All Around Town

W. O. W. carnival, June 10-11-12-13. Four big days.

Dr. Ernest Chase of Silverton was today appointed a member of the Oregon State Veterinary Board. In place of Jules F. Morel, of Portland, resigned.

Dr. E. F. Beamer, eye, ear, nose and throat. Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Stella Schultz, of Donald; Miss Anna Groshong and Mrs. H. Kirkland, of Gervais, attended the graduating exercises at the Salem High school. The visitors are relatives of Mrs. Joseph Martin, of South Salem, whose son, Arthur graduated this year.

Don't forget the dates—June 10-11-12-13. W. O. W. carnival.

The members of L. O. O. F. lodge No. 1 and of the Hebeah lodge No. 1 will hold memorial services Sunday, June 14, at 2 p. m. The public is invited.

Opal ranges guaranteed for 15 years, $27.00 up. Buren & Hamilton.

Timothy Ulrich, one of Polk county's leading farmers, was in Salem this morning looking after business matters. Mr. Ulrich states that wheat and oats in his district are doing better this year than they have ever done before and that Polk county will lead the Valley this season in grain production.

Be sure and visit Bristlebrush Springs this summer. Under new management. Baths all remodeled and up to date. Good restaurant and store. Tents for rent. For information, address J. K. Johnson, Detroit, Oregon.

Pay your Irrigation bills now, and get the 10 per cent discount.

J. V. Deen and G. Frad, the two young men who were arrested last Saturday night for begging on the streets, were shown out of the city last night after they had promised to leave Salem and not return. There is no work for the jail birds to do now but sing, and the city authorities do not feel justified in feeding the petty violators unless they can be put to some good use.

Notice! Irrigation bills are now due. 10 per cent discount allowed on said bills to and including June 10th.

Straw suit cases, regular $1.25 values for 98c. Buren & Hamilton.

The Willamette river is now three feet above low water mark, the recent rains having added one and one-half feet of water to the general level. This freshet will permit the running of the river boat Graymona to Independence much longer than was at first expected. The run to Corvallis was discontinued before the last raise, and though the boat could easily make the run now it is not likely that the run will be extended to the Benton county city.

Pay your Irrigation bills now, and get the 10 per cent discount.

Our straw suit cases are big values at 98c. Buren & Hamilton.

There will be a meeting tonight at the commercial club of the local fruit growers, who will be addressed by I. E. Samson, secretary of the Northern Pacific Fruit Distributors' association. Mr. Samson is known to be an interesting and able speaker and thoroughly familiar with his subject, and the fruitgrowers expect to gain some new ideas in the way of co-operation in marketing their products which will net them dollars in return.

Dr. Mendelsohn, specialist in fitting glasses correctly. U. S. Bank building.

Sandals for children. Newest styles, lowest prices. Jacob Vogt, 220 North Commercial.

The three young men who escaped from the penitentiary yesterday morning seem to have been swallowed up by the earth, the prison officials declaring today that the guards have not even been able to find the slightest trace of them. All three of the runaways are athletic fellows and are able to stand on end of hardships, declare the penitentiary guards, and that they will give their pursuers a long chase, is predicted.

Moosekin shoes only $1.75. Jacob Vogt's, 220 North Commercial.

Go to Dr. Stone's for trusses.

It is proposed by the local committee in charge of the Chautauque program to hold it on the lot formerly occupied by the Bulgis tabernacle at the corner of Cottage and Court streets, where the tent will be erected. It was first announced that the tent would be put up on the Willamette university baseball field, but the Bulgis lot was selected as being a more central location.

Try Scott's 15c meals.

New arrivals in the Martha Washington shoes. Jacob Vogt, 220 North Commercial.

A suit for divorce on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment was brought today in the circuit court by Jessie Adairienne Herriek against Byron Benjamin Herriek. The plaintiff also seeks the custody of one minor child aged 10 years.

Piano tuning, first-class work. Phone 1465, leave orders with G. C. Will or R. F. Peters, J. E. Hockett.

Comfort shoes mean comfort. Jacob Vogt's, 220 North Commercial.

Two marriage licenses were issued today by the county clerk. Arthur J. Eggenbart, a Salem grocer, and Mathilda Marie Gurnjobst, a Salem teacher, were given the right to marry, and Thomas Deans, a laborer of Brooks, and Margaret Brink, a bookkeeper of Chemawa, also signified their intention of venturing out upon the sea of matrimony.

Ten per cent discount allowed on irrigation bills the first 10 days of this month.

That Miss Eleanor Colony held a warm place in the hearts of Salem's people was attested this afternoon when the spacious First Methodist church was filled with sorrowing friends, gathered to pay their last tribute of love and affection. Her death coming as a bolt from a clear sky, was a shock to the entire community, and the crowded church and the profusion of flowers told how widely she was known and how universally admired and loved.

