ALINE THOMPSON

Miss Alta Lucinda Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Jones, whose engagement was announced Tuesday to Calvert Coleman Clinton of San Francisco

Robert and Ernest Hofer, the handsome little sons of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Hofer, who left today with their parents for California.

EVERYTHING in the polite world goes you know by seasons and now is approaching the most important season of all, that of weddings. This year has been unusually prolific in engagement announcements many of the long entertained suspicions of the winter's gallantries becoming verified as one after another of the fated maids announced the name of the man of her choice. With June arriving so soon all these happy brides-elect and their inevitable list of attendant gayeries will occupy the limelight and absorb social attention for several weeks.

This week has been brimful and bubbling over with gayeries. Among the smart affairs were Mrs. William Brown and Mrs. William Eldridge's luncheon on Wednesday, Mrs. Frank Spencer's bridge Thursday and the dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Joan Roberts were hosts last night in honor of the Mack Hofers.

The latter part of the week was brimful of farewell attentions honoring the Mack Hofers. One of the most delightful affairs was the dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Brown were hosts Wednesday evening. The table was most artistic with exquisite yellow roses, lavender iris and yellow tulips.

Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Mack Hofer, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Plimpton and the hosts.

Singularly charming was the small informal dinner with which Mr. and Mrs. William Burghardt, Jr. honored Mr. and Mrs. Hofer on Thursday evening. Besides the honor guests the table was circled by Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Thielsen and the hosts.

Another charming and exceptionally attractive affair honoring Mr. and Mrs. Mack Hofer was the dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roberts were hosts last night. The table was lovely with an artistic arrangement of snap dragons in tones of pink and yellow.

Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Hofer, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Thielsen, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. William Burghardt, Jr. and the hosts.

An announcement that caused a ripple of pleasurable surprise during the week was the engagement of Miss Alta Lucinda Jones to Calvert Coleman Clinton of San Francisco, California.

The news was first made known Tuesday at a formal luncheon for which Mrs. C. K. Page and Miss Mabelle Page were hostesses at their residence on Cottage street. Only the intimate friends and relatives were asked to share in the excitement of the announcement. The rooms of the Page residence were aglow with yellow gayeries and butterflies. There were five tables arranged for the guests, all done in a pretty pink and blue color scheme with a center of lovely sweet peas.

Dainty hand painted place cards marked covers for: Mrs. B. B. Plimpton, Mrs. Donald Miles, Mrs. Lloyd Mott, Mrs. Gordon McWhirter, Mrs. W. A. Jones, Mrs. Louis Louchmond, Mrs. Ralph Glover, Mrs. Ralph Jackson (Maude Durbin), Mrs. J. N. McCune of Portland, Miss Hazel Downing, Miss Cora Talbott, Miss Minnetta Magers, Miss Zoe Ohmsted, Miss Laura Grant, Miss Marguerite Miles, Miss Evelyn Nutting, of Silverton and Miss Beryl Brackett, of Portland.

The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Harry Wiedmer and Miss Priscilla Fleming.

After luncheon Mrs. Donald Miles favored the guests with several charming readings and Mrs. McWhirter a vocal solo, accompanied by Miss Laura Grant. The afternoon was devoted to sewing for the bride-elect.

Miss Jones is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Jones, an old and well known Salem family. She received her earlier education in Salem, later attending St. Mary's academy in Portland, and Miss Head's school in Berkeley, Calif.

Mr. Clinton who is a resident of San Francisco, formerly lived in Portland, and is a representative of the intertype corporation of New York City.

The wedding will be an event of the early fall.

Mrs. Frank Spencer's bridge Thursday afternoon was charming in every detail. Guests played at six tables of the game and the card honors fell to Miss Grace Bean and Miss Elizabeth Lord. At the tea hour the party was augmented by about a half a dozen more matrons and maids. An array of beautiful and fragrant roses, which were sent to Mrs. Spencer from Roseburg by her sister, Miss Florence Aikon were used in the card rooms, and also to mark places at the bridge tables.

