

HE HAD A BUSY HOUR

Fate Does a Few Stunts With S. J. Demarsq, Preventing Him Getting Lonesome

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 2.—After shooting 3000 feet down a dry shingle flume at such terrific rate that the skin was burned off him, then flying 25 feet from the end of the flume into the ocean, then swimming about 150 feet, although he had never swam a stroke before in his life, next holding onto rocks and finding himself too weak to clamber ashore, and to be finally rescued by his brave wife from a position of extreme peril, was the sequence of events that made an hour of S. J. Demarsq's life exciting. Demarsq, who is a well-known lumber man, is now in the hospital here, thankful to be alive.

The accident occurred at Kilpatrick's camp on Hotham Sound. The steamer Kootenay made a special trip to bring the man here and it was found that he had a dislocated leg, a twisted ankle, numerous cuts and abrasions, while large patches of skin had been burned off by the heat caused by the friction of his swift descent of the flume.

"It was an experience that nine out of ten men could not live through," said A. Davis, who brought the injured man down. "Demarsq shot down the flume with terrific force, bruised and battered. His contact with the icy water revived him, and he struck out for the shore, but when he tried to drag himself onto the rocks he found the task impossible. His wife, who was on an island a quarter of a mile away, was informed by her frightened children that a man in the water was shouting for help. She, unaided, launched a heavy boat and put out to the rescue. To the amazement it was her husband she saved. By dint of hard exertion she managed to get him into the craft and back to the house, and then came to the logging camp for assistance. Two camp-mates put an improvised stretcher in the boat and rowed 25 miles with the waves breaking over the craft all the time. They hailed the Kootenay just before reaching Sechart, and the captain kindly put back to Vancouver, although he was going north."

Happiness in a Tablet.

Perfect Health for Every One Procured at Small Cost.

How many times have you sat down at your meals absolutely disgusted at the thought or sight of anything to eat?

How many times have you sat down at your meals without the trace of an appetite, but just because it was "time to eat?"

How many times have you felt a gnawing, unsatisfied "still-hungry" feeling in your stomach, even after you were through eating?

How many times have you felt that "lump of lead" on your stomach after eating, whether your meal was well cooked or not?

And how many times have you suffered a whole lot of other things from your stomach that you couldn't explain, but that made you grouchy, miserable, out-o'-sorts and generally sour on everybody and everything?

It is safe to say you couldn't tell you don't keep track of those things, of course, but you know you've suffered them. You probably have had them for so long that they've become a habit with you, and you have come to the conclusion that your fate is to suffer them indefinitely and perhaps forever.

And so men, much like horses, standing unhitched at the hitching post, think they're tied, and so their habit makes them prisoners.

But no one need have dyspepsia, nor indigestion, nor loss of appetite, brash, irritation, burning sensations, heartburn, nausea, eructations, bad memory, loss of vim and vigor and the happiness that comes from a healthy stomach and a good appetite if he will leave his old hitching post and tie himself to a new one, one that will hold to him to health, joy, ambition and a clear mind and memory, and the sunshine that goes with them.

That indeed is Heaven! And you can get it in a little tablet, already prepared for the purpose, in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, those little cherubs of health and delight found in thousands of homes today. Listen—one ingredient of one of these precious little tablets will digest for you 3000 grains of food.

There will be no general repair on the Alabama, flagship of the second division of the fleet, the Illinois, the Iowa, and the Indiana, until next spring. The torpedo flotilla has been detached from the fleet. The gunboat Yankton is at present in Brooklyn navy yard for the removal of auxiliary boilers and other work. The hunting quarters and stables are at Mayfield farm purchased by Miss Inman who has installed thirty-five well trained hunters and thirty couples of hounds. Foxes are very plentiful in the neighborhood and capital sport is expected during the winter months. Roberts Coteworth, huntsman for Mr. A. Southern Prosperity.

New Orleans, Nov. 2.—Cotton exportations from the southern states for the past four years have reached a total valuation of $1,460,717, 393. From 1893 to 1896 inclusive, the valuation figures were $783,504,780 which was $677,212,613 less than the first total mentioned and show that last quadrennial experts have almost doubled. The enormous value of cotton to the south can be fairly estimated from such returns and yet it possesses in addition more than 250,000,000 acres suitable for cotton cultivation. When the possibilities embraced in this possession is considered within the iron coal and mineral resources that are now yielding to the touch of industry the future of the south seems assured.

