LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPION RITCHIE TRAINING HARD

Following Several Games of Golf, He Says He Never Was in Better Shape to Start Preparing.

SAYS IT WILL BE EASY FOR HIM TO MAKE 135 POUNDS

Tommy Murphy is Reported to be Rapidly Rounding into Form at His Camp at San Rafael.

San Francisco, April 7.—Lightweight Champion Willie Ritchie got down to this grind of hard training today for his scheduled 20 round bout here on the evening of April 17, with Harlow Tommy Murphy.

Ritchie played several games of golf yesterday and said he never was in better shape to start preparing for a fight.

Manager Harry Foley has engaged Willie Robinson and Kid Esposito, local lightweights, as the champion's sparring partners and he took each of them on for a two round session. The champion has not weighed since his arrival but he believes he weighs about 140 pounds. He says it will be easy to make the 135 pounds at 6 o'clock on the evening of the fight as required by the fight articles.

Murphy is doing his preliminary work over at San Rafael and reports from his camp say he is rapidly rounding into form. He put in six rounds of boxing yesterday, three with Johnny Payne and three with Eddie Miller.

REES AND SALVATOR MATCHED.

Stockton, Cal., April 7.—Louis Rees of Los Angeles and Sally Salvator of Sacramento will fight ten rounds here April 14, having signed an agreement early today. Both boys have appeared here recently and the fans are greatly excited over the coming event. It is expected to draw a record crowd.

He is under contract to engage in a series of five bouts for Snowy Baker, the Australian fight promoter. Shugrue says he hopes to return from the trip in line for a fight for the championship.

FAILURE OF SHAFER TO RETURN IS FELT

Absence Leaves Big Gap in Infield of New York Giants and Manager McGraw is Disappointed.

FRED SNOGRASS IS NOT FILLING POSITION WELL

Trouble With Shafer Is He Does Not Have to Work for Living and Has Been Over-Fampered.

BY HAL SHERIDAN.

New York, April 7.—Manager John J. McGraw is more disappointed than he will admit over the failure of Arthur Shafer to return to baseball and the New York Giants this season. His absence leaves a big gap in the infield. Although McGraw is grooming Fred Snodgrass for the position, baseball critics who have watched his work at third say it is a case of fitting a square peg into a round hole.

McGraw always has been one of Shafer's biggest boosters.

"If Shafer," said McGraw recently, "had not been so fortunate as to have a wealthy father he would have been one of the real stars of the game. He has been pampered so much at home that he is a mighty hard man to handle."

Lacks Interest in Game.

"Shafer does not have to work for a living and this fact was responsible for his lack of interest in the game last year and the other seasons that he has been with the Giants. And, knowing that he was independent of the game for a living, he never could be made to take the interest to develop the ambition to succeed as do other players who are not born with a gold spoon in their mouths."

Shafer was an ideal leadoff man. He was one of the best writers that ever saw and he also had the most accurate eye for pitched balls of any man on the team. He rarely ever struck at a poor ball and he had all sorts of speed. He could get down to first base just about as fast as any man in the National league.

Big Six to Have Good Year.

Christ Mathewson will have a banner season this year. His famous fade-away has had all the teams on the southern tour breaking their backs. The Big Train is in perfect condition, too, and his boosters expect him to lead the National league pitchers this season. Rube Marquard is also showing up well and expects to better his record of 1912, when he twirled his club something like 17 straight victories.

Many is certainly the superior animal; only he commits crimes.

Efforts to Rematch Clabby and Murphy Not Successful.

San Francisco, April 7.—Promoter J. W. Coffroth admitted today that nothing definite had developed from his efforts to rematch "Fighting Billy" Murray and Jimmy Clabby, who fought 20 rounds to a draw at Daly City last Friday night.

Clabby's manager has claimed the middleweight title for the Indian but so far has not called at Coffroth's office to talk terms. Clabby has told friends, however, that he is anxious to meet Murray again and it is practically certain that the two will be signed up for a match at Daly City some time next month.

FRANKIE BURNS AND MASON IN GOOD CONDITION

Oakland, Cal., April 7.—Both Geo. Mason and Frankie Burns, who are scheduled to clash in a ten round bout here tonight, were reported in the best of shape today. Mason recently fought Johnny O'Leary a fast ten round draw and the betting on tonight's fight is brisk, with the odds at even money.

Burns was below the required poundage of 133 pounds yesterday. He claims he was never better than at present and expects to win from Mason via the knockout route.

DUELS TO GERMANS LIKE AMERICAN BOXING GAME

Both Considered to Be Manly Sports and Correspondent Tells How They Act in Their Duels.

FLINCHING IS UNPARDONABLE OFFENCE DURING CONTESTS

How Wounded Man Battled for Long Time After Being Wounded Severely in Remarkable Fight.

BY KARL H. VON WIEGAND.

Berlin, April 7.—Germany is ruled by fighting men, by men of the university fighting corps, men who have felt cold steel under circumstances which taught them self-control and unflinchingly to give and take blows.

