Messages have been received from Rev. and Mrs. Henry Marsden of Olney, Maryland, announcing the birth of a daughter, born Tuesday, March the seventh. Mrs. Marsden was formerly Miss Maude Lyhead, of this city.

Mrs. Edgar Martin (Alta Altman) of Berkeley, California, arrived Tuesday and will be the guests of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. L. G. Altman.

It is becoming the proper thing for music to take the audience into their confidence at a concert, which results in the audience realizing a greater and keener appreciation of what the musician is trying to express. And that is what the Schumanns did last night at their concert at the armory, when they told the history of the numbers given and what the music represented to those who created it.

The theme chosen for this concert was "Bomantism," which received its inspiration from the early romantic literature and which was at its height about one hundred years ago. This music is marked by the strange, mysterious, fantastic, effusive elements, like the unfathomable caresses of a girl in love. It appeals to the heart, to the childlike in human nature, and that is why this concert was a success.

The patronesses, numbering over a hundred years ago—according to Lambert, leader of the quintet, the themes for opera was taken from the classical lore of Greece and the ancient world. But with the advent of Weber, an epoch in opera music was marked, for he chose to take his themes from the love-stories of the common people, from the folk-music.

He stated that all the great music of the world was based on folk-music, which is the reason that the heart-strings of the master operas still live and burn in the breasts of the common people. And this music, played with the excellent technique and keen appreciation for its subtle and bold effects by the talented artists, found a responsive chord in the hearts of Salem hearers.

The first number was from the German opera by Weber, "The Freeshooter," and deals with the mysterious and weird story of the seven bullets, six of which are so chimered they will unerringly find their mark but the seventh is possessed of the evil spirit and fails to hit. This weirdness was well expressed by the deep, slow chords of the instruments. It was joyful, too, with the lightness of trill-down, and the sparkle of a fountain; with the interference of the evil, the music is charged with apparent discord, unmelodious, but finally passes to a happy, satisfying climax. The ensemble work of the quintet—first and second violins, cello, organ, and piano—was a remarkably effective, and held the audience completely in the magic spell of the music's charm.

In Wagner's "Thannhauser" is struck a note the audience will recall of Wagner that he wrote for a long time without any appreciation but, when he once was discovered, he was at once a universal favorite. His music reveals a soul-struggle of the characters shown especially in "The Pilgrim's Chorus," and the calm spiritual depth and inspiration in "Evening Star."

The Wagnerian trio included the "March," not to be confused to the composer, was not to be neglected but to serve as a theme-setting for a justification.

Although Miss Helen Portune plays the violin with fire, dash, and expression, she also sings remarkably well—in fact, she sang so well the audience was loath to leave her go. She sings not only with her vocal chords but with her heart, her whole being. In the high registers, her tones are clear and sweet and under perfect control. It was like listening to the songs of the fairies in the rosy dawn when the earth sparkles with dew-jewels. For encore she sang "I Love You," and, though the audience wished more, was compelled to be satisfied. However, later she sang Carle Jacob Bond's "A Perfect Day."

For his solo numbers C. Lampert took two folk-songs of old Vienna, translated for the violin by Fritz Kreisler. They were the "Liedes Freund" and a "Vienna Caprice," each of which shows the Hungarian temperament at a different angle. He plays with a mastery of technique and a keen insight into the meaning of the composition. Both numbers were well-received and thoroughly enjoyed.

The program closed with several stirring movements from Gounod's "Faust."

GET RID OF HUMORS

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the Medicine to Take—Makes Pure Blood.

Dry, moist, scaly letter, pimples, boils, and other eruptions come from humors, which may be either inherited, or acquired through defective digestion and assimilation.

To treat these eruptions with drying medicines is dangerous. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old reliable medicine, helps the system to discharge the humors, and improves the digestion and assimilation.

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla from your druggist. It may be confidently relied upon to do its work. It purifies the blood, tones the stomach, and builds up the whole system. It goes to the roots of diseases, and its beneficial results are permanent. It sets things to rights in the system. Remember to ask for Hood's Sarsaparilla because nothing else acts like it and nothing else can take its place.

Enforcement of Traffic Laws Up To Police

Secretary Olcott today received a postal card signed "One Among Others Who Cannot Do This in Portland" stating that "in La Grande a taxi and a private car are wearing 1915 yellow license tags. In Condon one or more cars are decorated in yellow. What legal political pull grants or condones this privilege?"

Mr. Olcott stated again today as he has many times declared publicly before that the enforcement of the provisions of the motor vehicle law is vested in the local police officers, any violations of the law should therefore be directed to their attention. The duties of the secretary of state's office under the law are only to register motor vehicles and chauffeurs and furnish proper license plates and badges and it is not vested with police powers.

