

SPAIN IS IN THROES OF REVOLT

[UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE.] San Sebastian, Spain, July 18.—Scores of bloody riots in which rioters and police alike suffered swept Spain yesterday and today.

Although dispatches from Madrid are censored closely, authoritative information has been received that Spain is on the eve of the greatest revolution in her history. The forces at work against the Spanish crown and cabinet are similar to those of the great French revolution. Secret societies in a dozen cities have resolved upon concerted action, and a great "strike" is spreading throughout the peninsula.

Already in Barcelona, Bilbao, Girona, Santander, Gijon and Saragossa strikes have been declared. The military authorities have thrown heavy bodies of troops into the cities to stem the revolutionary tide.

The general opinion here is that Spain is aflame with revolt, and that the king and cabinet, after yesterday's conference, are preparing to suspend the constitution, and to declare martial law.

San Sebastian, on the northern coast, and Barcelona, on the Mediterranean, both adjacent to France, have been made the headquarters of the plot, it is said. Barcelona, owing to the strong garrison placed there last week by General Weyler, was reported quiet today.

Fighting and bomb-throwing is reported in other parts of Spain, but the government is active in suppressing the disorders.

Underlying the demands of the populace for the curtailment of the powers of the church in Spain, is the rapid growth of the Republican party, with the desire for the abolishment of the crown and the cortes, and for the establishment of a representative body elected by the people.

The Republicans have been aided by their brethren of France and by socialistic and anarchistic societies in other capitals of Europe. These have supplied the Spanish agitators with funds, and many prominent Socialist leaders have promised personal aid in the approaching crisis.

It is believed here, the summer capitol, that General Alfonso has been kept in ignorance of the strength of the revolutionary movement and of the weakness of his own party. It is admitted that the army is eaten with sedition, and that secret societies have worked successfully in the army, so that many of its officers and men are ready to join with the revolutionists should an open outbreak occur.

Mastery of Fog Attained.

The French liner La Provence attracted unusual attention lately, says the New York Times, by new and enormous wireless antennas spread just aft of the forward funnel. The antennas are used in connection with a new instrument called the Compas Azimutal Hertzienne, which enables the commander of a vessel carrying it to detect to a degree his bearing with any ship or land station sending wireless messages.

Captain Poncelet and the ship's wireless operator were elated with the success of the instrument during the passage from Havre. The Provence encountered some fog on the way over, and while in a patch of it got into wireless communication with the Holland-America liner Potsdam and the French liners Chicago and La Lorraine. With the instrument Captain Poncelet was able to detect his relative position with all these steamers and furnish them with this information. The device, which was invented by Signor Bellini and Signor Tosi of the Italian navy, will enable all steamers carrying it to determine their relative positions with ship and shore when receiving wireless waves.

About Pronunciation.

A correspondent sends the following bit of conjecture as to the origin of the irregular pronunciation "eyether" for the word either. It would surely explain why to say "eyether" is considered by some Americans a mark of elegance and by others of aping elegance. The writer says:

The English rule for it is to sound e long with i silent; the German rule is like English long i with e silent. Before the evocation of the Hanoverian kings the English pronounced these words as if spelled "eether" and "neether." King George, being German, pronounced as if the words were spelled "eyether" and "neyther." This became court usage and has been used by Londoners ever since.

The Oxford dictionary says that either (long e) is the right pronunciation, though eyether (like long i) is custom in London. American lexicographers all prefer the normal either (long e).

Good deeds are never questionable.

TORPEDO BOATS ARE SUCCESS

FUNCTIONS OF UNDERWATER CRAFT INVALUABLE FOR KEEPING BIG WARSHIPS AT A DISTANCE, BUT THEIR EFFECTIVENESS IS PROBLEMATICAL.

[UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE.] London, July 17.—The admiralty, after conducting a series of practice operations with submarines and heavy tonnage warships, announced today that the experiments have showing the growing value of the under-sea torpedo boats, and that further maneuvers with the little craft will be carried on.

One of the striking discoveries made by the experiments is that the main body of a battleship, cruiser and scout boat squadron must remain at least 700 miles distant from the enemy's submarines while the fleet's officers are unfamiliar with the enemy's strength. The modern submarines have a steaming power of 1500 miles. They easily may elude scout cruisers and torpedo boats, thereby making hazardous the near approach of a battleship division. The elements of luck and guesswork enter into submarine flotilla fighting and in battle many experts believe that the submarine could do little but founder helplessly, probably doing as much damage to themselves as to their enemies.

AGED ATHLETE WOULD BREAK WESTON RECORD

[UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE.] Cambridge, Mass., July 17.—Though he is 61 years old, Charles P. Daniels, until recently a Harvard trainer, is today working with the weights and on the padded track in a local gymnasium. Weston's transcontinental record, Daniels believes, should be lowered, and he proposes to accomplish the feat.

Daniels has not said when he would start on his trip.

Two Ex-Presidents in London. Fifty-five years ago two ex-presidents of the United States were in London at the same time. On June 8, 1855, the American minister, James Buchanan—himself elected to the presidency in the following year—wrote to the secretary of state at Washington, "ex-Presidents Van Buren and Fillmore are now both here." During their stay they visited the house of commons together, and a few days later John Bright took occasion to remark on the incident, speaking on them as "two of the distinguished men who have occupied the position of president of the United States, a position not lower in honor and dignity than that of any crowned monarch on the face of the globe."—Exchange.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. Its danger signals are "stuffed up" nostrils, lower part of nose sore, and a throat-gripping cough. When grip attacks, as you value your life, don't delay getting Dr. King's New Discovery. Foley Kidney Pills Have Cured Me. The above is a quotation from a letter written by H. M. Winkler, Evansville, Ind. "I contracted a severe case of kidney trouble. My back gave out and pained me. I seemed to have lost all strength and ambition; was bothered with dizzy spells, my head would swim and specks float before my eyes. I took Foley Kidney Pills regularly and am now perfectly well and feel like a new man. Foley Kidney Pills have cured me." J. C. Perry.

Honey in Switzerland.

Switzerland is a land of flowers, and its thrifty inhabitants have made the blossoms very largely contributory to the food supply.

According to statistics gathered by the Swiss Society of Agriculture "there are 250,000 hives or colonies of bees in the country, each of which produces 40 pounds of honey during the season, a total of 10,000,000 pounds a year. The average of Swiss honey for the year was 25 cents a pound, giving the year's product a total value of $2,500,000." As flowers grow without cultivation and the bees work without wages, other than caretaking, producing their own food supply, the honey crop is in great part clear profit.—Philadelphia Record.

NO MORE GRAY HAIR

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made and used a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair, and are fast following suit. The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready to use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. As a scalp tonic and color restorer, this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers, and it can be bought for 50 cents and $1 a bottle at almost any first-class drug store, or will be sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.
