State Engineer Lewis gave 466 permits to appropriate water in 1913, according to his annual report, completed today. The permits provide for the irrigation of 442,181 acres, 41 reservoirs are planned and 30,225 horsepower will be developed. The average area to be supplied with water is 105 acres, as compared with 422 acres for the previous biennial period. Mr. Lewis says the figures for the past year indicate that there were fewer large projects of a speculative nature than during the previous year.
The case of the state vs. Edward Mallet, coming up now on a matter of a petition for parole, was continued until next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock by Judge Kelley this morning. Mallet was indicted by the grand jury on the charge of forgery. He pleaded guilty before Judge Cleeton last week and waiting time for sentence applied for a parole. The continuance was made today for the purpose of hearing witness in the defendant's behalf.
Charles Moss, a wandering unemployed man, was adjudged insane by City Physician Miles this morning and County Judge Bushey committed the unfortunate fellow to the asylum.
Moss appeared at the police station last night and asked for a bed. When he was turned out this morning he asked whether or not he would be killed by a man who had been following him for that purpose, and the chief of police called in the city physician at once, and further investigation into his case brought out the fact that the man was insane.

PROGRESSIVES MAY FILE IN DISTRICT

Secretary of State Olcott announced today, after receiving an opinion by John H. McNary, a lawyer of this city, that he would file the petition of any member of the Progressive party for nomination to any office, the political subdivision of which comprises all or one or more of the counties comprising the Second Congressional District, provided it contains any number of signatures of registered members of the party residing in each of the required number of precincts in each of the required number of counties necessary to make a valid petition as required by the primary law.

"The fact," said Mr. Olcott, "that the Progressive party did not have a candidate for Representative in Congress in the Second Congressional District, which comprises the counties of the state east of the Cascades, at the general election in November, 1912, has given rise to some uncertainty as to just how candidates of such party may have their names placed on the official ballots for the primary election on May 15, 1914, as such party must nominate its candidates for all offices under the provisions of the direct primary law, having cast in the entire state more than 20 per cent of the total vote cast for electors of President and Vice-President at said election.

"The question is one on which different opinions have been expressed by as many attorneys, but that advanced by Mr. McNary appears to be the most simple and logical interpretation, as well as literal application of the law as it now stands, and in the filing of petitions for nomination by members of this party I will be so guided."

County judges throughout the state, under whose jurisdiction comes the widow's pension law operation look upon the new statute as a beneficial one, generally speaking, and find the most perplexing problem in administering the law, that of weeding out the deserving from the undeserving.

The law has been in operation a little more than six months, and incoming reports from several of the counties show that $18 to $20 a month is the average paid to the beneficiaries under the law. In the counties where the budget has made provision for a widow's pension fund, the commissioners have looked forward to a slight increase in the needs for the coming year, based on the outlay during the first six months. Some of the counties look for an increase of one-third in the next year.

Lane county is among the leaders throughout the state outside of Multnomah for the number of applicants allowed and the sum required to make the payments. Lane county now is expending at the rate of about $11,000 annually. Multnomah county is caring for 130 widows, and the estimated needs under the law is $40,000 a year, although the budget provides for $50,000.

Marriage of widows after they have been admitted to the benefits of the statute, automatically deprives them of any rights, and in some cases the county court investigators have discovered widows with sufficient property to warrant dropping them from the lists. The county judges look for fluctuations in the monthly payments as a result of this from time to time.

THAW NOT CRAZY AT THIS TIME IS REPORT

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Concord, N. H., Jan. 12.—The release of Harry Kendall Thaw, under bail, would not be a public menace, according to the report of the commission appointed by Federal Judge Aldrich to inquire into the state of Thaw's mentality. The commissioners found that Thaw was not afflicted with any of the mental diseases from which he was held to be suffering at the time he killed Stanford White.

The finding was announced yesterday. While the commissioners say have reached "a definite and positive opinion as to the present mental condition of Thaw, and his probable state of mind at the time of the homicide," they refrain from expressing this opinion, in view of their instructions from the court not to embarrass any subsequent litigation where the broad question of insanity might be involved.

Malady Not Now Present.

"Upon the question of menace or danger through the granting of bail we may, however, be permitted and probably are compelled," concludes the report, "to record our finding that whatever may have been the mental condition of Harry Kendall Thaw at the time of the homicide, on which question we express no opinion, he is not now suffering from any of the forms of mental disease alleged by the prosecution at the time of the trial or subsequently thereto, namely—mania-depressive insanity, paranoia, dementia praecox or delusional insanity.

"In our opinion it is reasonably probable that Harry Kendall Thaw's liberty under bail, would not be dangerous or a menace to the public safety."

Further Hearing to Be Held.

The commission, which was appointed December 17, consisted of General Frank S. Streeter, a lawyer of this city, as chairman; Dr. Morton Prince, of Boston; Dr. G. Alderblumer, superintendent of the Butler Hospital for the Insane, Providence, R. I.; and Dr. C. P. Bancroft, superintendent of the New Hampshire Hospital for the Insane, of this city.

"THE TWO SERGEANTS."

Judge Aldrich this week in connection with the petition of Thaw for admission to bail under habeas corpus proceedings. In the receipt naming the commission the judge said that after the presentation of the report the interested parties would have an opportunity to be heard before the question of bail was passed on. No date, however, for such a hearing has been set.

"THE BAND FROM AMSTERDAM."

The Elks' big show, "The Band from Amsterdam" which will be produced for the first time in Oregon at the Grand Opera House, Monday and Tuesday, January 19 and 20, contains a strong plot that will be of interest to every resident of Salem and Marion county. The advantages of the public market to both the consumer and the farmer is clearly set forth, together with the unscrupulous methods practiced by a great commission man. The story contains many thrills, with pithy, breezy lines and rapid action. It relates conditions that exist at the present time in nearly every city of this country. Familiar present day characters portrayed by local people with whom we come in contact every day will make the performance doubly interesting. "The Band from Amsterdam" is without doubt the greatest musical comedy ever staged in Salem by local people, and in fact few traveling productions compare favorably with the piece in point of plot, music and the elaborate manner in which it is staged. Director Brown stated this morning that the company is much farther advanced in all parts of the production than they were last year at this time in "The Elks' Tooth." Every member of the committee and cast is putting forth their best efforts to eclipse all previous shows staged by the Elks.

UNEMPLOYED

obtain work all along the line of march.

Five men of the "army" are barbers and they were busy for several hours last night plying their avocation on comrades in the basement of the First Christian church. At least two-thirds of the men are under 25 years of age and a majority of them are foreigners. Some of them cannot speak English. Of the weary, unemployed sent out to the state institution this morning, about 40 in all, at least a dozen had returned by 2 o'clock this afternoon. They claim the wages offered were not enough, that they were only offered $1.50 day and had to pay $4 a week for board.

After their return the whole bunch called on the governor, and they were in touch with him when The Journal went to press.