Miss Veda Cross and Miss Ellen Thielsen presided over the coffee urn and Mrs. Guy Sargent and Miss Grace Bean assisted.

Mrs. Spencer's guests included: Mrs. Henry Meyers, Mrs. Guy Sargent, Mrs. Hollis E. Park, Mrs. Chauncey Bishop, Mrs. Melvin Plimpton, Mrs. George W. Gray, Mrs. Curtis Cross, Mrs. Harry Clay, Mrs. U. G. Shipley, Mrs. Frank Spears, Mrs. Clifford Brown, Mrs. Ralph Jackson (Maude Durbin), Mrs. Elmer Louden, Mrs. Clyde Graham, Miss Ellen Thielsen, Miss Rita Steiner, Miss Margery Marvia, Miss Jennie Pry, the Misses Ester and Catherine Carson, Miss Veda Cross, Miss Marie Hofer, Miss Elizabeth Lord, Miss Grace Bean, Miss Florence Cleveland, Miss Ivy Ford, Miss Mae Steunloff and Miss Aline Thompson.

Mrs. John J. Roberts will go to Portland Tuesday, where she will be guest of honor at a bridge for which Mrs. Robert Berger will be hostess, at her attractive residence in Melrose Drive.

Children's parties have divided the attention of society matrons this past week, and hardly a day passes by that someone is not gathering together all the wee-ones, from two years up to give them a glorious time.

One of the happiest of these parties was that given this afternoon by Mrs. George Palmer Putnam for her little son, David Binney Putnam, who had attained the age of three. It was a merry affair and the table had decorations of spring flowers and tiny cakes.

The little guests were Mildred Roberts, Marjorie Marcus, Asahel Bush, Jr., Charles Kay Bishop, "Tommy" Javelley and Chandler and Werner Brown.

With sincere regrets good-byes will soon be said to Miss Ellen Thielsen, who expects to leave the first of June for Boston, Mass., where she will take a course in orthopedic nursing at the Children's hospital.

En route Miss Thielsen will visit relatives and friends in Philadelphia, Providence, R. I., and New York. She will be accompanied East by Mrs. George Post, who is leaving the first of the month for a sojourn in New York and for a visit with her family in New London, Conn.

Miss Thielsen is very popular in Salem society and will be greatly missed by the younger set.

Mrs. Connell Dyer, who has been enjoying a round of gayeries in Eugene for the past week returned Friday, and Dyer motored to Eugene Thursday for Mrs. Dyer and they were accompanied by Miss Ruth Kreber of Chicago, who is attending the University of Oregon. Miss Kreber left the same evening for Portland.

A wedding that will be of marked interest to society maids of Salem is that of Miss Mildred Bagley and David Graham, which will take place in Eugene on June the fourteenth, at the Congregational church.

Miss Bagley formerly lived here and is a great favorite in Salem society. Miss Margaret Gray of Seattle who also has many friends in Salem will be bridesmaid.

Owing to the recent death of Miss Bagley's grandmother, the wedding will be a very small and simple affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Thielsen entertained Tuesday evening, with a charming dinner. A crystal bowl of exquisite roses and gypsophila adorned the artistically-appointed table. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Milton Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. George G. Brown, Dr. and Mrs. Carlton Smith, Miss Ellen Thielsen and the hosts.

One of the smartest affairs of the week was the beautifully-appointed luncheon given by Mrs. William Brown and Dyer, who were at the home of the former on Wednesday. There were table decorations of lovely yellow roses artistically combined with purple iris, and small crystal bowls of purple violas with airy butterfly bows of yellow and purple tulle.

An array of pink and white snap dragons, and fragrant carnations were used in the drawing room.

The guests included Mrs. Isaac Lee Patterson, Mrs. A. N. Bush, Mrs. Henry B. Thielsen, Mrs. Charles Weller, Mrs. John Albert, Mrs. C. A. Parks, Mrs. A. N. Gilbert, Mrs. Robert Hendrickson, Mrs. Clarence Hamilton, Mrs. B. S. Wallace.

Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Smith are planning to leave soon for a delightful visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Francis Powers (Mabel Smith) in Detroit, Mich. En route the Smiths expect to stop in Fairbank, Minn., and Chicago.

One of the prettiest of the week's luncheons was that given Thursday by Mrs. Homer Goulat, bidding adieu to Mrs. E. Treat Clark, who with her small son, E. Treat, Jr., returned to Seattle Friday.

The table which was centered with crimson roses and heliotrope had covers for Mrs. E. Treat Clark and her son, Mrs. Thomas Livesley, Mrs. John Morrison and the hostess.

Informal yet charming was the bridge given Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Edgar Hartley. About twelve prominent matrons of the bridge club were asked to make up three tables of the game.

Mrs. George Waters was awarded the card favor. Mrs. William Eldridge and Mrs. William Brown were guests of the afternoon. The rooms of Mrs. Hartley's residence were aglow with fragrant roses, effectively arranged in baskets.

Mrs. E. Cooke Patton and Miss Hazel Downing assisted in the serving.

Society will miss for the next few months Mr. and Mrs. Mack Hofer, who with their little sons, Robert and Ernest Hofer, and Laurence Hofer, left today in their car for California. Although as yet their plans are indefinite the Hofers expect to spend the summer near San Francisco, much to the delight of Mrs. Hofer's sister, Mrs. Hollister Maguire (Tess Dent) who lives in Alameda.

While south the Hofers will devote much of their time to motoring.

Mrs. Harry Clay, who is noted for her delightful entertaining will preside at a star dinner tonight in honor of Dr. Clay on the occasion of his birthday anniversary.

About twenty of the host's friends have been asked for the affair including Thomas Livesley, Asahel Bush, Frederic Thielsen, Clifford Brown, George Palmer Putnam, John J. Roberts, Thomas C. Smith, Jr., Guy Sargent, Chauncey Bishop, Curtis Cross, Charles McNary, Delue Field, Connel Dyer, Clyde Graham, Laurence Hofer, Frank Hughes, Melvin Plimpton, Roy Byrd, John Carson and Frank Spears.

Mrs. F. S. Gannett entertained with an informal Kensington at her apartments in "The Court" on Wednesday afternoon, having about eight matrons as guests.

An attractive afternoon affair was given Thursday by Mrs. Gerald Volk at her residence "Volland." Vases and bowls of red peonies were used about the rooms. The afternoon was made unusually delightful by Mrs. Gordon McGilchrist, who gave a reading and also by the hostess who read an interesting paper on "The Northwest."

Small refreshment tables were arranged for the guests and each place was marked by a white carnation, a bit of sweet sentiment in honor of Mother's Day.

Mrs. Volk was assisted by Mrs. Henry Poissal and Mrs. B. E. Bowers.

Besides the members of the P. E. O. club the guests included Mesdames Gordon McGilchrist, L. K. Page, A. H. Cradlebaugh, S. N. Endicott, F. E. East, William McGilchrist, Sr., E. J. Swafford, Johnson, P. E. Taylor, Raueh, U. S. Miller and Mrs. Cottie of Mass., who is the house guest of Mrs. Volk.

Mrs. Chester Cox entertained a number of young matrons and maids at

A wedding that caused quite a furore in Salem today was that of Miss Edna Jesso the charming and pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. U. Jesso and Clifford Edward Farmer, which took place this morning in Portland at the Presbyterian church. The Rev. Boyd officiating.

The wedding was a very simple, as Mr. and Mrs. Farmer were both opposed to the fuss and pomp of a large affair. Only a few relatives and close friends were in attendance.

After a several days sojourn in Portland and a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Farmer will be at home to their friends in their attractive new home on Saginaw and Lincoln streets. Mr. and Mrs. Farmer have a wide circle of friends in Salem, and have been feted with many delightful pre-nuptial affairs.
