PORTLAND TAXPAYERS' LEAGUE BACKS UP THE MOVEMENT

Important Legislative Matters, It Is Urged, Should Be Considered on Their Merits, Free From Political Considerations

(Portland Oregonian, Oct. 21.) The executive committee of the Taxpayers' League yesterday agreed unanimously to ask Governor Geer to call an extra session of the legislature. Not presuming to speak for the general membership of the league, however, the committee will frame a petition to the governor and begin today circulating it for the signature of such members as may choose to sign it; but outsiders will not be barred from joining in the request. This committee took the initiative because it was an organization that could properly do so, but there was no desire to narrow the matter to a Taxpayers' League movement. The hope was expressed that citizens generally would join it so that the petition sent to the governor might be regarded as an expression of the public sentiment of the community on the subject.

It was a regular meeting of the executive committee and all members were present—A. L. Mills, W. M. Ladd, J. C. Ainsworth, J. W. Cook, Leo Friede, J. Thornburn Ross and J. N. Teal. The advisability of having an extra session of the legislature was generally discussed, and the conclusion was reached that it would be for the best interests of the state, and it should be called at the earliest possible date. Several reasons for this course were given.

Inasmuch as there is some doubt as to whether the initiative and referendum amendment to the constitution is self-operative, it is deemed important that all such doubt be removed, and that the legislature pass such laws as may be necessary for putting that amendment into effect before the regular session of the legislature. It is also believed that the matter of an appropriation for the Lewis and Clark celebration is of such importance to the state that it ought to be determined free from entanglements with other measures, and at an early date, so that the Lewis and Clark authorities may know what they will have to do with, and make their plans accordingly. It is also desired that Oregon act in time to guide other states in their treatment of the 1905 fair.

It was deemed important that the new Portland charter be handled at a special session. The committee discussed these three subjects of sufficient importance to warrant an extra session of the state legislature, and the petition to be circulated the governor will be asked to include them in the call, if he shall see fit to call the legislature. It was realized that the real responsibility of calling a special session must lie with the governor, the efforts of the committee being directed to making known to him the desires of the people with respect to certain matters that demand attention.

Three considerations lie at the bottom of this move for an extra session. First, the election of a United States Senator and transaction of the usual legislative business will fully occupy the 40 days allowed for the regular session. Second, it is recognized as extremely desirable that the matters particularly mentioned be dealt with on their merits, and kept free from other measures. Third, too much time would be lost in waiting for action of the regular session on these subjects.

While the committee did not presume to bind the Taxpayers' League by its action yesterday, the statement was made that nine-tenths of the membership was heartily in favor of the proposed move. Citizens in general will be invited to sign the petition to be circulated, and also to express their sentiments to the governor through independent channels.

SHORTENED HIS TERM

Charles Sullivan, a 10-Year Man, Dies at the State Prison.

Charles Sullivan, alias Charles Quinn, died at the state penitentiary Monday night of tuberculosis. Sullivan was received at the prison from Multnomah county on January 19, 1896, under sentence of 10 years for the crime of larceny. He was aged 53 years at the time of his death, and in the absence of relatives in this country, the remains were today given burial in the cemetery at the prison.

The crime for which Sullivan was sent to the penitentiary, was the theft of a lady's purse from a Portland church, while he was attending his religious devotions. The sentencing judge imposed a severe sentence. Sullivan has been in ill health, and under the doctor's care for several months.

FLORIDA MAN ENQUIRES

About Business Prospects in Oregon

Ought to Find Place at Salem or Some Other Good Town

F. N. Boardman, a Florida man who does a large general merchandise business, writes The Journal, sending a subscription to the daily, and he says he wants to find a business location. We quote his letter in full, and hope he may get an opening at Salem, or some other good town. We have written him, and sent him printed matter, and would be glad to receive propositions from any one who is in a position to offer him encouragement to come to Oregon.

The Floridan's Letter. I would also be glad to have you answer, either by letter or through the columns of your paper, the following questions. I am thinking of moving my family West, and wish to get some idea of the different cities, by their local papers:

What is the population of your city? Is there an opening there for a shoe store, and how many shoe stores are there in Salem now?

Is there an opening there for a bicycle store, and repair shop? How many bicycle stores and repair shops are there in Salem?

Are the streets of Salem, and the roads of the vicinity good for bicycling?

