

DRAMATIC AND SOCIAL EVENTS

UNIVERSITY. GLEE CLUB IS COMING

On December 15 the University of Oregon Glee and Mandolin clubs will leave Eugene for their thirteenth annual tour, and are scheduled to appear at the Grand opera house that night (Tuesday, December 15). Prof. I. M. Glen, dean of music at the university, has been giving his time for the last two months to the boys for preparation for their concerts. Professor Glen is a musical director of note in the West; he has developed organizations of musical talent that, for their kind, have never been surpassed for excellence on the Pacific coast. The songs which the Glee club will introduce are appearing this winter for the first time in New York and have never been heard before on the coast. The stuntsters, Van Dusen and Voight, are the best that have appeared in sketches since the days of Bob Roundtree. Their specialty is dialect work, and they are geniuses in rendering the tongue of foreigners.

The Mandolin club will have three numbers on the program, and this limited number they will be able to render in the most finished manner. Professor Glen will do the solo work, and Cooper, Nelson, Wood and Burke have the quartette work, which will be one of the leading features of the program. Altogether, it is a most balanced concert and entertainment which the collegians are giving this year, and is certain of success on the tour.

Immense Success at Bungalow.

Manager Geo. L. Baker, of the Baker Stock Company and Bungalow theatre, of Portland, has achieved another triumph in the art of play-producing the past week with David Belasco's second beautiful play, "The Rose of the Rancho." So delighted were theatre-goers that, after the first two or three performances, the news spread to such an extent that those who came later for seats found themselves unable to secure any very good location, and before the week was out thousands were turned away unable to get any seats at all. This condition caused Manager Baker to announce a repetition of "The Rose of the Rancho" for a second week, and those desiring seats for any performance should secure them at once. This second week will be the last of the Christmas week attractions. Hoyt's "A Midnight Bell" is already in preparation, contracted for and will open Sunday matinee, December 20. The beautiful stage pictures in "The Rose of the Rancho" are the talk of everyone. The story is a thrilling one, and gives splendid opportunity for the clever principals to do most finished and artistic acting. This is especially true in the case of Miss Izzetta Jewel, who plays "Juanita," the Spanish girl. Sydney Ayres, her American lover; Louis Kent, Maribel Seymour, William Bills, Donald Bowles, Howard Russell and all the others.

WHEN THE SCOT LEFTS

THE VEIL OF DOURNNESS

The opening scene of "What Every Woman Knows," the comedy by J. M. Barrie in which Miss Maude Adams is now acting, shows the Wythes, a typical Scotch family, at home. There are three brothers, all middle aged men, who display a warmth of affection for their sister Maggie that, it has been remarked, seem scarcely consistent with their dourness at other times in the course of the play. Barrie, though, it cannot be doubted knows his Scotch character from A to Z and there is a passage in one of his earlier books that may be read with interest in this connection.

"You only know the shell of a Scot," he says, "until you have entered his home circle; in his office, in clubs, at social gatherings where you and he seem to be getting on so well, he is really a house with all the shutters closed and the doors locked. He is not opaque of set purpose, often it is against his will—it is certainly against mine. I try to keep my shutters open and my foot in the door but they will bang to. Now, it seems to be a law of nature that we must show our true selves at some time, and as the Scot must do it at home, and squeeze a day into an hour, what follows is that there he is self-revealing in the superlative degree, the feelings so long damned up overflow better acquainted with each other, and more ignorant of the life outside their circle than any other family in the world. And as knowledge is sympathy, the affection existing between them is almost painful in its intensity; they have not more to give than their neighbors, but it is bestowed upon a few instead of being distributed among many; they are reputed niggardly, but for family affection at least they pay in gold. In this I believe we shall find the true explanation why Scotch literature since long before the days of Burns, has been so often inspired by the domestic hearth and has treated it with a passionate understanding."

Hoked to Death
Is commonly said of babies who have died of the croup. How unnecessary this is. No child ever had the croup without having a cold or cough at the start. If you will stop the first symptom of the cough with Ballard's Horehound Syrup there is no danger whatever of croup. Sold by all dealers.

A Chicago man, while drunk, a few years ago, bought a piece of property he did not want, but he sold it last week for $80,000.

There's plenty of humbug in tea; not one ounce in a ton Schilling's Best.

Your grocer returns your money if you don't like it. We pay him.

Portland was left in darkness last night in the down-town section because of the grounding of a federal cable.

