Rail and River News.

The full particulars of the agreement recently arrived at between the four great trunk lines of the northwest, and upon which depended the location of the Northern Pacific railroad depot, have not as yet been given to the public. The main point made, however, is said to be an understanding between the Northern Pacific and the Manitoba on the one side, and the Milwaukee and Northwestern on the other, that none of these systems would invade the territory of the other, but permit things to remain as they are, and by doing so make St. Paul the great interchange point of the northwest, as Chicago is of the different lines entering in that city.

Land Commissioner Lamborn, of the Northern Pacific, states that he has received information which led him to believe that the great land sale, which has been talked about so much for some time past, would become a fact within sixty days. The sale contemplated is said to be of about 2,000,000 acres now owned by the Northern Pacific, and lying east of the Missouri in Dakota and partially in Minnesota.

The buyers are represented by a syndicate composed of English and Boston parties, who pay for it in preferred stock.

It is said that the earnings of the St. Paul thus far this month are the largest ever known for the corresponding time; also that the business ahead indicates that the April earnings this year will be the largest in the history of the road. The total earnings of the six-two Western roads for the month of March were $22,193,800, an increase of $3,663,588 over the same month in 1882.

The gross earnings of these roads from Jan. 1 to March 31 were $64,770,757, being an increase of $6,659,434. The net increase is $5,073,810.

Advice from Morton, Minn., say that Superintendent Ryder of Minneapolis & St. Louis road has been in that town preparing for the commencement of work upon the extension of his road to Redwood Falls. The probabilities are that the work will begin at an early date and pushed forward so as to have the new line opened for the fall crops.

The report of the St. Paul & Duluth road for 1882 shows the completion of 208 miles of road after the 1st of August, and an increase in the gross earnings of 51.49 per cent. In passenger traffic the increase was $115,485.69. Six locomotives and 137 cars were added to the rolling stock.

SCANDINAVIAN AMERICA.

The Distribution of Immigrants from the Northern Countries and Their Descendants in the United States.

Translated from the Fædrelandet og Emigranten. The census of 1880 shows that there were then in the United States of America 440,262 persons born in the Scandinavian countries, of which 181,729 were born in Norway, 194,337 in Sweden, and 64,196 were born in Denmark. As the immigration from the Scandinavian countries has been very great in 1881 and 1882, it is a fair estimate that there are now in this country over 500,000 persons born in the Scandinavian countries. By different counts it has been proved that children born in this country of Scandinavian parents number at least as many as their parents and others born in the Scandinavian countries and now living here, so it is not too much to say that the Scandinavian population in the United States now, at least, amounts to 1,000,000, or that every fifth person in the United States is either born in the Scandinavian countries or is born to Scandinavian parents, and further, that every hundredth person in this country is born in the Scandinavian countries. Those of the Scandinavian countries are divided among the States and Territories as follows:

LOVE'S LABOR LOST.

Why No Coaxing of Cupid Can Make Young New Yorkers Marry.

New York Letter in the Washington Star.

The expenses of living here are continually increasing, and already the number of men who are able to support a fair daughter of fashion in anything like the styles to which she has been accustomed is comparatively small. By able I mean that a man be the possessor of an assured income of at least $5,000 a year in order to make his wife mistress of an establishment such as will enable her to at all keep up her social position.

It is said that the earnings of the St. Paul thus far this month are the largest ever known for the corresponding time; also that the business ahead indicates that the April earnings this year will be the largest in the history of the road.

The full particulars of the agreement recently arrived at between the four great trunk lines of the northwest, and upon which depended the location of the Northern Pacific railroad depot, have not as yet been given to the public.

Ex-Senator Kellogg for complicity in the route frauds still hangs fire. It is said that there was a scene over it in the jury room lately.

Ex-Senator Windom has returned to Washington from New York. He is full of business, and seems to have forgotten that he was ever in politics.

The salaries of the census clerks have again been reduced 25 per cent., and will so continue until the end of the fiscal year.

PHOENIX PARK MURDER.

The Great Irish State Trials with a Gallows in the Background—Brady and His Fellow Defendants Indicted and Arraigned.

Dublin, Ireland, telegram 9th: The court house where the trial of the Phoenix park assassins takes place was besieged by crowds eager to gain admission. The authorities, however, admitted the jury called on the case and fifty reporters, and they were let into the building at an early hour. Judge O'Brien, who is to hear the case, took his seat on the bench at 11:15 o'clock, when the work of swearing in the grand jury was proceeded with. The prisoners, Brady, Kelly, Delaney, Caffray, Curley and Fitzharris, were brought to the court house at 9 o'clock and were escorted by a whole troop of dragoons. The counsel and solicitors for the prisoners who appeared for them at the examination in Kilmahinny court house were present. Judge O'Brien informed the grand jury that the case of the attack upon Juror Fiel would not be called till after ordinary business was disposed of. Addressing the special jurors, he spoke of the importance and gravity of the Phoenix park murder case, he pointed to the existence of regularly organized secret societies held together for the purpose of committing murder.

"Members of such societies are actually guilty of taking the lives of fellow beings, and those guilty of assisting and encouraging them, were guilty of murder. The latter were equally guilty with the former, but mere membership in a society, even though it might be formed with the general object to commit murder, did not necessarily make all the members guilty of that crime. If the jury believed the evidence of the crown to be true, it was their duty to bring in a true bill against the persons accused. He dwelt on the enormity of the crime, which had, as if by magic, brought a dark cloud over the fair city of Dublin, and that it was, as he seemed, about to begeth, that it was the duty of the jury to bring in a true bill against the persons accused.
