Weekly Report of Union Stock Yards

North Portland, Nov. 2.—Cattle receipts this Monday were the lightest for several months, there being only 750 head received. Buyers all had good orders and the market opened briskly. The quality of the run as a rule was only ordinary there being about six loads of prime cattle here, prices ruled ten to fifteen cents higher on most sales although there were several loads of ordinary steers that went across the scales early on steady basis. Prime heavy steers sold at $7.40 for several loads against a 6:55 top last week, there were a number of other loads of prime steers sold from $6.50 to $6.75, good steers sold from $6.00 to $6.25; with poor and ordinary stuff going from $5.00 to $5.75. There was only a moderate run of she stuff. Demand was only fair, a few head of prime heifers bringing $5.50, but the bulk of best cows sold at $5.25; with one load at $5.35; good cows sold from $4.75 to $5.25. Bulls were in good demand, prices ruled 15 to 25c higher, best bulls sold from $4.90 to $5.00. Demand in the feeder division was light, best feeders sold at $6.00 with the bulk of good ones going from $5.25 to $5.75.

Hogs—One of the most lively seasons held in the hog yards this year was staged Monday morning, there was but a moderate run offered and prime hogs were 10 to 15c higher over last week's close. Tops sold at $9.55 for two loads with the bulk of prime hogs at $9.50; good hogs that were not finished sold from $9.40 to $9.45. Pigs were also advanced bringing 8:25 to $8.50.

Sheep—Sheep receipts continue very light with all prices in good demand. Choice lambs quoted $8.50 to $8.75, best yearlings $7.50 to $7.75, with good mutton ewes at $6.00.

University Notes

President Doney left last evening for Pendleton where he expected to deliver a series of three addresses today before the Umatilla County Teachers' Institute. A like capacity before the Union County assembly at La Grande tomorrow is also on his schedule before returning to Salem about Sunday. Dr. Doney expects to deliver a series of addresses at Bend, Oregon, on November 11, 12 and 13.

"Cranford," that delightfully tale of English life from the classic pen of Mrs. Gaskell, has been selected by members of the Philodorian society for presentation as a play Friday afternoon in their halls. The play centers around the conventional precision and typical customs of the England of years ago and in fact, is said to be fairly representative of customs prevailing in outlying districts of that famous island today. The cast have been practicing for three weeks, so Friday's play promises to be a feminine test which will be long remembered. In interpretation of the respective roles, its personnel will be as follows: Miss Matilda Jeaking, Irma Botsford; Mary Smith, Olive Mark; Martha, Margaret Mallory; Miss Pole, Lucille Jaskoski; Mrs. Forrester, Ruth Peringer; Mrs. Fitzadam, Maude Maclean; Miss Betty Barker, Grace Sherwood; The Honorable Mrs. Jameson, Margaret Garrison; Lady Glenmire, Fannie McKennon; Peter Marmaduke, Arley Jenkins, Ruth Winters. As a pleasing close to the program Miss Leona Weidmer will play a piano solo and Miss Lola MacCallam will sing some old English ballads.

Leaving no obstacle in their plans for a successful graduation next June, senior class committees on final arrangements have already been appointed by President Gates of the 1917 class. The committee on caps and gowns consists of Rosamond Gilbert, Emma Minton and Gustav Leining; on invitations and emblems, Addie Tobie, Olive Rosche, Lila Doughty, Alpheus Gillette and Laban Steeves.

Of much interest to university students is the reception to be given in their honor by the Epworth League of Jason Lee church tomorrow evening in the church parlors. From interest already manifest, there is no doubt that a large number of Willamette students will be there to enjoy the organization's hospitality.

That a "stricter tab" may be kept on student body members, the executive committee has decreed that no one will be admitted to student games or contests unless the official ticket is exhibited by the person deserving necessary, because of the general abuse of the privilege by members of the affiliated schools who do not possess a ticket.

