PREDICTIONS AND

him in the balloting comes through a belief that if the roll calls are prolonged through half a dozen or more ballots, the justice might formally withdraw.

It developed today that the Fairbanks representatives are playing the vice-presidential game clear across the board, to use more frank purchase. The Root lieutenant let it be known that they have been approached on the question of whether the Indiana station would be acceptable as a running mate and have acquiesced.

The Hughes forces, it was ascertained, had heard a similar scheme, with Hughes as the presidential nominee, and it is known that the Weeks campaign managers and even the Roosevelt republican committee had received tentative suggestions to the same effect.

This afternoon attempt was to be made by Frank Hitchcock, discredited Hughes representative here, but nevertheless still plugging away at the Hughes game, to hold a "hot together" meeting of the Hughes delegates as far rounded up.

Favorite Sons Puzzled.

The "favorite son" lieutenants were puzzled in trying to figure out where they stand on the alternatives before the republican convention. They are all hopeful of a lack of understanding between the republicans and progressive forces over Hughes will force Hughes out of the way and then leave the track clear for some "favorite son."

But at the same time they were aware today of the drift of sentiment toward the justice and the progressive view that Hughes would be agreeable if he spoke enthusiastically enough about Americanism and preparedness. Therefore, most of them, being seasoned politicians, they sought out some way of landing in a soft spot if Hughes finally "gets across." First of all, they found themselves blocked in any attempt to get an "understanding" and to fix their future position from Frank Hitchcock. Not being authorized representative, Hitchcock finds he cannot make any promises.

The G. O. P. leaders—the old guard, allies and near-progressives, all want to retain control of state patronage. They want to have a ticket which will elect their state tickets. They are not so terribly anxious about the national ticket going through or about federal patronage. This latter is more or less of a bogey any way, since enemies are made as well as friends in the appointments. But each leader is anxious to retain and enlarge his domination of state affairs.

Taft's Friends Take Stand.

A new division within the G. O. P. if that party re-unites with the progressives with Roosevelt as the candidate, is threatened by friends of ex-President Taft. These men declare Roosevelt's candidacy will lead the party to defeat anyway, and that it would be impossible to forget and forgive his course of four years ago by seemingly approving him now.

This new division would seek to win the middle-of-the-road and pacifist republicans, and also to catch the German-American vote. The movement for such a split, in the event Roosevelt is accepted by the republican convention, was first started in Clatsop county, Taft's home town, where the German vote is particularly heavy.

Hitchcock at noon will issue his first complete statement of claims as to the delegates backing Hughes.

In view of Hitchcock's known conservatism, this announcement was taken by politicians to be a proposition based upon facts and, further, an indication that Hitchcock now feels certain of his ground.

Secretary John McGrath phoned his chief, Roosevelt, at Oyster Bay, today, and was assured that Roosevelt's present plans contemplate his absence from Chicago during the fireworks. Only unforeseen developments, McGrath said, would bring the colonel here.

The Peabody delegation from Pittsburg landed today, some of them decorated with Knox regalia.

LOUJ FOR DELEGATES

Portland, Or., June 5.—A carload of Oregon loganberry juice is en route to Chicago today to quench the thirsts of the delegates in the republican national convention. Besides coffee, loganberry juice will be the only beverage in the convention.

Little New Today's work like charas.

GERMAN LOSS IS

Germany is confirmed by seacoast reports saying that she limped into port under her own steam late Thursday, the day after the battle.

Sailors said the battle was fought in a sea so calm as a mill pond with a mist hanging low, making firing at a long range almost impossible.

"It sounded like forty thunderstorms rumbled into one," was the de-said it was "hell."

German's Ridiculous Claims

Berlin, June 5.—Great Britain's claim to victory in the naval fight of Wednesday is taken as an enormous joke by all Germany. The claim is not even accorded the dignity of serious attention. It does not arouse ire or resentment, but mirth only.

"Yes," said one official, "Great Britain won an enormous tactical victory. About two more such tactical victories and the British navy would be reduced to row boats."

The Germans realize just the position Great Britain is in. For years they have been boasting of their peerless navy. Along came real hand fighting and England did not take her full part, but always referred to its peerless navy—the unbeatable pride of the seas—which, when the moment came, would smash Germany forever. It was the navy which was "going to dig the rats out of their holes."

Then came the fight and when the smoke of battle cleared away, the pride of the British navy was at the bottom of the North sea and the German fleet was riding safely at anchor in its home port, according to the German view.

The Germans point out that the British admiralty was almost forced to make false claims of German losses to prevent the shock of the worst naval drubbing of the war from proving too heavy a depression on the English people.

When the claim of the British that heavy German battleships were destroyed is mentioned, German officials smile blandly and ask:

"Why doesn't the British admiralty name it. It should be easy enough if they were sunk. We were not at a loss to name the British ships which went down."

The Germans claim that the present British policy of refusing to admit its own complete losses and asserting ex-

DRAMA TO BE

CHAUTAQUA FEATURE

Comus Players to Open Chautauqua With Popular Play.

