ARCHER HOME MAY BE BAD AS GUNNESS FARM

Body Exhumed Preserved by Arsenic—48 Others to Be Dug Up

Hartford, Conn., May 11.—The bodies of forty eight inmates of the Archer Home for Elderly People, who died during the past five years, will probably be exhumed by the authorities, it was learned today. The home was run by Mrs. Amy Archer Gilman, who is under arrest on suspicion of murder. The police would not be surprised if they uncovered a "murder castle" with more victims than the Guinness farm.

Since the disclosures of the last few days several inmates have been removed from the establishment. The authorities believe that the alleged motive for the charges killing was gain. They claim that the defendant sacrificed to care for an inmate for life for $1,000. The quicker the old person died, the better the profit.

The body of Franklin Andrews, one of those already dug up, was discovered to contain so much arsenic that it was perfectly preserved. The drug store records where the poison was purchased said that it had been bought for the purpose of killing vermin.

HOLDING CONGRESS TO STRICT ACCOUNT

Chairman Alice Paul Says 40,000 Women Will Attend Convention

Seattle, Wash., May 11.—Declaring that the thinking women of the United States are holding congress strictly accountable for the immediate passage of the women's suffrage amendment, Miss Margaret Fay Whitmore, who has been here several weeks organizing the women of Washington, left Seattle last night for Chicago.

National Chairman Alice Paul, of the Congressional Union, recalled Miss Whitmore to the east by wire, stating that she was needed there to help in the work of curing for thousands of women who will attend the national convention in Chicago June 5, 6 and 7. "We expect 40,000 women from all parts of the United States," said Miss Whitmore, "as a voting women's committee. We want to demonstrate the fact that we will vote 'votes for women'."

A National Woman's party will be organized at the convention, Miss Whitmore said. It will not be an office seeking organization, and will have but one plank—"votes for women."

"The judiciary committee of the house of representatives is trying to smother our amendment," Miss Whitmore charged. "We hold congress strictly responsible for the passage of the amendment at this session, and unless it is passed we women shall be forced to sever diplomatic relations."

Roanoke Goes Down 47 Believed Drowned

containing all the survivors of the disaster, one of the worst in Pacific coast history. Those in Erbe's boat began rowing toward where they believed land to be. When night came the other boats disappeared.

Died from Exposure

During the night the cold became intense and with dawn the men in Erbe's craft began to die. One after another they dropped their oars and sank from the thwarts. There was no fresh water and those who still lived had no strength to eat the hardtack that had been hurriedly tossed into the life-boats as the Roanoke went down. Eventually Erbe also lost consciousness and was near death when the wind and tide guided him into Port San Luis.

The Roanoke was owned by the North Pacific Steamship company and had been in the passenger trade on this coast for many years. She sailed on her fatal voyage from San Francisco at midnight Monday, bound for Valparaiso. Her cargo, worth $250,000, consisted of 600 tons of dynamite, 1300 tons of wheat and several hundred drums of gasoline and oil.

The Roanoke was built in Chester, Pa., in 1882. It was of 2354 tons, 267 feet long and 40.5 feet beam.

She had a narrow escape from disaster in 1912 when, with a heavy passenger list, she crashed into a windjammer off the black buoy of San Francisco while en route to San Diego.

On her final voyage the Roanoke was under charter to the California and South Seas Navigation company. The captain's wife was the only woman aboard. The personnel consisted of the officers and crew.

Chinese Ask Something They Will Not Receive

Washington, May 11.—It was learned today that Minister Koo told Secretary Lansing yesterday that the Chinese throughout America seriously protested against the additional restriction on Chinese immigration proposed in the new immigration bill. He requested elimination of the proposed restrictions and demanded recognition of the Chinese as the equals of Americans. He also wanted elimination of the specific exclusion acts naming Chinese.

The Chinese contentions are understood to have been presented to the senate committee on immigration. In support of their claims, the Chinese cite that they are citizens of a republic and should be recognized as the equals of any other people.

They don't insist on this in order to secure recognition. They are willing to be excluded if the same exclusion is applied to all other people, claiming that no distinctions should be made against them.

Their secondary contention is if they should not be specifically mentioned in exclusion acts any more than people of other nationalities should be.

R. H. Martin, 52, steward.

George Krogge, 48, second cook.
Charles Dauchort, 40, third cook.

H. Castillo, 36, messman.
Carlos Robins, 24, waiter.
Julio Cervantes, 24, waiter.
F. Larrelastes, 48, baker.

The Roanoke operated on the Portland-San Diego run in the fleet of the North Pacific Steamship company from 1904 until withdrawn about two months ago, on being chartered by the California-South Seas Navigation company to pl between San Francisco and Mexican and Central American points as far as Balboa. Her last voyage from the Golden Gate was May 8, and it was her second trip in that trade.

Captain Charles Dickson was in command of the Roanoke on the Portland-California route and remained in charge when she was assigned to the southern route. She was built in 1882 at Chester, Pa., and saw service in the Atlantic and from different ports in the Pacific until going under the North Pacific banner and starting the schedule from Portland about 12 years ago, and with the Geo. W. Elder as a running mate, maintained the line to San Pedro, and nearly six years ago it was extended to San Pedro.

The Roanoke was of 2345 tons gross and 1354 tons net register, being 267 feet long with a beam of 40.5 feet and depth of hold of 14.4 feet.

ORGANIZED SYSTEM OF MEXICAN RAIDS

Authorities Believe Mexicans On American Side Implicated In Raids

Marathon, Texas, May 11.—The American authorities are convinced today that an organized system of Mexican raids against the United States soil is being put into execution. Fifty Mexicans swooped down upon the town of Blocker, near Eagle Pass, looted store on two ranches and escaped with a number of horses, according to advices received here today. No fatalities were reported.

Civilians along the border organized when they learned that two armed Mexican bands had appeared between Boquillas and Ojinaga. A number of small border settlements are preparing to fight. The authorities believe that the bands are participating in alternative raids, maintaining a central headquarters within a short ride of the line.

Every Mexican on the American side is under suspicion, and even those who have heretofore been friendly are now distrusted. It is believed that the raiders obtain this information from their countrymen on the American side and divide the loot with them.

Major Langhorne's Eighth cavalry squadron encamped in Mexico last night, having crossed the international boundary near Boquillas yesterday. They hiked from Marathon to the border, a distance of 93 miles. The troopers expected to immediately push on to Ataquilla, where the raiders are said to have their rendezvous.

Lieutenant Colonel Alvarez, one of the captured Glenn Springs raiders was sentenced today and promised to lead the American expedition to the rescue of Jess Deemer and Monroe Payne, American prisoners.

Alvarez said that his band had planned to meet another at Ataquilla. Major Langhorne received other information that the fugitive raiders were two days ahead and traveled slowly.

Alvarez claimed, when questioned, that he was a Carranzista. Vice Consul Vasquez, who was present at the interrogation, denounced the prisoner and charged that he was trying to embarrass the de facto government representatives in the El Paso conference.

"I am sure the raiders were not Carranzistas," asserted Vasquez. "They were Revistas from the La Guna district. There is no confirmation of the claim that the Carranza garrison at Boquillas which deserted days before the raid was with the invaders.

Langhorne expects to rescue the captured Americans. There was an unconfirmed report today that Payne, the negro prisoner, had been released.

Colonel Sibley, Fourteenth cavalry, is due to cross the border today. L. Coy and Frank Rowan, reported among the Americans captured by Mexican raiders, have arrived at Marathon.
