Prominent Seattle Man Takes Suicide Route

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 26.—One of Seattle's best known men for 35 years is dead here today. Judge Thomas H. Cann, police judge here for years, is dead today by his own hand. He committed suicide yesterday afternoon, by taking carbolic acid. His body was found last night, 200 feet from his home in West Seattle. He was 82 years old, and for a long time had been worrying over failing health and financial difficulties. On an envelope found in his coat pocket he had written: "Worse this morning, October 25. No chance for recovery." Two letters of farewell, one to his wife and one to a friend were found in his pockets. As was his custom Judge Cann went for a walk shortly after noon Monday. When evening came and he had not returned a search was instituted. His neighbors found his body by means of lanterns. Judge Cann sat on the police bench from 1894 until 1904, during the time when the city ran wide open.

There is a prohibition candidate for governor of Massachusetts, though it is a trait of the drys that they prefer their prohibition straight, unmixed with politics.

MILITARY TRAINING FAVORED BY BOARD

School Board Will Inaugurate It—Other Business Transacted Last Night

Military training in the public schools was favored by the Board of Directors of the public schools at their meeting held last evening and a motion was passed instructing the school superintendent to confer with the proper government authorities as to what arrangement the government would make regarding equipment and military instruction. Portland, as well as other cities on the coast has taken up the proposition of training for the boys in the upper grades, not so much from a military standpoint, as for the physical training and discipline. There is a feeling among the directors that every boy in the schools should have some regular physical training, and not just the few who are interested in foot ball. On account of the small amount involved in the law suit of the school board in which S. A. Hughes was awarded $825 and the offer previous to the suit of Mr. Hughes to compromise for $25, the board decided not to appeal the suit and the amount awarded by the jury was ordered paid. The furnaces will be connected with the chimneys this week. Architect George M. Post reported that the gross cost of the McKinley school building amounted to $22,763, and the final payments, with the exception of $750, was ordered to be paid to the contractors, Snook & Traver. The task of arranging for a full and complete census of the school children in district 24 was assigned to the finance committee, of which A. A. Lee is chairman. This is the annual census and the board is desirous of having it absolutely correct. Other business of the session included authority given to the building and grounds committee to construct bicycle sheds at the Lincoln and Grant Junior High schools, the purchasing of a Century dictionary and encyclopedia for the Senior High school, books for the school librarian to complete the supplementary reading sets, supplementary readers for the new McKinley school, relief maps for the Highland, McKinley and Richmond schools and laboratory supplies for the three junior high schools. A special meeting was called for November 3 to take up the discussion of the budget and salaries of janitors. In the absence of President Miles, A. A. Lee acted as chairman of the board. Present at the session were directors Buren, Barnes and Lee.

CONGRESSMAN HAWLEY TALKS RURAL CREDITS

Explains to 6 o'Clock Club What He Hopes For Along These Lines

At the first session of the Six o'Clock Club held last evening at the First Methodist church, Congressman W. C. Hawley delivered an address on "Rural Credits," in which he explained what he hoped would be accomplished at the coming session of Congress to afford relief to the American farmer. In telling of the work already accomplished, he referred to the laws passed regulating gambling on the cotton exchange. One of the first plans of the committee was to cut out all preventing fictitious values. Another plan was to eliminate the waste and expense of distribution. He hoped a bill would be passed creating a bureau of markets, with the object of bringing the producer, dealers and consumers closer together. The establishing of the agricultural department, wherein $10,000 was given to each state, and more if the state will give an amount equal to that given by the department, was mentioned as one of the useful pieces of legislation of the last session of congress. Later, the agricultural department hoped to put an agriculturist in every county in each state in the country, a man who with six years or more of practical farming and proper education, who would be able to help the farmers in the investigation of any disease, or any farming proposition.

Low Rates and Long Time. The big question before the farmers was that of being able to borrow money at a low rate of interest and on long time. This has been fully worked out in Germany and other foreign countries, said the speaker, and the bill to be presented the coming session, will be based on the foreign idea and experience. This practically gives the farmer a 30 or 40 year loan at a rate of interest as low as 4 per cent, with the privilege of gradually paying out. As these farm loans would be guaranteed by the government, Mr. Hawley was of the opinion that the trust and insurance companies of the country would be glad to invest in them at the four per cent interest, as they would be practically as safe as government bonds. "I am not in favor of the five acre tract. A dozen farmers can raise enough to almost just the market on any one farmer, and a county agriculturist to tell what can be raised. If this valley was filled with 40 acre farms, there would be four times the business there is now. And if it was as thickly settled as some parts of Germany, the Willamette valley would have 4,000,000 people and Salem would grow into a city of 100,000. The good roads problem will solve itself when there is a farmer on every 40 acre tract."