Registration appears to be made more promptly this year than during previous years. At least the number of applications for 1916 licenses received to date would so indicate. Up to March 7, 1916, applications for registration of 29,700 automobiles, 1,675 motorcycles, 1,925 chauffeurs and 181 dealers have been received, while up to March 7, 1916, applications had been received for the registration of 13,200 automobiles, 1,660 motorcycles, 1,700 chauffeurs and 168 dealers.

Lane Objects to Giving Water Powers Away

Washington, Mar. 8.—Senator Lane, of Oregon, told the senate today that the Shields water power bill proposes to give the nation's last great resource practically free to a few privileged citizens.

"We have given away our coal, our timber has passed into the hands of a few, our petroleum is all but gone— the price of all these commodities are constantly rising," he said.

"Now, we are asked for the sake of development to give away our water power resources for almost nothing. The people will pay 10 times over for any advantage they get out of this development."

Lane's amendment to the bill was defeated.

Over the objection of Senator Chamberlain, the public lands committee approved amendments to the Myers bill which conservationists charge paralyzed the sections designed to protect the public.

Has Rude Awakening from Love's Young Dream

New York, Mar. 8.—Joseph L. Moody, of San Francisco, Harvard student, packed his grips today for his return to Harvard university following the shattering of his romance with Marian Parks, beautiful singer of the "Blue Paradise" company.

Chief Marriage License Clerk Scully, who refused the youth's request for a license said: "I thought Moody needed a cold towel more than a marriage license."

Neither Moody nor the actress wept over the sudden end of their love story. Miss Parks returned to her company. Scully refused the license at the request of Fred S. Moody, of San Francisco, young Moody's father.

Cost of Making Navy Equal to England's

Washington, Mar. 8.—An expenditure of $750,000,000 will be necessary before the American navy equal that of Great Britain, Admiral Fletcher told the house naval committee today.

He declared the navy's present strength would have to be tripled.

Commercial rivalry and not preparedness for conflict caused the present war he declared. Admiral Fletcher declared the submarine as a defensive weapon is ineffective, as a diver flotilla could be easily driven into port by battleships and destroyers.

The newest modern battleship, he asserted, was the most desirable form of a sea fighter.

Conference of Governors May Be Postponed

Governor Withycombe today wrote to all members of the Western Governors' conference asking whether they preferred holding their annual meeting in Butte in April, as planned, or holding it in June during the National Governors' conference at Salt Lake City.

Governor Withycombe is secretary of the Western conference. The letters were issued at the suggestion of Governor Lister, president of the conference.

Difficulty of getting full attendance at Butte in April is the reason suggested by Withycombe for postponing the meeting.

IS ENVER PASHA DEAD?

Athens, Mar. 8.—Persistent rumors that Enver Pasha, Turkish leader, was dead, failed of confirmation here today. There was no verification of the report that an assassin had wounded him.

MILLIONAIRES KEEP AN ARMY OF GUARDS

Live In Continual Fear of Assassination—Two Women Guard Frick

New York, March 8.—Threats from would-be assassins and bomb plotters have so terrorized millionaires that they are spending thousands daily to protect their lives, families and property, it was learned today.

The financial districts are honey-combed with high priced "shadows" who always dog the footsteps of Daniel G. Reid, Judge E. H. Gary, Vincent Astor, Henry Claws, Charles M. Schwab, George C. Frick and others.

Two trim women, apparently chatting social small talk, hustled along, watching everyone. Inside their carelessly dangled fur muffs are automatic pistols. They are Frick's guards and are never 20 feet away from him. Men shadow him too.

Since J. P. Morgan was shot, he has built up an intricate system of defense. Encompassing his own offices and those in adjoining buildings are roofs of bomb proof steel nets. Tests have proved that high explosives can do no more than dent them.

The stock exchange is similarly netted. Morgan employs over a score of "shadows."

A veritable army of men always shadow E. S. Dupont, head of the big munitions works. The British consulate and all big hotels are closely guarded.

Bad Check Man Paid One Bill But Forgot To Mention Others

A young man passed a bad check to Miss Ora Pogue for $11 and after she found out the true state of affairs she gave chase in an auto and compelled the man to return $10 in cash to her. It appears, however, that the young man passed another bad check in Salem for $11 but he forgot to mention the matter when he settled up with Miss Pogue and then he left the city before anyone else got on his trail.

The young man entered the hair dressing parlors of Miss Pogue late yesterday and purchased some articles and tendered a check signed with the name of Dr. W. A. Cox, the dentist. Miss Pogue called Dr. Cox and found that the check was a forgery and then she hunted the man up and forced him to pay her back $10 and he promised to call this morning and give her the other dollar. Today another bad check for $11 appeared, but no trace of the young man can be found.