Dog ordinance meeting—Persons opposed to the new ordinance prohibiting dogs from running at large are requested to meet at the Commercial hall Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The case of Grace Howell, Katie Howell, Ubriq and Guy N. Howell against Fiducia F. Howell and Amy N. Howell was on in department No. 2 of the circuit court before Judge Gaffney today. This case is a suit to set aside a decree of partition dividing the property of John M. Howell, who died intestate in 1907. The partition suit was ended some time ago and the property divided, but the present suit is a continuance of the dissatisfaction among some of the heirs of John M. Howell as to the property received by them in the transaction.

The Browning Amusement company will furnish the attractions for the big W. O. W. carnival. Five big, free acts. June 10-11-12-13.

The marriage of Miss Dolly Rader, to William A. Quantler, Jr., was quietly solemnized at the residence of Rev. E. S. Knight, who performed the ceremony yesterday, June 8. They will make their home in Salem.

Falling to sidestep one of his own bowling alley balls, Cole McElroy, the proprietor of the Club bowling alley, sustained a cracked leg last Friday night. The pin-setters had left for a short time, and the proprietor perched himself behind the pins. Failing to see a big ball rolling down the alley, Mr. McElroy did not pull up one or his legs far enough, with the result the ball struck the member. McElroy swore a little and shook his leg a good deal, but was not aware that the leg was injured. The next day, he found out differently, however. He consulted a physician and was told that the bones in the leg were cracked.

Notice! Irrigation bills are now due. 10 per cent discount allowed on said bills to and including June 10th.

Coroner Clough this morning received a telephone message from Silverton to the effect that Honey Lui, a laborer in the Silver Falls Timber company camps, was killed last night by a falling tree. The coroner investigated the case and says Lui was working in a dangerous location and, when quitting time came, was warned by the foreman of the camp to leave the work for the day. Lui failed to heed the orders given and remained at work when a large tree fell and crushed him to death. There being no evidence of criminal negligence on the part of the company and every evidence that Lui was in the wrong, the coroner instructed the undertaker at Silverton to bury the man. Lui has no known relatives.

A dozen or more answers have been received at the governor's office to the letter published in The Capital Journal from a Portland woman asking aid in securing a husband for herself and another for a friend. One man writes from California that he wants a wife. He says she need not be handsome, but he wants one that will not run around of nights.

Beuford Branson, a member of the United States army, arrived from Houston, Texas, a few days ago and after a short visit with his sister, Miss Emily Branson, left for Yreka on the Silverton branch, where he will spend a vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Branson. He has lately returned from service under the American flag in Japan and the Philippines.

There are two suits being tried before Justice of the Peace Webster this afternoon, and both pertain to the same subject. They are entitled G. S. Hall against Olive Ball and the same plaintiff against Lizzie Armstrong. The plaintiff is seeking to set aside certain lands in Marion county which, it is alleged, are being held by the defendants unlawfully.

PLEADS GUILTY AS MEMBER OF COUNTERFEITING RING
Portland, Ore., June 9.—Pleading guilty to being one of the members of the Puget Sound counterfeiting ring captured by secret service men three months ago, Harry S. Stone was sentenced to two and one-half years in the McNeil Island penitentiary today by Federal Judge Bean. Stone was arrested in Spokane whither he had fled.

EX-VICE PRESIDENT STEVENSON REPORTED TO BE DYING
Chicago, June 9.—Former Vice-President Adlai Stevenson was sinking slowly today at the Presbyterian hospital here. Hospital attendants said his condition was "very, very bad."

GREAT ROSE FESTIVAL OPENS WITH OVATIONS

Fleet Carrying H. R. H. Queen Thelma Arrives From Mythical Land of Rosaria—Greeted by Thousands.

Portland, Ore., June 9.—Miss Thelma Hollingsworth was crowned queen of the rose festival at high noon today to the strains of martial music, the booming of great guns, the cheers and plaudits of her loyal subjects and the ceremony of state coronation with its prime ministers, grand dukes, heralds and outsiders, maids of honor, garter-men and prince regents.

From the moment the coronation fleet started up the river from the mythical land of Rosaria, it was one grand ovation.

Several hundred uniformed men of various military and semi-military organizations escorted the queen and her suit to the coronation stand.

STREET CAR AND COW MEET IN TERRIFIC COLLISION

Anyone who ever rode on the North 17th street car will not believe that that old bus last night ran head on into an old cow and broke the animal's neck. Such was the case, however, when Charley Wellman, the motorman, failing to notice busy on the track as the car was trying to speed north, left the juice on with the result car and cow collided with a awful jolt. Despite the fact that the 17th street car was manufactured a century or so ago and is just on the point of falling apart for want of screws, nuts, bolts, glue and many other things necessary to the holding together of a street car, the cow was hit off the track with such force that she died almost instantly.

With the exception of a few splinters being ruffed up on the aged wagon, the same was not damaged. Motorman Wellman was not injured in the least, much to his own surprise in view of the fact he was operating a veritable screen net on wheels at the time. The city ordinances are such that cows and other domestic animals must not mangle around at large, so bossy was at fault and came to her death through being too voracious and desiring right-of-way grass instead of the green sward along the side walks on 17th street. The fact that the cow's neck was broken is evidence that it was a head-on collision.