The duels of the university fighting corps are to German university men what your boxing art is to Americans. Both are manly with difference that traditionally we consider cold steel in the test of nerves and you prefer padded gloves. You cannot understand the aggressive spirit of modern Germany, unless you see from whence it comes. Come and see.

With this invitation the United Press correspondent had the honor of being present and the guest at a "Mensur" as the student duels are called. It is estimated that not less than 1,000 "student duels" have been fought in Berlin alone during the university year now nearing its close. Taking the German universities into consideration, several thousand duels are fought annually.

In a small auditorium in the back part of a building were assembled about 60 or 70 university students with bright-hued caps and broad ribbons of the colors of their respective corps across the chest. A young medic, student who spoke perfect English, also Chinese and French, was assigned to explain everything to the correspondent. About ten "duels" were scheduled.

How They Fight.

Two large powerful young men of probably 25 removed their clothing and donned white linen pants and plain white shirts with sleeves cut off near the shoulder. Around the neck of each was wrapped a bandage about three yards long. The sword arm of each man was encased in heavy wrappings left arm, bare, was held behind the back. The chest over the heart was protected by a leather pad. Heavy goggles protected the eyes. This left head and face excepting eyes exposed. The seconds were dressed likewise with the addition of fencing masks.

Standing four feet apart the men start. There is a clash of steel. The heavy downward blow too rapid to be followed. "Halt!" The seconds with their swords strike up the blades of the fighters. One of them has a nice little slash in the scalp. A medical student, in business-like hospital operating dress, wipes the cut with cotton while each of the seconds wipes off the blades of the fighters with antiseptic material. The swords clash again, but are almost immediately stopped by the seconds. The other man has had his upper lip split until the teeth show. This duel is at an end. There are no cheers or congratulations or condolences. Both men, blood dripping down on their white shirts and trousers, are taken to a "field hospital." The one has his lip sown up and the other his scalp.

A little sand is sprinkled over the blood and two other young men stand on the same spots. This time it lasts longer. Not daring to ever flinch or move their heads to avoid the downward blows lest they be charged with cowardice and expelled from the corps the two lithe figures back away at each other. One is unskillful in parrying and gets the broad side of his opponent's foil-like sword again and again until his cheek is a mass of bruises. Soon he also begins to get a few cuts in his scalp but has made his opponent feel cold steel, too. Blood drips down both figures until their clothes are crimson, but still the referee says "go on." Suddenly the second shouts. The swords rest. One of the men has had an artery cut in the left temple. That ends it.

This Is More Serious.

Three more duels of the same kind follow and then comes a "Beledigung-duel," that is, a duel with heavy

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS COME TO EUGENE ON MAY 9

Athletes Who Have Won at Home Will Get Chance to Do So in State School Meet.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, APRIL 7.—High schools over all Oregon are beginning to get their men ready for the third annual inter-scholastic track meet, which will be held this year on May 9, at the State University athletic field.

Graduate Manager Dean Walker, who handles the business affairs of the student body, says he expects contestants from 40 high schools. He thinks the competitors will number 150 to 200.

High school boys like the yearly spring meet at "Oregon." It gives them opportunity to try out against the picked men who are to hold up the state's intercollegiate record during the next seven or eight years. It also gives watchful athletic experts an idea of who have team material in them.

The University student body will pay the expenses of four representatives from the high school of each Willamette valley town. There is no limit to the representation that may be sent, but expenses for men over the four have to be paid by the school. The student body will also pay the expenses of first and second winners in county meets, from counties outside the Willamette valley. Silver cups are given the winning school, the winning relay team and the individual winning most points. Winners of first place, bronze medals; of second place, silver medals; of third place, bronze medals.

The visiting athletes will be given lessons in form, and directions for training by William Hayward, the widely-known athletic instructor of the State university, for whom every high school boy with a liking for athletics has a warm spot. Mr. Hayward will also give an illustrated lecture on the last Olympic games at Stockholm, Sweden.

Fraternity houses and private homes provide entertainment for most of the contestants and visitors. Coos county and Crook county have the newest high school athletic organizations.

ENDORSES PROHI ORDER.

Washington, April 7.—Colonel Gogas, a caller at the White House to pay his respects to President Wilson, this afternoon unqualifiedly endorsed Secretary Daniels' naval "prohibition order."

"I believe it would be a good thing," he said, "if all officers and men in both army and navy were totalitarians."

THE MEET WAS WON IN 1913 BY COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY, PORTLAND VISITORS AT THIS YEAR'S MEET, WHICH COMES DURING JUNIOR WEEK-END, WILL HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY TO SEE AN A. C. TRACK MEET, MAY 8, AND OTHER JUNIOR WEEK-END EVENTS.

MUSINGS OF A CYNIC.

Any man who can make money can make friends, but he can't always keep either. The fellow who makes light of every thing will never set the world on fire. Some fellows will propose to a girl on their knees, and some on their uppers. Don't curse your luck. It's the hand of fate that generally has a finger in the pie.