What kind of schools have you? What colleges near?

Is there a first-class military school in Oregon?

Is it a wide-open gambling town, or is this vice held in check?

What inducements are there for a good musician? Is there a good brass band there, and a good orchestra? How cold does it ever get in winter, and how warm in summer?

What is the principal industry there, and what the prevailing wages? What can a store room pay 20 or 25 feet by 75 to 100 feet be rented for in the business part of town?

The population of Salem is fairly stated 10,000 to 12,000. About 20,000 people come here to do business from the three counties that center at this city.

There are three large retail shoe stores, with half a dozen other stores carrying shoe stocks. The shoe trade is well represented, and we could not advise any one to put in another shoe stock here.

The bicycle and repair business is fully represented. Salem is a great center of the bicycle trade. Its three principal industries are politics, hops and bicycles.

Salem has started on the upward course, and will not rest until this city has the best public schools in the state. We have a university, two normal schools, an academy and a business college, a law school and a medical school. For the size of the city, Salem has the best facilities for higher education in the world. No one works for a living, but those who are absolutely compelled to.

There is very little gambling, compared to the size of the town, and two churches or over for each saloon.

There is a fine field here for a good musician, or any number of them, if they can make a living at something else. Salem has just received an acquisition of a hand-organ, who has seen service in the British army. Salem needs a first-class orchestra, and good musicians who can teach music to young people, so that there will be more and better musicians.

Salem has no one principal industry, but quite a diversity, as woolen mills, sawmills, planing mills and sash and door factories, prune packing, fruit shipping, hop manufacture, banking, publishing and growing strawberries.

Common wages for labor range from $1.50 to $2.00. Salem is unionized, and wages have advanced.

Store rooms rent from $20 to $50 per month.

We trust Mr. Boardman can pick out of this some satisfactory information that will lead him to make the Capital City of Oregon his home. Here his young people, if he has any, will find every opportunity for making the most of the talents God has given them.

There are plenty of business openings in Oregon, although in a general way nearly all lines of business are well represented. There are many places where a large merchandise stock would find business waiting for it.

Such committees would do well to address The Journal, and we will place the information before Mr. Boardman, and allow him to find a home in their midst, if that should be his wish.

PRESIDENT'S PROPOSITION ADOPTED

By the Anthracite Miners' Convention

After Hot Discussion As To Its Probable Result

Resumption of Work Will Commence Thursday

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 21.—The convention opened at 10 o'clock this morning. It became early apparent that last night's consideration and discussion had won over many of those at first opposed to surrender. Before the credentials committee reported, one of the delegates asked Mitchell if the independent operators were included in the agreement to arbitrate. Mitchell made a brief talk, in which he said that their understanding was very clear that all the operators who signed the proposition did so for all the companies. Speeches along the line of adoption were heard while awaiting the report of the committee on resolutions. One delegate created a sensation by declaring that the talk on the question of adopting the resolution had gone long enough, and the men who held back because of personal sacrifice would accept better positions, and forget the cause of unionism entirely if they had the opportunity. The committee on resolutions then reported, declaring for the resumption of work on Thursday next, and that a copy be sent to President Roosevelt. The motion was adopted, and was about to be put, when a delegate interposed and opened the discussion afresh. The speaker was almost drowned with prolonged cries for the "question." Mitchell, with difficulty, quelled the noise, and said that until the last man had been heard he would not put the question to a vote. Secretary Wilson, in a lengthy address, also urged acceptance of the proposition.

Expense of Commission. Washington, Oct. 21.—Labor Commissioner Wright, who has been investigating the subject, in his opinion that the arbitration commission will be compelled to pay its own expenses, trusting to congress to reimburse them. He believes the cost of the investigation will exceed $10,000.

Commission Will Meet Friday. Washington, Oct. 21.—President Roosevelt has called the arbitration commission to meet in Washington Friday.

Fanatic Shoots English Missionary. Tangier, Morocco, Oct. 21.—A native fanatic shot an English missionary named William Cooper this morning and fled to a sanctuary to hide from his pursuers. The Sultan decided to have him brought out, and he was shot in front of the mosque.

Proposition Adopted. Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 21.—The strike was settled at 12 o'clock. President Mitchell, after hearing all who desired to speak, and patiently answering Talk this over with your doctor. If he says Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is all right for your hard cough, then take it. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
