LAMAR TOOZE WINS UNIVERSITY HONORS

Salem Boy Graduates With Highest Honors After Brilliant College Career

Lamar Tooze, who won the Felling prize of $100 for the highest oratorical honors in the state university, is a Salem boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tooze, and is well known in this city. Graduating on the fortieth anniversary of the founding of the university, Mr. Tooze has made a record as a student which promises to stand for years to come having had far more than the usual honors that fall to the lot of students. He was president of the student body during the current year, was appointed to make the trip with the Ford peace expedition as representative of the university, and was only recently voted a solid silver loving cup as the most popular student in the institution. That these honors have been well deserved is the conviction of those who have taken an interest in the young man's career, and they only hope that his future life and achievements will bear out the splendid promise of his university accomplishments. Studious, exemplary habits, fine mental attainments and a pleasing personality have combined to make Lamar a general favorite in a large circle of acquaintances and he enters active life with the brightest of prospects, and also with grave responsibilities because of the strong hopes centered in his career. Many bright young men are going out from our higher educational institutions every year, but the Capital Journal makes this special reference because Lamar Tooze has done considerable special work for this paper, and has done it so well and faithfully that it has come to take an unusual interest in him, building high hopes that his life will be one of usefulness and honor to the state which has given him the opportunity for education and development of his natural abilities.
