

EUGENE MAN WAS THE FIRST

W. W. BRANSTETTER THE FIRST
NAME TO GO ON THE REGISTER
OF THE NEW HOTEL MARION,
WITH THE CELEBRATED JOHN
DOE A CLOSE SECOND.

To W. W. Branstetter, of Eugene, belongs the honor and distinction of having been the first person to place his name on the register of the new Hotel Marion, of this city. Those sharing this honor with him upon the night of Monday, September 12, when the first lodgers were received into the new hostelry, which has not yet thrown open its doors only for the accommodation of fair visitors and to relieve the congested condition of the lodging house service, were the "ubiquitous John Doe," also of Eugene, and Louis F. Block, of New York City.

The new Hotel Marion will not be open for the reception of guests for some time yet, but a number of the rooms have been finished and furnished ready for occupancy, and Manager H. W. Doolittle, happening to stroll down the street on Monday evening, and finding some fair visitors roaming the streets searching in vain for lodging, took compassion upon them and put them to bed in some of the new rooms. When the news of this gained circulation there came a great demand for accommodations the following day, with the result that the hotel is doing a flourishing business in the lodging house line. Last night Manager Doolittle and Chief Clerk Charles Savage supplied comfortable quarters for the night to nearly 100 guests, and, as soon as other rooms are connected up with lights, they will be thrown open temporarily for the accommodation of state fair visitors.

With such enterprise, far-sighted and experienced men as Manager Doolittle and Chief Clerk Savage, present proprietor and manager of the Cottage Hotel, in charge, the future prosperity and success of Salem's new hostelry, which will rank up among the best in the country in modern equipment and service, seems assured. Manager Doolittle also gained an undying reputation for honesty, at least in the mind of the first guest he extended the courtesies of the new hotel to, for the safe delivery of Mr. Branstetter's gold watch to its rightful owner, which the latter had left under his pillow upon quitting his bed Tuesday morning.

AN ARTISTIC JOB OF PLASTERING

The plastering of the Hotel Marion is completed, and it is a piece of work of which Wm. Ratzburg may justly feel proud. It is the next biggest job of plastering ever done in the city, but it is not the next best, for the simple reason that it is the best. The work goes to show that Salem's plasterer, Ratzburg, is "on to his job," as it is expressed in the vernacular of the news boys, and the work should be seen to be adequately appreciated. There is no job too big for Billy, and none requiring genuine, artistic skill that he is afraid to tackle. Whoever had the letting of the plastering contract is to be commended for giving it to a local man, and their judgment in selecting the man puts them up in the rank of Solomon.
