TRUSTS SUPREME

No Bill at This Session of Congress.

CIVIL RULE FOR FILIPINOS

Spooner Amendment Hatched to the Army Appropriation Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The Anti-trust bill was again under consideration by the Senate Judiciary committee today, but no progress was made toward securing a report.

Some members of the committee expressed an opinion that no report will be made at the present session of congress. Conference has been ordered on war revenue reduction act.

Senate committee on the Philippines today authorized Lodge to report the Spooner amendment introduced Friday, concerning government of the Philippine Islands, as an amendment to the Army Appropriation bill.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 11.—The Bourne Gazette, in advocating an alliance between France, Russia, America and Japan to effect the Anglo-German alliance, says the other three powers should accept Russia's leadership and make peace without delay, regardless of the Anglo-Germans.

The amendment provides that all military and civil powers necessary to govern the islands shall be vested in such persons as shall be named by the President.

REPEATERS ARRESTED IN SAINT LOUIS

ST. LOUIS Mo., Feb. 11.—The Post Dispatch says: Twenty five men from Chicago were arrested today on suspicion that they were brought to St. Louis, to be used as repeaters in the Democratic primary election. According to the terms of their agreement, so the police were informed, the men were paid $100 each before the train left Chicago, and were to receive $200 more at the conclusion of their day's work. The police say arrangements for bringing them to St. Louis were made by two candidates for nomination to the House of delegates.

BOTANICAL WONDERS

The marvel of the hour is the wonderful cure of chronic diseases without the use of knife or poisonous medicines. This is what afflicted humanity needs more than all else. Not a week passes but Dr. J. F. Cook, the great botanical specialist and original discoverer of the botanical cure, heals some patients who have suffered for years from awful disease and the more awful effects of rank medical humbugs. Dr. Cook is willing to give patients the benefit of his life study but declines to publish further testimonials out of regard for his patients, yet will gladly refer any callers to their neighbors and friends who have been healed. THIRTY THOUSAND Mounted Men to Reinforce Kitchener

BOERS EVERYWHERE MORE ACTIVE

King Edward will Drive to the House of Lords in His Father's Coach

New York, Feb. 11.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says: The dispatch which was issued yesterday by the War Office, goes a long way to prove that the big reinforcement of 30,000 mounted men now under orders for the Cape is really essential to the fulfillment of Kitchener's task. An engagement in which the attacking force numbered 2,000 Boers, and which resulted in at least 24 men being killed, cannot be considered a mere guerrilla attack.

Nobody nowadays affects to believe that the South African campaign is virtually over, and it is quite evident a general surrender of the Boer forces is not likely to take place for some time to come. Louis Botha failed in his attack on Mid-Dorrien's camp, but, although he suffered severely, he appears to have inflicted sufficient losses on the British forces to prevent the republic being turned into a serious defeat. The Boers everywhere seem to be displaying increased audacity and peace proposals are not likely to meet with a cordial reception as long as the present bitter feeling between the Boers and the Britons in South Africa lasts. In view of this unsatisfactory state of affairs the announcement on the subject by the King has been such that parliament is waited by the country with great interest.

Nothing would delight England so much as to hear that Dewett's persistent attempt to gain a footing in Cape Colony has at last ended in his capture. Already irresponsible people are beginning to advise the military authorities to prevent the republic being turned into an influential newspaper suggestion, in the event of his being caught alive, that he should be tried for murder.

A dispatch to the Tribune from London says: On January 21, 1880, when Queen Victoria for the first time opened parliament in person, practically every balcony from Buckingham Palace to Westminster was systematically draped with crimson relieved by gold and tassels of yellow and the government offices in whitehall were gayly festooned streamers of flags stretching from lamp to lamp. As London is still in mourning it is however, expected that the public buildings will be uniformly draped or decorated next Thursday when King Edward drives from Marlborough house to the house of lords. Every flag will probably fly mast high, but no decorations are anticipated other than small shields displaying arms of coats of Westminster and London, which will be affixed to lamp posts along the route.

Given the weather, this drawback notwithstanding, the spectacle is sure to be a magnificent one. The ancient state coach is in the hands of a firm of coach builders undergoing repairs, which are no doubt being needed, considering that the vehicle has been lying idle since the death of the Prince Consort forty years ago.

PANAY PACIFIED

Ice Is Broken and Peace is in Sight

REBELLIOUS LEADERS TAKE THE OATH

And Are Followed by the People at the Rate of 1500 a Day

New York, Feb. 11.—A special to the Tribune from Washington says: The large island of Panay, of which Iloilo is the chief port, has been one of the most vexatious hotbeds of insurrection and resistance to the American regime in the whole Philippines archipelago. Announcement that its pacification has now been practically accomplished was one of the most gratifying messages received by the War Department during the last week. The tribune has just received from an officer on duty in Panay an interesting letter, written just before Christmas, giving an account of the achievement, which is one of the absorbing topics throughout the Philippines, especially as the lead of Panay is apt to be followed in other islands.