Will Entertain Them. San Francisco, Oct. 26.—Sight seeing, including trips to Vallejo for a banquet by the Vallejo labor council, a trip to the navy yard, the exposition, ocean beach and other points, will be provided for the 400 delegates to the American Federation of Labor convention opening here November 8. Addresses of welcome will be made by Governor Johnson, Mayor Rolph, Archbishop Hanna, President Murphy of the local labor council and President McCarthy of the building trades council. President Gompers of the federation will respond.

Kidney and Bladder Trouble Causes Great Distress. It gives me great pleasure to recommend Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root to any one suffering from bladder trouble. For four years I was troubled by hemorrhages from the bladder and was not able to get any doctor who could help me. I was in such shape that sleep at night was impossible on account of distressing symptoms. While bending over I would be stricken with such a pain that it was impossible for me to straighten up. Mr. Henry, one of our leading druggists, advised Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, although I never had any faith in patent medicines, as a last resort I purchased a dollar bottle of Swamp-Root. I noticed a decided change and after using two bottles I was completely cured. It seemed remarkable that I should be cured so quickly after being ill so long. But since this took place nearly two years ago, I have never been troubled and would highly advise any one suffering from the same trouble to at least give Swamp-Root a trial and I think the results will be the same as mine. Yours very truly, THOMAS A. BENNETT, Greenburg, Indiana.

Object To Uncle Sam Owning His Oil Lands. San Francisco, Oct. 26.—Plans for a campaign looking to the repeal of the act withdrawing oil lands in the state of California were well advanced today by the oil industry association. The organization hopes ultimately to have the active support of everybody having any connection with oil lands in the state. It will be the purpose of the association to seek means for protecting individuals and corporations which have invested in the improvement of oil lands in California, and which now face disaster as the result of the decision of the government to conserve the oil fields for its own use.

Ponce de Leon Failed; His Prize is Found. Ponce de Leon, the daring explorer, searched among the swamps of Florida for the Fountain of Youth, which the Indians said would restore power and make people young. He did not find it. Thousands of chronic intestinal, bowel and stomach sufferers have written to Geo. H. Mayr, 154 Whiting street, Chicago, in quest of health. They have found it. His remedy, composed of healing vegetable oils from France, has indeed given them back the health of youth. Why suffer from indigestion, gases on the stomach, fainting spells, torpid liver, constipation and all the evils of a disordered stomach when there is permanent relief here! Mayr's Wonderful Remedy is sold by leading druggists everywhere with the positive understanding that your money will be refunded without question or quibble if ONE bottle fails to give you absolute satisfaction.

Conditions on Canal Worse Than Told. San Francisco, Oct. 26.—"Conditions in the Panama canal as the result of the slides are much worse than the officials admit," said P. Hinner, third officer of the steamer Columbia which arrived from Panama today. "The officials told officers of the vessel that the temp would only last a few months when in reality they will be fortunate if traffic is resumed by another year." Hinner claimed that ship owners and captains protested angrily to the Panama canal officials.

There are now enough specialized days, set aside for this, that or the other purpose, to encourage one to overlook some of them.

Indians Tortured Americans in Mexico

San Francisco, Oct. 26.—They took off all their clothes and walked them for miles in the boiling sun. One by one they died—my brother went last. Thus did Mrs. Dr. J. Lambert tell today, upon arriving from Mexico, of the tortures inflicted by Mayo Indians upon Americans. She vowed they must pay for it, if it takes her whole life to get retribution. To this end, she is going to Washington to tell the state department.

Medical Authorities Say Hair Growth Can Be Stimulated

The highest European and American authorities on hair and scalp diseases seem to agree that, under proper treatment, it is possible to make new hair grow on partially bald heads, in a large percentage of cases. In a general way, this is the simple method. First, cleanse the scalp, getting rid of the dirt, dandruff, excess oily secretions, and the accompanying germs or bacteria. Second, apply a solution containing ingredients to stimulate the dormant or impaired papilla upon which each hair root grows. The healthy follicle sheds the hair and the hair root and then a new root grows on the papilla. Remember that the papilla is below the root and is the organ that takes the nourishment from the blood and supplies it to the hair through the hair root. The hair root (through the papilla) gets nourishment from the blood and converts it into a hair, just as the root of a plant takes nourishment from the soil and converts it into a stalk and leaves, and fruit. You may retard or entirely prevent the action of plant roots by permitting the accumulation on the surface of the soil or substances that simply smother the plants. In practically the same way the action of the papilla and hair root may be retarded or entirely stopped by the accumulation of dirt, dandruff and germs that work down into the hair follicle. The following formula is widely recommended to kill scalp germs, destroy dandruff, cleanse the scalp and hair, and to stimulate the growth of hair: 6 ounces bay rum, 2 ounces lavender decomposed, and 1-2 drachm menthol crystals. You can buy these ingredients from any druggist and mix them yourself, or the druggist will mix them for you. Apply to the scalp night and morning and rub in with the finger tips. The above formula makes a delightful hair dressing—makes it fluffy, soft and lustrous.

