Regardless of the decision of the court in the injunction suit of Frank Ward against the city to prevent the city from having the paving plant now in use on the fair grounds road, the work will continue. After the fair grounds road is completed work will begin at once on South Commercial street. The suit is not brought to determine the capacity of the paving plant or whether it will do the work claimed, but just an injunction against the city to prevent payment, on account of the method of purchase. The fair grounds people and those living on South Commercial street may feel assured that the paving will be done, according to a statement of the mayor this morning, and that the work will continue without unnecessary delays.

Club wheat in Portland is five cents off from quotations of yesterday. Today quotations are $1.18 for club in Portland while a week ago it was ten cents higher. Salem came very near being a real watermelonless town today. There are plenty of watermelons in California and the Yakima district but there is that shortage of cars from which Oregon alone suffers. The Salem Fruit company was fortunate in getting one of the few cars that arrived in Portland yesterday. But if the car shortage continues and if that impending strike materializes, there will be no eating of melons in this part of the country next week. Moral: Eat while the eating is good.

AUTOMATIC MACHINES WILL HANDLE TICKETS

State Fair Board Provides for Keeping Tab On Ticket Sales

Two automatic, combination ticket selling and bookkeeping machines, manufactured purposely for use at the Oregon state fair by the National Cash Register company, were received by Secretary-Manager Lea at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon and will be set up ready for operation, by a representative of the manufacturing concern in time for the 1916 fair, the week of September 25th. With the use of these machines, the accuracy of which is guaranteed, one stationed upon each side of the main entrance gate, all the ticket seller has to do is to take the money and press the keys and the machine delivers to the purchaser the correct number of tickets ordered—full and half fare—at the same time recording the amount of the purchase and carrying the total number of sales and amount of cash received forward. The seller does not handle the tickets at all, hence the possibility of collusion and graft between the seller and taker of tickets by the turning of tickets back to be resold over and over again will be eliminated and a perfect check upon admission transactions can be kept at all times of the day. The machines also print a complete record of the transaction upon the tickets it issues dating and successively numbering every one, which renders it extremely difficult, if at all possible, to work a duplication in the admission checks. The machines are somewhat similar to those in use at the San Diego exposition but are built upon a much larger scale and expressly to the order of the Oregon state fair board; they are also the first of the kind to have been built for a state fair or other exposition in the world. They will doubtless prove a great improvement over former methods of ticket selling and will probably pay for themselves the first season.

BOARD OF CONTROL TO HAVE COMMISSION INVESTIGATE PRISON

Flax Matters and State Institutions Subjects of Session's Work

A non-salaried commission will be appointed to make a thorough survey of the Oregon state penitentiary, for the purpose of obtaining a well prepared and up to date plan for the betterment of the institution, along lines suggested in resolutions presented to the board of control somewhat more than a week ago by Governor Withycombe. But the commission will not be appointed entirely by the governor, as suggested by him. This was determined at a meeting of the board of control this morning, when the following amended resolutions, introduced by State Treasurer Kay, were adopted: "Whereas, it is a well recognized fact that the buildings of our penitentiary are old and, in present condition, will not permit the institution of a modern system of pedagogical work, and

Whereas, it is advisable to have some well prepared and up to date plan for real constructive work, and the change necessary to place the same in practical operation at the Oregon state penitentiary, therefore be it: "Resolved, that a non-salaried commission be appointed by the state board of control composed of three citizens of the state to make a thorough survey of the said penitentiary and report its findings and recommendations to the said board.

Work of Commission "Resolved, that for the purpose of securing proper data said commission be given access to all prison records and papers, and be authorized and allowed at appropriate times to interview any officer, employee or inmate of the institution.

The problems upon which information and recommendations are especially desired are: "1—Efficiency of administration along lines of modern penology. "2—The supervision of religious and educational work. "3—The parole board, parole officer and powers, duties and responsibilities.

Changes advisable in present buildings. "5—Desirability of a new unit of segregation of first offenders, and establishment of industrial work and industrial education for them. "6—The advisability of establishing the prison further out into country upon larger tract of land, operated by prison labor, so as to make the institution as near self sustaining as possible.

Resolved, that any expenses incurred by said commission while in performance of these duties, when approved by the board, shall be paid from funds of the Oregon state penitentiary.

Governor Protests The resolutions were adopted against a protest from Governor Withycombe. "The governor is held responsible by the people of the state for the administration of the penitentiary," he said,

"and he should appoint this commission. The commission should be composed of three of the broadest gauged men in the state, men of the highest ideals."

He was reassured by both Secretary of State Olcott and State Treasurer Kay that they were fully in conformity with this view as to the personal attributes of the commission members. They have no desire, they said, for a divided commission, which the governor insisted would result should the appointment be made by the board instead of by himself.

The appointments will be made later. The board decided to call a meeting of the emergency board for the 9th of September to meet the deficiency which has arisen through the flax experiment. There will be $6000 on hand after paying all expenses for the month of August, and the total expense it is estimated will amount to between $15,000 and $18,000. The cost for labor alone in the flax department amounts to $2000 for the month of August.

There are yet 125 acres of flax yet to pull, which will probably require two weeks.

In the matter of repairs to the soldiers' home at Roseburg, recently damaged by fire, it was decided by the board to take no action pending the meeting of the legislature.

Action looking to needed improvements at several of the state institutions, particularly the school for the feeble-minded and the hospital for tuberculosis patients was deferred until the annual reports from the institutions shall have been filed.

WHEAT PRICES LOWER ON ACCOUNT OF STRIKE

Chicago, Aug. 30.—September wheat closed today 2 7/8 below the opening, a loss of 4 3/8 over last night's close. December was down 4 1/2 from last night, while May was down 4 3/4. A heavy selling movement took place just before the market closed due to fears of the traders that a railroad strike could not be averted.

stored for emergency in a well-developed, well-preserved, well-nourished body and brain. Grape-Nuts food stands preeminent as a builder of this kind of energy. It is made of the entire nutriment of whole wheat and barley, two of the richest sources of food strength. Grape-Nuts also includes the vital mineral elements of the grain, so much emphasized in these days of investigation of real food values. Crisp, ready to eat, easy to digest wonderfully nourishing and delicious.