WAR WITH JAPAN
could not possibly make so many cripples as rheumatism does every year. And yet there is no reason why this disease should cripple anyone, if all sufferers will rub the affected parts night and morning with Ballard's Snow Liniment. Cures all aches and pains. Sold by all dealers.

Ppton Sinclair, famous as the author of "The Jungle," marched out of the restaurant of the St. Francis hotel, in San Francisco, in a wrath, because he was charged 25 cents flat for a whole wheat biscuit.

Leo F. Zelinsky, of 68 Gibson street, Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I cured the most annoying cold sore I ever had, with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. I applied this salve once a day for two days, when every trace of the sore was gone." Heals all sores. Sold under guarantee at J. C. Perry's drug store. 25c.

STANFORD PROFESSOR SAYS STUDENTS ACT LIKE SMALL CHILDREN

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Stanford University, Cal., Dec. 12.—Registrar Elliott, a member of the faculty student affairs committee, has written a communication to the Sequoia, in which he calls the present generation of students at Stanford "children and boarding school misses," and points out characteristics undergraduate pranks which, in his opinion, are conclusive proof of the immaturity of the young men and women at the university.

The tubbing of freshmen, "the vulgarities of pan-hellenic night," plug uglies and night shirt parades are some of the frivolities which strike Elliott as inexcusable, and the "Moulo brand" of student stirs him to make caustic comments on the need of student control at the institution.

"If," says Registrar Elliott, "the men and women of the student body bent upon beginning the tasks of men and women, can control these things, purge them, do away with them, if they can impose upon the children and boarding school misses and upon the lawless standards of conduct, and if they can create a student sentiment so wise and sure that there will be no need of faculty action, why, then the way to happiness is open to all."

The registrar's comments on the student situation at Stanford have not aroused much enthusiasm among the undergraduates. In the same issue of the Sequoia which contains Elliott's article is an editorial, referring to it thus:

"It is as frank a statement of the general attitude of the student affairs committee as has been published, and indicates clearly that the committee is not in sympathy with and does not appreciate the undergraduate view"

AUTHORESS SAYS ENGLAND WILL SOON BE RUN BY WOMEN

(United Press Leased Wire.)
New York, Dec. 12.—That the women of England who are fighting for suffrage will get what they want is the opinion of Miss Gertrude Atherton, the California novelist, after a discussion of the social problems of England is facing today.

"The English women are in deadly earnest," declared Miss Atherton, "and equal suffrage is coming in England as sure as fate. And when they get it they are going to make it hot for the men, for they are greatly in the majority, and will be able to out-vote the men on any question they choose to advocate."

"English women do not get the homage that is paid their American sister. Englishmen, of course, are polite, and have good manners, but they do not bestow upon their women all the little attentions that are common in this country. Their attitude is one of stolid indifference, rather than one of tender regard, or secure superiority, rather than eager solicitude. Englishmen are lacking in the knowledge of the small chivalries.

"Of course, the reason for this condition is obvious; they do not command consideration where they outnumber the men, as they do in England.

"It is possible that they see in it relief from long subjugation that English women are so aroused over the fight for equal suffrage. And when they get into the saddle, why they will run things."

STATE DAIRY MEET CLOSES ITS BUSINESS

The State Dairy association closed its sessions by electing Prof. Kent president, Mrs. Younkum, vice-president; A. R. Morgan, second vice-president; Carl Abrams secretary and treasurer.

Resolutions Adopted.
Whereas, Our state is especially adapted to the pursuit of the dairy industry and.

Whereas, We believe the best interest of the state demands the development of dairying, and

Whereas, The utterances of this convention have revealed the fact that there is a lack of knowledge of the most economical methods of dairying on the part of a large portion of our dairy farmers, and

Whereas, This condition retards the progress of the dairy industry, and

Whereas, We believe it the duty of this association to foster, protect, and promote the interest of dairying, therefore be it

Resolved, That we recommend that our state legislature make an appropriation of not less than $6000 a year for the employment, by the state dairy and food commissioner, of three persons to act as his deputies, qualified to inspect dairies, creameries, and factories and to conduct cow-testing associations, instruct dairymen, and collect and disseminate valuable dairy information, and that we instruct our honorable president to appoint a committee of three members of the association consisting of two dairymen and a creamery man, to draft a bill providing for needed legislation in this line, and present the same before the next legislative session.
