SALEM'S LYCEUM COURSE BEGINS

Cord-Rummel Company Delights Big Audience with Classical Music

Filled with a deep chord of human sympathy the music of William Morse Rummel, violinist of the Cord-Rummel Lyceum company, which opened the lyceum season in Salem last night at the armory, touched the hearts of the people and they gave him an enthusiastic welcome. This is the second time he has appeared before a Salem audience and he was welcomed back as an old friend who has lived in hearty remembrance.

Along with Mr. Rummel, who came through Salem with Madame Nordica several years ago, are Mrs. Rummel, Henry Kelly, baritone, and Fay Cord, soprano. These four form the company under the Ellison-White Lyceum bureau management. Mrs. Rummel is the pianist.

No one was disappointed in Mr. Rummel and his violin—nor could they well be. He has a touch that is soft as the airy down of the thistle yet it is firm and sure while the tone is soft and sweet, and like the whisper of the wind among the lilies. Then, again, he brought out the leaning life, the throbs of pulsating hearts, the dash of fiery steeds, the tenderness of love, the yearning of the soul. He could make the violin cry aloud in anguish or laugh with joy; and he held the audience wrapt with the magic of his playing.

His first three numbers set the pitch for the evening. For the first time on this tour he played Beethoven's Minuet. This was by request, yet he felt Salem would appreciate this most classical selection. The combination of the talented author and the talented player in this instance produced a piece of art that found its way quickly and surely to the depths of the human heart. Its soft tenderness was in strong contrast to the last of the group, the "Souspir de Moscou," a bit of Russian spirit transmuted into music. It had the fantastic, dreamy soul of the Russian and caught some of the vagaries of their impressionable nature. Kreisler's "Caprice Viennois" was fanciful and full of melody.

His last group brought out more of his excellent technique. The first of this group was by Kreisler, "The Chinese Fanliou," which was characteristic of the music of the Flower Kingdom. Familiar as Devorak's "Humoresque" it seemed to have never meaning, deeper feeling as played by Mr. Rummel. This was given by request, which request pleased the violinist. Dainty and light and replete with fanciful airs was the "Schoen Rosmarin," a beautiful Viennese waltz, also by Kreisler. He reserved his most difficult work with privileged to hear them.

Brazier Small, crack half and letter man of several years' standing, turned out for pigskin glory yesterday afternoon. The little midget wonder is in tiptop shape and feels as eager to get away for a touchdown as he did when he picked up Malarkey's fumble three years ago and bagged the winning touchdown for Willamette when the overconfident University of Oregon team were drubbed 6 to 3 on the local field. Guerin also returned to the real grid yesterday with his pre-season form. His twisted leg is now in excellent shape, so Coach Matheus has little cause to worry about his husky guard.

According to Arnold Grabapp, manager of oratory and forensics, Willamette is to have one of the most auspicious years in her history this winter when the Aeroman disciples clash in old time platform rivalry. Two declamatory contests are scheduled before Christmas and three oratorical contests immediately following the Yuletide holidays. The reason for the early try-outs this year is that Professor Helen Miller Senn may have more time to coach the aspirants to state contest honors than has been allotted in the past. These contests will consist of the state oratorical, the prohibition and the peace. All will be held in Waller chapel at convenient hours to both students and any townspeople who may be interested. From the preliminary outlook on the situation and interest already expressed by those who intend to enter, the tryouts this year promise to be exceptionally keen.

Although plans as to the prospective forensic schedule are still unformulated, there is the assurance of at least one and probably several more debates. Flattering contracts and applications have been received from O. A. C. McMinnville college, Pacific University and College of Puget Sound, but as yet no arrangements are settled. Manager Grabapp is especially anxious to debate the University of California teams and plans with that end in view have been initiated. As the Willamette team will be largely composed of juniors, a tentative two year schedule seems the most feasible. The men declaring their intention of entering are excellent forensic men, so there will be lively things happening when the tryouts are held.

Showing a real appreciation of the best in the entertainment line, more than 200 Willamette students attended the opening attraction of the local lyceum course Monday evening. All of the offerings of the Cord-Rummel recital company were enjoyed, which speaks well for the efforts of Manager Glenn J. MacCaddam to cater to university students.

Amos W. Long was recently appointed under the civil service law to a position in the quartermaster's department of the army with headquarters at Portland. He is well known in Salem, having held the position as sanitary inspector.

Daryl Rexford, of Albany, a pharmacist who is attending Willamette university, will enter the employ of the Frank S. Ward drug store, succeeding Orville Baldwin, who went to Portland. Mr. Rexford has had several years experience as a druggist in Albany and Lebanon.

The feminine admirers of Fannie Ward, the beautiful photodramatic actress, have a great treat in store for them when they see the forthcoming "Each Pearl a Tear" which will be seen at the Ye Liberty on today, tomorrow and Thursday with Miss Ward in the stellar role. Miss Ward recently returned from New York with an assortment of the latest fashions of the eastern costume designers, and she will have an opportunity to display them to full advantage in this vehicle. Jack Dean, her husband, made the remark that if anybody in New York wanted a new gown they would have to send out to Miss Ward for it, as she bought up all there were in that city. He also asserted that he was kept busy buying costumers' and milliners' bills that he did not have time to get measured for as much as handkerchief.