Isabelle Clayburg Fights Extradition

Los Angeles, Cal., March 8.—Awaiting hearing of her petition for a writ of habeas corpus, Mrs. Isabelle Clayburg, alleged "badger game" operative, is still held today in the county jail here. Her hearing will come up late this afternoon.

Deputy Sheriff M. E. Halley of Seattle is waiting to take the prisoner north if Superior Judge Willis rules in his favor.

Defense Attorney Earl Rogers stated today that if the habeas corpus plea was denied, he would immediately file an application for a writ in the district court of appeals.

The defense has wired Seattle for a copy of the Washington criminal code sections adding that their travel on armed ships endangers the peace of the country.

"You have congress over a barrel," wired one supporter. "Now apply the board."

The bill was originally for $250.05 and it is stated in the complaint that but $55 has been paid. Leo Travis, of Eugene, is attorney for the plaintiff.

Tacoma Man Riddled with Bullets by Pals

Tacoma, Wash., Mar. 8.—Descriptions of five men suspected of being members of the gang that shot to death Vernon Lindsay in a rooming house here were sent out by the police today and it is believed they will soon be arrested.

Patrolman Nix engaged in a fight with the gang in a Tacoma avenue hotel Monday night, a short time after Lindsay was riddled with bullets a few blocks away. Nix tried to arrest one of the men for firing his revolver on the street, not knowing at the time of the murder. While Nix was telephoning police headquarters for help, the five men made their escape. The police theory is that they are reggers and that Lindsay was shot to death in a quarrel over the division of loot or fear that he intended to expose their operations.

The Supremacy of Peruna as a Household Remedy

44 Years of Leadership

Returned to His Work.
Mr. Julian Geisler, Irwinville, La., suffered with catarrh of the stomach. He did not know what his trouble was. He was unable to work. Could hardly eat anything. After taking Peruna a short time he is now in perfect health. He says: "I am now doing all my work. I am confident that any one suffering as I was could be cured by Peruna."

Every Change of Weather.
Mr. E. Arnold, Westerville, O., contracted a severe cold. The cold settled in his side and produced a condition that was thought to be pleurisy. Every change of weather would bring a return of his trouble. After taking Peruna all his ailments have vanished.

Pain in the Stomach.
Mr. Henry Kook, Box 839, No. 1118 E. Vista Ave., Jenaville, Wis., writes: "I wrote you about four weeks ago that I had a pain in my stomach. I followed your advice, and used three bottles of your Peruna, and I am all right now. I am very thankful for your advice and your medicine."

Once a Chronic Invalid.
Mrs. R. W. Copelan, Box 22, Greenboro, Ga., suffered several years with catarrh of the stomach. She was in such poor health she could not attend to her household duties at all. Peruna was recommended by neighbors. She was induced to begin the use of Peruna. She says: "After taking five bottles of Peruna I am happy to say that I am entirely cured. My indigestion is entirely gone."

Expresses Her Gratitude.
Mrs. Samuel Ruth, 205 Union Ave., East Cedar Falls, Iowa, was once a chronic invalid. Four different doctors had been consulted without avail. She had taken five different medicines that had been recommended, without improvement. Peruna was tried and the good result was prompt and lasting.

Three substantial men, heads of families, made efficient once more by Peruna. Three housewives restored to their families. These are only samples of what Peruna is doing every day, everywhere. Surely, this is a splendid work. Anything that conserves family life and makes the home more desirable and comfortable, nourishes the heart root of civilization. Peruna is a great civilizer.

WILSON HEARS FROM "BACK IN THE COUNTRY"

Scores of Letters From Everyday People Pour In On the President

Washington, Mar. 8.—President Wilson today was communing with the people "back in the country" following his statement at the Gridiron club dinner a week ago that he would rather hear from the home firesides than congressional cloakrooms there has been a tremendous response. Letters have come in hundreds from every section of the country from men engaged in every business and from women and children.

The president has been devoting himself to these messages. In the pile was one written with a wavering stroke of an old man. It said: "I am 81 years old and a veteran of the Civil war, but I am not too old to take on the stand as you have taken."

It was from the south. There was also a long letter from a mother in Massachusetts. "My two boys are grown to manhood," it said. "I love them as only a mother can. But I am not afraid. I am proud of the letter you wrote to Senator Stone and happy that I have two boys strong enough to fight for their country."

Many telegrams of support from party organizations and scores urging him to warn Americans that their travel on armed ships endangers the peace of the country.

"You have congress over a barrel," wired one supporter. "Now apply the board."