At Las Col. Rice's aide, Lieutenant G. R. D. MacGieger, Twenty-sixth Infantry, whom the district commander had put in charge of civil affairs last April, has cut the gordian knot. Through acting as counsel before a military commission in defense of some newspaper publishers who were charged with publishing seditious articles, he won the friendship and esteem of the most clever and influential clique of the island of Panay. These were men of wealth, education and travel and called themselves neutrals, so far as the war was concerned. After the trial the lieutenant kept in touch with them and had brought much influence to bear on them to make them "pro-American."

It is well to make it plain what this "neutrality" or apathy meant. Almost every soldier on the island of Panay, and almost every soldier in the Philippines, has the profoundst respect and the utmost deference. But when anything was asked to be done, their heads had been turned by fulsome rhetoric, by ambitious projects for power and moreover, they were in mortal fear of assassination.

The officers of the Twenty-sixth Infantry had toiled unrelentingly to bring about peace and prosperity on the island. They had waged wars bravely and well, but not ruthlessly and ruthlessly. They had earnestly toiled to build up rather than destroy, yet despite the improved conditions, the remarkable lowering of the death rate, the almost total eradication of smallpox and the increased cleanliness, beauty, prosperity and peace of the various towns, the men had held aloof; and though appreciative of improved conditions and better methods, had clung sulkily to their cause. It was more than provoking and patience had almost ceased to be a virtue.

But on November 22, last, Apoline Le Des Ma, one of those decided to take the oath. He said he had thoroughly canvassed Jaro, and asked that all the people of that district might be given an opportunity to take the oath on the day following, Le Des Ma and Villalobos were thus duly sworn, and on the following day hundreds of Jaro citizens of all classes surged about post headquarters endeavoring to wear allegiance. Two days later Moto followed suit and the oaths there quickly ran into the thousands. Col. Rice telegraphed all over the island announcing that the ice had been broken and that Jaro and Moto had fallen into line. One month later on December 21, the record of oaths taken in Panay reached a total of 25,884.

This absolute change of front has a deep significance to a soldier who for two years has closely studied these people, their customs and their mode of thought.

With the island of Panay becoming Americanized at the rate of 1500 a day, the end is in sight.

Divested of the support from the towns, the bands of insurgents that still exist must languish and disintegrate and when they can no longer operate the native scouts and police can soon, and with much delight, wipe out the other bands, the Ladrones, or robbers. Thus the few remaining problems will rapidly solve themselves.

RAILROADS IN CUBA

Concessions Secured May Cause Trouble

MARTINELLI TO BE CARDINAL

The Messenger is the Owner of Immense Estates in Cuba

New York, Feb. 11.—The World says: Gen. A. G. Greenwood, of this city, predicts trouble in Cuba over the railroad question. The general was a resident of Cuba during the war and was the commander of a volunteer regiment from Chicago.

Gen. Greenwood was one of the first men to get concessions from the Cuban government, securing permission to build a system of railroads over the island. At the request of the Cuban leaders, it was thought that the building of the roads would make trouble if it was commenced before the settlement of all governmental difficulties, he abandoned the project.

"At present" says Gen. Greenwood, the people of Cuba are in a turmoil over the railroad question, and threaten to take up arms again if the present government does not discourage the plans of certain American and Canadian capitalists. These men want to Cuba and began to purchase land for the purpose of building a railroad, buying it outright, and saying that they would risk their chances of getting permission to operate the road after the government is settled.

"The people fear that the capitalists intend to heap additional debts upon them, and fear the American government is behind them."

New York, Feb. 11.—A special to the World from Washington says: "It is believed in ecclesiastical circles that when the apostolic delegate, Mr. Martinelli, is elevated to the cardinalate, the official messenger to apprise him of the fact will be Count Giovanni Pecci, the nephew of the Pope. The consistory at which the nomination is to be made probably will be held in March."

The count is the owner of immense estates in Cuba. During the revolution much of his property was destroyed. It is said to be part of the plans of his holiness not only to honor Mr. Martinelli by the selection of his nephew as the official messenger, but also to give the count an opportunity to look after his financial matters.

THE JESSIE SHIRLEY COMPANY

"A Woman's Power" to be the Opening Bill Tonight.

The Shirley Company arrived last night after a trying trip from the south and are registered at the Willamette. The company opens a week's engagement at the Salem Grand this evening, presenting Miss Edith's latest and greatest New York success, "A Woman's Power."

Miss Shirley and her excellent company are too well known in Salem to require any introduction, but as the play is new to the local theatre, goes a word concerning that might not be out of place.

"A Woman's Power" is an English society drama of the modern day but unlike most plays of its class it does not deal with subjects which are better left to the imagination. It is a clean, wholesome story told in a manner in which the highest stage for a moment and is relieved by a bright sparkling vein of comedy.

Clever specialties are introduced by competent artists engaged for that purpose. Add to this the musical numbers by the company's excellent orchestra and you have an entertainment seldom equaled and never excelled by a popular priced company.