PRESIDENT GIVEN

Coat company, its principal competitor. President Roosevelt was given the alternative of consenting to this violation, or facing a manufactured panic. The senator remarked that the panic did not come and Tennessee Iron & Coal company went out of business.

Followed Washington and Lincoln. The senator showed how the president had followed the course of Washington in handling our affairs with the warring nations of Europe, the only course possible that could be followed with safety and honor. He showed how in dealing with Mexico he had taken the same ground as did Presidents Polk, Lincoln and Taft, and asserted that it was not the Mexican government that had attacked American citizens, but simply gangs of lawless bandits.

It is possible to mention but a few of the arguments of Senator Chamberlain, for he spoke for two hours, and what he said was condensed into the briefest space.

It was a frank clear statement of legislative work told by one of the main workers. A concise statement of the splendid achievements of President Wilson, who has risen to the demands of every occasion, and so conducted the affairs of America that all the nations of the world are turning to her as the one hope of all for aid and guidance back into the paths of peace.

In closing the senator called attention to the cry that after the war we should be prepared to meet competition with "the pauper labor of Europe." He said instead of being afraid of this competition with millions of maimed, sick, blind, suffering fellow creatures, that we should be for a while, the grand America of the other days that extends a welcome to the suffering, and the down-trodden, a haven of peace after a literal hell of war. They are not to be feared but to be pitied, and it is America's part in the year, to come to bind up the wounds, to relieve the distressed and to show the world that among nations as among men there is the Good Samaritan.

Catarthal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarthal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarthal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface of the Eustachian Tube. Cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

SCHOOL BOARD HAS VERY BUSY SEASON

Portland Company Two Poor to Lay Mains Wants School to Put Up

The Clarion, the official paper published by the Salem high school will be permitted to publish advertisements of the picture shows in the city provided the pictures and the ads meet the approval of the faculty advisor of the Clarion, Miss Ethel Bigdon.

W. H. Hamilton of the Portland, Railway, Light and Power company appeared before the board and explained the company's action in regard to extending gas mains to the Lincoln school. He said the company was not in a position to finance any extensions and was asking those who wanted extensions made to advance the money, the company paying them six per cent on the amount advanced until the sum was exhausted, deducting two thirds of the gas bill each month. The company also agreed to deduct from the amount put up by the school district to secure the extension, two thirds of the gas bills of the other consumers on the extension. By this arrangement, the amount to be advanced for the Lincoln school, $290, would be returned in about two and a half years, the board receiving six per cent on the monthly balance.

Heretofore, it has been the rule of the school board to permit student activities of the high school to take place only in the building. As there is hardly enough room in the high school gymnasium for the larger athletic events, permission was granted the physical culture director to hold contests open to the public either in the Y. M. C. A. armory or in the Willamette University gymnasium. This will include only contests for the young men. There will be no public exhibitions of contests in which the girls take part.

The board adjourned to Friday evening November 3, when the budget for the coming year will be discussed.

University Notes

Preparations are being made by members of the Adalante Literary society for the annual at home to the new university women who have just enrolled for collegiate work. The affair will be formal in nature and will occur next Saturday afternoon from 4 until 5:30. Many prominent alumna members are expected to return especially for the function. As the new decorations on which expert finishers have been working for the past three weeks will then be ready, the affair bids fair to surpass the many brilliant receptions of the previous years.

A pleasing diversion of Monday morning's chapel hour were the vocal solos given Miss Pauline Siska and Mr. Ferdy Abbott. "The Lay of the Improvised Huntsman" (Schubert) as sung by Mr. Abbott was well received and he responded with Sidney Moner's "Requiem." Miss Pauline Siska, a new student at the music conservatory, very pleasingly offered "Squire's" "When You Come Home" and "I Hear You Calling Me" by Taft. The presence of these two splendid singers in the university promises to be a delight to all who are

INDOOR LIFE MAKES FAT
TRY OIL OF KOREIN TO KEEP WEIGHT DOWN, OR TO DUBB SUPERFLUOUS FAT.
People who are confined within doors and who are deprived of fresh, invigorating air and exercise must take precaution to guard against over-stoutness, as fat acquired by indoor life is unhealthy and a danger to the vital organs of the body. Lack of exercise in the fresh air is said to weaken the oxygen carrying power of the blood, so that it is unable to produce strong muscles and vitality and the formation of unhealthy and unhealthy fat is the result.

If you are 15 or 20 pounds above normal weight you are daily drawing on your reserve strength and are constantly lowering your vitality by carrying this excess burden. Any persons who are satisfied in their own mind that they are too stout are advised to go to Central Pharmacy or a good druggist and get a box of oil of korein capsules, and take one after each meal and one just before retiring at night.

Even a few days treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight, improved digestion and a return of the old energy; footsteps become lighter and the skin less flabby in appearance as superfluous fat disappears.

Oil of korein is inexpensive, cannot injure, and helps the digestion. Any person who wants to reduce 15 or 20 pounds is advised to give this treatment a trial.