"The play is the thing." To all lovers of the drama the Comus Players will prove a welcome Chautauqua innovation. They are equipped to satisfy the most critical as well as the popular taste. They will present either "Carson of the North Woods," a classic of Canadian forest life, or "Nance Oldfield," a human interest play of strong moral tone and appeal. An appropriate atmosphere of costume and setting accompany these productions. As a prelude to either of the foregoing plays selections will be presented from one of the following Shakespearean dramas: "As You Like It," "Taming of the Shrew," "Macbeth" or "Hamlet."

The personnel of this splendid company of artists is one of uniform excellence, each member enjoying a distinguished place in dramatic circles.

Janet Young has appeared in over 100 productions in cities of the Pacific coast. She was a member of the Baker stock company of Portland for two years, and is known to theater goers as the "Sweetheart of the Northwest."

Miss Young is wonderfully sympathetic in her work, and her interpretations are convincing.

Archibald F. Redie, eminent dramatic critic and interpreter of Shakespearean roles, is the "heavy" support of the company. Mr. Redie is a graduate of the Spring Garden institute, was formerly dean of oratory and dramatics in Valparaiso university and occupies the same position in the University of Oregon.

Roswell Dow, whose dramatic studies in Europe were interrupted at the outbreak of the war, is a young man devoted to the uplift of the drama. He "puts it across" right.

Ralph Ash, who has appeared opposite Miss Young in many productions, makes the lead. Mr. Ash is handsome of splendid physique and combines with the charm of the matinee idol the acumen of the student.

The Comus Players are the attraction for Chautauqua first nighters, being the first program number. They will start things going.

Flag to Circle U. S. With Stars To Be Sewed On By Ladies

A huge silk American flag has arrived at the office of Governor Withycombe with a book to receive the governor's signature and a star to be sewed on by "the leading lady in the state." The instructions sent out left the job of choosing the leading lady of the state to the governor, not realizing that Governor Withycombe has plenty of trouble of his own without importing any new complications from the national capital.

errors have already signed the roll and had their leading ladies sew down the star. The idea originated by the Junior Order of the United American Mechanics, of Brooklyn, New York.

WILLAMETTE NOTES

The senior class will have as their guests at the home of President and Mrs. Doney this evening, the faculty, students, trustees and friends of the university.

The senior class pageant which will be given tomorrow evening east of the gymnasium in the natural amphitheatre should be attended by every person in town who is interested in Willamette university in its past, present or future history. The play to be given is an enactment of the early days when Jason Lee and his followers first came to the great Oregon country and endeavored to Christianize the Indians and to colonize this country and secure it as part of the United States. The play has been written following real facts from history by Miss Frances Gittina and J. R. Bain, who have made a careful study of the early settlers, preparatory to writing the play.

Howard Jewett, who is managing it has arranged to have the stage settings an exact replica of the days of the immortal Jason. Prof. Wallace MacMurtrei, who has charge of the directing of the play, is putting forth his best efforts to make it a success, and when the curtain is drawn for the first scene, and an Indian village, with squaws and Indian braves seated about a glowing camp fire, till the final curtain is dropped, a touch of realism will be present throughout that cannot fail to draw forth the appreciation of the audience.

This play is free of charge and the public is cordially invited to attend. An especial attraction will be the solo drama by "The Voice of the Wild," Miss Helen Wastell, Prof. MacMurray has written a lyric especially for the occasion.

Charles Chaplin Breaks His Own Laugh Record

"The Floorwalker," First Mutual Release, Funniest Comedy Ever Filmed.

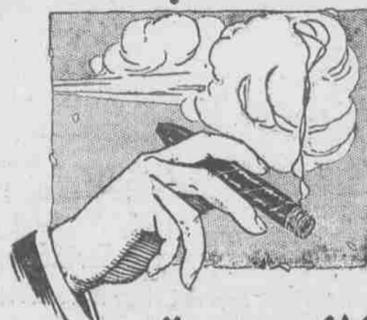

"The Floorwalker" is the first of the Mutual Chaplin comedies scheduled to be shown here at the Elgin theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

In "The Floorwalker" the million dollar comedian has worked in some of the most ludicrous stunts he has ever performed for the camera. His antics on the escalator, or moving stairway, are exceedingly novel and scintillatingly funny.

For these particular scenes, depicting the interior of a modern department store, an escalator, an exact replica, one used in one of New York's largest stores, was constructed. It is operated by electricity. The stunts pulled out this escalator by Chaplin furnish more laughs than there are feet of film.

Chaplin, ever since his arrival in Los Angeles, has been hard at work at the studios with the members of his company so that there would be no slip up in his first Mutual release. On some occasions he has put in as many as 10 hours a day.

Interest in Chaplin and his work, particularly since being signed to a contract by President John R. Freuler, of the Mutual, is manifested in the scores of letters received at the studio each day.

"Owl" means mellowness.

One quality stands out pre-eminent in a good, satisfying cigar.

That quality is mellowness.

Mellowness means an agreeable smoke. It means a cigar which is not harsh—a cigar which is pleasant.

It means a good quality of tobacco in the first place, and properly cured tobacco in the second place.

It means you can smoke two or three mellow cigars and fully enjoy each one.

Since mellowness is such a vital factor in your enjoyment of a cigar—

—What do the makers of the OWL do to protect its mellowness?

Answer: The makers of the OWL maintain a million dollar reserve supply of mellowing tobacco at all times. Every leaf is thoroughly cured and mellowed before they use it. Thus they make sure that your OWL will surely be mellow when you buy it.