Grandma Heins is making an extended visit with her many Silverton friends, coming from her home at Canby, on Thursday of this week. Mr. and Mrs. Ole Kylo, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vitstram and Mrs. Fosmark, of Neely, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Quall and were in attendance at the dedication of the new church. Mr. and Mrs. Bene Kinser were in from Abiqua Tuesday, and spent the day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Webb. Mrs. B. Tinglestad and daughter, Marie, also M. C. Skjiver and Ole Thompson were in Portland last Monday to see Mr. Tinglestad, who is still confined at the Good Samaritan hospital. They report him as getting along fine and he hopes to soon be able to return home. Mrs. Walters and little daughter, Ercel, who have been visiting friends in Portland, returned home the first of the week. The H. E. Hodges family are nicely located at Veneta, Ore. The best wishes of their many friends here, follow them to their new home. E. B. Wray returned home last Friday from taking in the sights at the Frisco fair. He made the trip each way by boat and reports a very enjoyable time. Frank Hall (who hails from the Puget Sound country, was in the city this week, a guest of the Comstock families. Mr. Hall and the Comstock brothers were friends back in Michigan 40 years ago, and had not seen each other in all that time. At the regular meeting of the Women's Relief Corps, held in the G. A. R. hall last Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Nellie Fleck, district inspector for the state of Oregon, was here from Portland and gave a short talk to the members of the post and corps. The business session and program was followed by a lovely chicken dinner, with all the good things the ladies of the W. R. C. are adepts at preparing for these occasions. A very pleasant time is reported by all present. Mrs. Anna Vige, of Astoria, also Mrs. Nelson and granddaughter, Miss Lila Nelson, of Woodburn, were week-end guests at the home of Mrs. A. O. Leonard. Lincoln Hartman came from Wapinitia, Ore., Wednesday to visit the relatives in this vicinity. He is a nephew of Charles and H. C. Hartman, at Scotts Mills. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Webb and little Echo Hyett, spent the week-end at Mt. Angel, guests at the home of Dr. E. E. Webb. They returned home Monday. During the fair to be held in Silverton on November 10, 11, 12 and 13, the ladies of the Methodist church will serve one of their delicious chicken pie dinners two days, on Friday the 11th and Saturday the 12th. Don't forget the dates, but come and enjoy one of these famous chicken pie dinners. The little two-month-old babe of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Butler died very suddenly last Saturday. The mother had given it a bath and fed it in the morning, the little one seemingly as well as ever. Laying the child in its crib and going to another room for a change of clothes the mother was shocked to find on her return that the child was dead. The funeral services were held at the home on Monday, and the burial took place at the German cemetery near Pratum. Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Comstock left for San Francisco last Friday, where they will spend a few weeks enjoying the sights of the big fair. The funeral of Mrs. Mary Kirk, who died at the St. Vincent hospital at Portland last Tuesday was held at the Warren cemetery, on Wednesday, October 20, Rev. Irvine, of the Methodist church officiating. S. O. Roe was the victim of a very painful accident last Monday, when his team ran away, throwing him to the ground and breaking his left arm in two places, also bruising him up badly. Mrs. Roe, who was on the wagon at the time, escaped unharmed. The horses ran a short distance and came up against a fence and stopped. Mr. Roe is getting along nicely, but will be some time before he can use the arm again. Mr. and Mrs. John Wolfard drove over to Stayton Thursday, after Uncle Chris and Aunt Mary Eisenhart, who spent the day in this city, returning home that evening. This old couple have many warm friends in this vicinity, who will be glad to know they were able to again visit Silverton as Uncle Chris has been in such poor health for a long time. Miss Mabel Zimmerman, of Silverton, and Fred Wheeler, of Portland, were married at the parsonage of Rev. Hamilton in Portland, Ore., on Friday, October 15. Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Hunter, who have been spending the past two months with relatives and friends in the middle west, returned home Tuesday. The first meeting of the Mizpals for a long time was held at the pleasant home of Mrs. E. S. Comstock last Thursday afternoon. This jolly circle will be entertained by Mrs. Emma Cobb next Thursday, October 28.

MY PIPE AND I. Oft in the restful twilight, In smoke-wreath's curling whelm, We try to read old memories— Old friendships past and dim— My pipe and I.

Soft, in a hazy background, In tender, mellow glow, Come lines of loves and faces That dare we none should know But pipe and I.

Sweet, as in yore and willing, Those lips seem near our own— As once still yearning, smiling— Nay, even warmer grown To pipe and I.

Thrills more the deep temptation, Anticipation's hope— Through eyes half closed in dreaming To joy old-time we grope, The pipe and I.

Yes, with my pipe confuring, The past is ever mine; Its wealth not lost, but added, When in the dusk recline. My pipe and I. LOUIS FOGG.