Interest in the coming game with Mt. Angel college Saturday afternoon on the local field is increasing in view of the close score between that institution's gridiron representatives and Pacific university's eleven last Saturday at Mt. Angel. The tenacity and closeness of the 14-13 victory for Pacific makes it certain that Willamette is bumping up against a tough customer at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. It has been six years since the varsity has met Mt. Angel in football, possibly due to the fact that a 69-0 score was run up against the Catholic team at that time. Time has wrought changes, however, and with reports of a heavy line and good backfield, the game will be anything but a Boston tea party.

Although the second annual cross country run will not be held until after the Thanksgiving holidays, plans for its success are already being initiated by Coach R. L. Mathews. Many men of the sophomore and freshman classes are already in condition as cross country runners in compulsory under the catalogue requirements this semester. The interest in the race will not be confined to these two classes alone, for there are many excellent track men enrolled in other classes and departments of the university.

As provided in the offer of Hauser brothers who presented the silver cup to the winner last year, the trophy must be won three times in succession for its permanent possession. Reine Jackson, a freshman in the college of liberal arts, covered the 3.6 miles of the course in a little over 21 minutes last year, thereby giving the edge in favor of the present sophomore class. As all of the entrances of last year above seventh place, except one, are in school, this year's race promises to be a pretty affair.

"THE HOUSE OF LIES"

The Morosco-Paramount photoplay coming to Ye Liberty Friday and Saturday brings forth this problem: Edna Coleman is the step daughter of a society matron who candidly explains that she intends to exploit her daughter's beauty in the marriage market. The marriage market with its shallow veneer of modern dress and modern manners but with an amazing similarity of spirit to the old "slave market" only perhaps a little competition.

What will the socially restricted debutante do when she finds it is to the handsome young dramatist that she is to be displaced? To the one she prefers to meet above all others. What will his opinion be of her whom he meets in this manner? But there is a way that sets all the tangle right and Edna Goodrich playing the starring role finds that only in a great sacrifice is the clear path that leads to happiness.

their halls next Friday afternoon is teeming with interest. Opening with a mandolin solo by Fern Wells, the program centers around the life of Edgar Allan Poe, America's eccentric poet and short story writer. A review of his life will be given by Carrie Cooksey and Mabel Bouchey will recite several of his choicest lyrics. Esther Taylor is to read a short story and "In Candle Light" by Ruth Spoor will usher in a business session of the society members.

Ever alive to the fact that three square meals a day are the best stimulant for brilliant scholarship and athletic careers, the members of the Kioshe Klub, Willamette's pioneer co-operative eating club are a potent factor in the activities of an ever expanding institution. Founded by James B. Oakes in 1910 the Klub has had a varied career as a recognized foundry for turning out officers to grace the highest positions eligible to students of the university. Presidents and editors, yell kings, athletes and managers all unite in unreserved praise of their dietary alma mater. As president under the management of Sam R. King, editor of the Willamette Collegian, the Klub is enjoying its conventional well known prosperity. The variety and quality of the menus are a nine day's wonder for the price, three dollars per week. The rule underlying membership is "once a member always a member" in spirit, if not in presence. Considering its success as a co-operative organization, the Klub has grown into the status of a non-building institution. As the best way into a man's heart is said to be through his stomach, so has the Klub grown. At present the membership constitutes 21 active men and several alumni and honor members.

Lloyd George's Statement Meets Views of Allies

London, Nov. 2.—Lloyd-George's recent statement to the United Press regarding the prospects for peace reflected the feeling of all the allies, Lord Robert Cecil, minister of blockade, indicated in debate in the house of commons yesterday.

R. L. Outhwaite inquired if the Lloyd-George interview was supported by any official statement on behalf of the Russian government. Replying, Cecil said he was not aware that any allied governments had expressed an opinion, but that there was no reason to suppose the statement was not approved by England's allies. The question, he added, was apparently designed to show a divergence of opinion among the allies, in which idea the questioner was mistaken.

Sir Henry Dalzell came to Cecil's support. He told commons he had just read from a news ticker a United Press news item, saying that the Russian prime minister endorsed the Lloyd-George statement, this information having come from the Russian embassy. Sir Henry asked if it was not a fact that the Russian ambassador had declared his government in full sympathy with the Lloyd-George statement. Cecil responded that he had no reason to doubt the United Press statement.
