IT IS ANNUAL SCHEME TO GET BIG APPROPRIATION

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Washington, Jan. 8.—Congressman Bartholdt, the house of representatives' foremost peace advocate, refused today to work up any excitement over General Leonard Wood's plea, as chief of the army staff, for $6,000,000 to buy more field guns and ammunition.

"It is merely the annual war scare," said Bartholdt. "This time they're using the Mexican situation to try and frighten congress into appropriating more. That's the one thing all this agitation is fomented for—the single purpose of influencing congress."

"I'd like to know from Wood what has become of the money already provided. Before the Spanish war we were spending $3,000,000 to $35,000,000 annually on the army; now we are spending $100,000,000."

Congressman Kahn took Wood's statement more seriously. "It seems to me," he said, "that the general has outlined a grave situation. We are deficient in field artillery, and it takes time to make and test guns."
