Carranza Is After Lower California

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 20.—That General Carranza is negotiating with Colonel Cantu, military governor of Lower California, for control of the peninsula is the word brought today from Ensenada by Captain Robert Israel of the schooner Nonosh.

According to Israel's information a telegram has been received by the Ensenada authorities from Carranza stating that, on acknowledgment of Carranza as chief, the money deposited by Cantu in Imperial county banks, said to be more than $100,000 and which is tied up by litigation, will be turned over to Lower California officials to pay the soldiers in the Mexican garrisons at Ensenada and other points.

Persons acquainted with affairs in Lower California, predict that this will be the signal for that state going over to the Carranza government.

The farmers' market on Liberty and Perry street was doing a lively business this morning, and all the booths were taken. Among those who occupied the booths were:

Boles for Harvard.

Mahan and King gained three yards each through the line and Mahan made it first down around the end. Mahan then plunged across for a touchdown. He again kicked goal. Harvard, 20; Yale, 0.

Shortly after the kickoff King executed the most sensational play of the game to this stage. With splendid interference, he skirted Yale's left end and swept toward the goal. Taylor made a last desperate effort to stop the Harvard runner, but King eluded him and continued his sprint. King placed the ball behind the Yale goal just as the Taylor, who had pursued him brought him down with a beautiful flying tackle. King had covered 58 yards. Mahan kicked the goal. Score: Harvard, 27; Yale, 0.

Roberts relieved Taylor at fullback for Yale.

After the next kickoff, Harvard launched another attack that threatened to result in another score. The Crimson made first down three times, King and Mahan consistently adding yards on short end runs.

Yale finally held and an exchange of punts followed, Mahan having the better of the exchange. The period ended with the ball in Yale's possession on Harvard's 47 yard line.

Score: Harvard, 27; Yale, 0.

Score Keeps Growing.

Third period: Wilson returned Mahan's kickoff of Yale's 30 yard line. Here Harvard held. Savage, who replaced VanOrstrand, punted to Harvard's 30 yard line. Mahan punted to Yale's 30. White replaced Scoville for Yale. White attempted a lateral pass to Savage, who was thrown for a loss of 10 yards.

Harris replaced Wallace at center for Harvard. Wallace was kicked in the head.

Savage punted to Harvard's 40 yard line and the Harvard backs started another march toward Yale's goal. Mahan and King aided by Howen advanced the ball to Yale's 28 yard line.

A forward pass, Mahan to Coolidge, put the ball on Yale's five yard line. Mahan plunged for a yard. King added three more. Mahan then bucked across. The Crimson captain kicked the goal. Score: Harvard, 34; Yale, 0.

Roberts completed a forward pass to Wilson, who ran 45 yards, and squirmed over Harvard's line for what seemed to be at first a touchdown. Yale was offside, however, and the effort went for nothing. The ball was called back and Yale was penalized five yards.

Yale tried another forward pass, which was intercepted by Weatherhead, who was downed on Harvard's 33 yard line. Score and third period: Harvard, 34; Yale, 0.

The Fourth was Hot.

Fourth period: McKinlock replaced Horween for Harvard. Neville replaced White for Yale. Mahan and Neville engaged in an exchange of punts with the advantage resting with Mahan. Yale was penalized 15 yards for roughing the Crimson captain after he had sent away the last boot of the exchange. Harvard toward the end of the period, exhibited open plays that she apparently had held in reserve in the earlier stages of the game. Forward and lateral passes were used with effect, and a double pass in which Mahan and McKinlock handled the ball, advanced the Crimson to Yale's seven yard line. Mahan plunged the remaining distance for a touchdown. Again he kicked the goal. Score: Harvard, 41; Yale, 0.

Harvard's backs renewed their march toward Yale's goal. The final whistle sounded after Mahan had carried the ball 20 yards on three successive plays, and with the ball in mid-field.

Harvard Beat Yale

Yale Fights Desperately.

Mahan added four yards around end. Boles added two through center. Mahan in a pretty buck then placed the ball on Yale's three yard line. Yale held for two downs but was then penalized and the ball rested on her own yard line. From this position Mahan slipped around right end for a touchdown. He then kicked goal. Score: Harvard, 13; Yale, 0.

The period ended a minute later with the ball in Harvard's possession in mid-field.

Second period: Harvard exhibited a varied attack that roused the ball toward the Yale line. King and Mahan divided the heavy work, interspersing line plays with short end runs.

Yale was fighting desperately but found it hard to hold the Crimson backs. With the Yale secondary defense pulled in by the line attack, Harvard shot over a successful 12 yard forward pass. This was followed by a short gain on a fake kick that brought the ball to Yale's 15 yard line.

Coolidge Replaced Soney for Harvard. Gates relieved C. Sheldon for Yale. Score: Harvard, 27; Yale, 0.

Bingham was injured and retired in favor of Scoville. Church replaced Higginbotham for Yale. Horween replaced
