadron," and the receipts are to go to the Dewey home fund. The audience sat waiting for 45 minutes after the play was booked to begin. There had been no enthusiasm up to that time. The majority of the people were in evening dress. People looked for Admiral Dewey after the second act and, Admiral Osborne walked out before the curtain and said:

"Three weeks ago Admiral Dewey this morning he told us again he would be here. But tonight he is fatigued, and is now in bed."

"What's the matter with Schley?" called out a voice. Admiral Osborne tried to go on, but the crowd cheered for Schley until he had to come forward, when the cheering became greater than ever. He said: "I am a very poor representative of Admiral Dewey. An here, like the rest of you, to honor Admiral Dewey and his brave officers and men. God bless them all."

DEMOCRATIC MEETING

Represented By Prominent Speakers and Delegations From Forty States.

DALLAS, TEX., Oct. 2.—Two days of Democratic carnival opened here today, the event of the morning being the arrival of Wm. J. Bryan. The city was packed with prominent Democrats, representing forty states, Oklahoma and Indian territory.

Meetings were arranged for morning, afternoon and evening. There was no end to enthusiasm and each speaker was made to feel that his words for the Democratic cause had fallen upon willing ears.

W. J. Bryan arrived at the grounds shortly after 10 o'clock and was accorded a great ovation. Among those who surrounded him on the speaker's stand were O. P. Belmont, New York; Gov. Sayers, Texas; Ex-Senator Reagan and all the Texas congressional delegation. Ex-Governor Stone, of Missouri, was received with cheers.

Chairman Garden, introduced Gov. Stone and he addressed the audience. The next speaker was Governor Jones, of Arkansas.

At the conclusion of Jones' address the crowd went frantic in their demand for Bryan, who in a short speech said, while his time for speaking had not yet arrived, he could not allow the opportunity to escape without extending thanks for the magnificent reception.

In return he would request a Democratic president for 1901 to set apart a day for the reception of the Democracy of Texas at the White House.

CITY BONDS ISSUED.

City Officers Busy Handing Out the Coupon Sheets. City Recorder Judah and City Treasurer Moir have been busy today at the city hall issuing the new funding bonds and receiving the money therefor. Over half of the issue was called for by subscribers, and the balance will be called for within a few days.

Interest ceased on all outstanding 8 per cent warrants today, and thus the interest on $65,000 is reduced from $5,200 annually to $2,000, being an annual saving of $3,200. During the ten year period for which these bonds are liable to run a total saving of $20,000 will have been effected.

Restored to Citizenship. Governor Geer today restored to citizenship one I. V. Howland, of the Dallas, who has made a good record as a citizen since serving out a term in the state prison about a year ago.