VAWTER MAKING FIGHT

Douglas and Jackson Representatives Making Political Fences

According to the Portland newspapers, Hon. I. W. Vawter, representative from Douglas and Jackson counties, is making a strong fight for the speakership of the next house. Frank Davey, of Marion county, is an active candidate, and Mr. Chapin, of Multnomah, is displaying some strength. Representative Jones, of Polk, is also in the race. However, it is difficult to prophecy who will be in the final fight until more is known about the result of the contest for the presidency of the senate.

The Portland Journal, of yesterday, says:

W. I. Vawter, representative from Douglas and Jackson counties, was a Portland visitor yesterday, while on his way home from the Eastern Oregon conference on jute mill legislation. The speakership was also discussed while on that trip, with the result that Mr. Vawter returned to Portland feeling hopeful that he will be the coming speaker of the house when the legislature convenes. He has not nailed the job down by any means, however, and will not cease in his efforts to add more followers to his banner.

While in the city yesterday Mr. Vawter made personal calls upon all of the members of the Multnomah delegation in both houses, and presented his case, especially before the members of the lower house. To them all he frankly admitted that he did not at this time have sufficient members pledged to insure his election, but he is hopeful that time will fill his ranks. He is comforted by the knowledge, too, that Frank Davey, of Marion county, who is his closest opponent in the race, is in the same boat with himself, and could not be elected just now if the roll was called.

The speakership question is in the fog now. This fact was explained to Mr. Vawter yesterday by members of the Multnomah delegation, who in all probability will hold the balance of power at the election. Multnomah county wishes to have, and will insist upon, either the president of the senate or the speaker being from this district. At the present time the presidency is the most favored of the two positions. Two candidates—Dan J. Malarkey and C. W. Hodson, both of Portland—are the two most promising aspirants for the place. Malarkey, however, is holding secondary position to Hodson, and Hodson is not sure of his election by any means. If either Hodson or Malarkey are elected Multnomah county will be willing to see the speakership go to either Davey or Vawter, but if the presidency goes outside of the county, then the united delegation will back W. H. Chapin, of Portland, for the speakership.

Chapin is a potential candidate. He hardly expects election, unless circumstances practically boost him into office. He, with his fellow-members, is waiting to see how the office in the upper house is settled before he jumps into the breach very vigorously.

Frank Davey has not corralled a majority of the house, in spite of his statement to that effect. While in Portland a few days ago he is quoted as saying that he had the unanimous support of the Multnomah delegation, but at least two members of that band deny the assertion, maintaining that they are not pledged to any one. They also assert that the delegation, as a whole, is not pledged.

Even should the presidency come to Multnomah, as is likely, no one knows whether Davey or Vawter would receive the support of this delegation. Legislative trading will have much to do with their pledges. Railroad bills, anti-pass measures, franchise regulation, insurance laws and many other matters of importance will be up for settlement. These things are all vital to this county, more so, perhaps, than to other sections of the state. It is easy to see, therefore, that the man who receives Multnomah support for the speakership will in all probability be the man who can bring the most support for Multnomah's legislation. This legislation is so far in the future and as yet so scantily discussed that the candidates themselves do not know what they can promise in the way of support.

Before leaving for his home yesterday Mr. Vawter made arrangements to return on Friday or Saturday, when he will begin to build what fences he can in Portland, and take his first aggressive steps in the campaign he has passively begun.

Irish Girl a Literary Genius.

Pittsburg, Nov. 2.—Bessie Gies Buchanan, a beautiful Irish-American girl of twenty, and a member of the staff of the Pittsburg Leader, has just published a book of thirty-seven poems with pen and ink illustrations at top and bottom of each page bound in black silk and lettered in white. It is artistic in make-up as well as in contents. This charming young literary writer has written 180 poems in the last three years, which shows a surprising depth of thought in one so young. Miss Buchanan is a grand niece of Elizabeth Paterson, the celebrated Baltimore beauty, who was the wife of Jerome Bonaparte.
