CZAR PUTS END TO DUMA'S INFLUENCE

Revival of Chancellorship Puts End to Democratic Hopes In Russia

By J. W. T. Mason.

(Written for the United Press.) New York, Nov. 1.—Democratic hopes in Russia have been dealt another serious blow by the czar's revival of the chancellorship and his appointment of Premier Goremykin to the position. This is an unusual office in Russia. It has been filled only 12 times in two centuries and has been in abeyance for the past generation. The czar's move now is due to his desire to increase the power and prestige of Goremykin and to emphasize his approval of the reactionary movement.

The fact that there was a lack of more serious obstructions than street rioting to the czar's anti-democratic activities has coincided with the fall of the Teutonic offensives in Russia. The czar himself has taken credit for the new military situation, in view of the fact that he has been in command of the Russian armies since he deposed the grand duke. The check, however, is not due to the Russians' positive virtues, but rather to the demands of the Serbian campaign undertaken by the central allies and to the fact that reasonable numbers of Teutonic objectives had been won on the eastern front when the czar took the leadership. Now, Goremykin will marshal the standstill forces to protect the czar from the duma. For the remainder of the war therefore, the duma's influence is killed.

Bridge Probably Will Remain Open

The bridge situation may be summed up as follows: Engineer Sudler, after making an examination Saturday, was of the opinion that with certain repairs, the bridge would carry loads of 4,000 pounds, and that with the strengthening of certain parts, the bridge could be opened. To disburse the repair work, a Mr. Eberhardt, of Portland, is in the city today.

A meeting was to have been held at the bridge this afternoon between Judge Teal, Judge Bushy and Engineer Sudler. Judge Teal was on hand for the conference, but Judge Bushy sent word that he was busy. At a late hour this afternoon Judge Teal, Engineer Sudler and Mr. Eberhardt were discussing the repair proposition. Judge Teal is emphatically opposed to the closing of the bridge.

Big Audiences Enjoy S. and C. Vaudeville

A big, jolly musical offering, "Young America," with six clever young performers in the act, was the headline feature of the bill of "Empress" vaudeville sent to the Grand yesterday from the Sullivan & Conditine circuit. The act was a special one in staging and costumes as well as in music, and the kiddies who participated in it made many friends in Salem. Another popular feature was a bit of country comedy entitled "At the Old Cross Roads," in which Harry and Etta Conley mixed songs, eccentric dancing and funny parody. Alice Berry & Co., a diminutive vocalist with a strong voice and a musical director who impersonated famous musical directors through the most generous applause of the program. Bean & Hamilton, sensational barrel jumpers, supplied the only acrobatic feature of the bill and "got by" nicely. Floyd Mack and Mabelle presented a comedy dancing, singing and talking skit entitled "Fifty-Fifty" which would have been well received even had there been nothing to it but Mack's dancing. Irving Gossler, billed as "Society's Favorite Entertainer," offered a piano and vocal turn fully as broad as it was long. All in all it was a well-arranged vaudeville bill, constituting, together with the Grand's excellent orchestra and a showing of motion pictures, a very satisfactory entertainment.

Fire Damages Store Room On Commercial

A fire which was discovered at 12:35 today damaged the contents of a store room in the rear of Ferguson's restaurant on South Commercial street and aroused considerable excitement for a short time. The clothes in a closet and some beds and furniture were damaged by the fire and smoke but the building was not seriously burned. The loss is partly covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown. The firemen extinguished the blaze with the chemical.

An alarm was turned in this morning at 9:40 when it was thought that the Bush-Breyman building was on fire. It appears, however, that the steam escaping near the top of the building from the heating plant condensed and floating low on the heavy morning air resembled smoke. Someone saw it and turned in an alarm.

WAR STOCKS GO DOWN AND RAILROADS UP

Remarkable Statement of Earnings by Some Roads Booms the Market

New York, Nov. 1.—The diversion of interest and activity from war shares to standard railroad stocks, which began when last week's break in industrials was at its worst, assumed an interesting shape on the exchange today. War stocks declined again, some of them heavily; but at the same moment, railroads were advancing actively trading. The market as a matter of fact was divided sharply into two sections which seemed to have nothing to do with one another and were subject to different influences. The movement of railroads was under the stimulus of some remarkable statements of earnings.

There has at no time since summer been a reasonable doubt that transportation of enormous war materials and unprecedented crops would in due course give railroads a heavy business.