SECRETARY REDFIELD REFUSES STEAMER CLEARANCE PAPERS
Washington, June 9.—Secretary of Commerce Redfield today instructed the collector of the port of Guaymas to refuse clearances papers to the South-Pacific steamship El Suel, laden with 15,000 rounds of ammunition for Tampico.

LITTLE CHILD POINTS OUT "PAPA'S" SLAYER

Walks Among Spectators Scanning the Faces to Find Man Who Killed Father.

Seattle, Wash., June 9.—Judge Ronald's courtroom was held in breathless suspense today while little William Henry ("Heine") Werner, 8-year-old son of Mrs. Magadene Werner, went from one spectator to the other looking for the man who killed his "papa"—the man whom he saw running into the barn on the morning his father was killed.

For a long time little Heine walked about the courtroom seriously studying the faces of everyone there. Finally, after about five minutes, he came back and told the judge, "he's not here."

Then, turning suddenly, he caught the eye of Frank Picconi, who is being tried for the murder of Henry Werner, seated at the defendant's table. Little Heine stood there about a minute, watching him intently. Then turning away and walking towards the witness stand he said in a low voice: "I see him."

"What's that?" asked the judge. Then the boy turned around and repeated, "I see him; there he is," and he pointed his chubby finger at Picconi.

Just as little Heine proved the star witness for his mother in her trial for the murder of Werner, he is proving the state's star witness against Picconi.

A TREBUTE.

Though not intending to eulogize the dead, I wish to bear testimony to the character of the late L. M. Herren, who passed away a few days ago. Having lived for some 15 years about half a mile from his home, I came to know and to esteem him most highly. I believe him to have been one of nature's noblemen. Though not affiliated with any Christian church nor making a profession of religion, he did exhibit in his life many of the Christian virtues.

I always found him a kind and accommodating neighbor, willing to lend a helping hand. Many a time has the writer been the recipient of his aid and kindness and at a time when help was most needed. "Uncle Levi" will be missed in the community, yet his memory will be kindly cherished by those who knew him best. Though my old friend is dead, he still lives in the love and esteem of one who knew him well. N. J. BOWERS.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR PAROLE SENT TO PRES. WILSON

Washington, June 9.—Recommendations for pardon of the ironworkers convicted at Indianapolis of conspiracy to unlawfully transport dynamite, were sent to President Wilson today by Attorney General McReynolds. President Wilson is expected to pass on the applications soon.

It was learned from an authoritative source that McReynolds is opposed to clemency for President Ryan and other officials of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers but leaves open the question of pardoning the others. It was believed some of the convicted men would escape.

BANDITS STEAL AUTO, GAG MAN, BLOW SAFE

Redwood City, Cal., June 9.—Robbers early today stole an automobile from the country residence here of Oscar Gantner of Geater and Mattern, San Francisco, ran it to Belmont, overpowered, gagged and bound Night Watchman William Anker, broke into the Southern Pacific section house, took the tools they needed to enter W. A. Emmett's general store, where the postoffice is situated, forced the entrance, cracked the postoffice safe, helped themselves to $1,400 in stamps and $250 in cash and escaped in the automobile, which was found later broken down near Colma.

It was nearly 4 a. m. before Anker was found near the section house and released. His account was that there were four of the outlaws, seemingly young, roughly dressed, masked and well armed.

It was believed the quartet escaped to San Francisco, and the police there were asked to look out for them.

COLORADO RIVER THREATENS FLOODS IN CALIFORNIA

Needles, Cal., June 9.—The Colorado river is rising rapidly today and threatens to break through its banks both on the California and Arizona sides.

Several hundred Santa Fe railroad employes are protecting the company's property here and thus far the embankments have held. The crest of the flood, which was caused by mountain thaws, is not expected until late this week.

SAILOR JUMPS OVERBOARD AS SHIP CROSSES BAR

Aberdeen, Wash., June 9.—Louis Leas, the sailor on the steamer Saginaw who jumped overboard as the steamer was crossing the bar, is believed to have been the victim of a religious mania. In his effects were found many religious utterances, among them being: "I was once as white as snow," and "Your face is only a map of your soul." Leas was a member of the San Francisco Order of Moose and San Francisco Sailors Union.

MAY CALL FIGHT OFF. NEW YORK, June 9.—The proposed Willie Ritchie, Freddie Welsh 30-round bout in London on the night of July 4 may be called off tonight.

The possibility followed a stormy meeting here this afternoon attended by Ritchie, Harry Pollok, representing Welsh, and Bob Vernon, acting for the English syndicate. The meeting broke up without the articles being signed or any forfeits being posted. It was agreed, however, that another meeting should be held tonight.

Trouble arose when Ritchie declared that he was far from pleased with the plan of posting forfeits. The meeting ended in a general wrangle. "It looks," Pollok told Ritchie, "as if you were trying to run out of the match at the last minute."

CHILD HAS BROKEN LEG, CRIES IS SPANKED—MAN ARRESTED

Portland, Ore., June 9.—Charged with spanking his three-year-old daughter so vigorously when she cried in the night that one of her legs was broken, a warrant was issued today for the arrest of Alfred Lewis, a teamster.
