LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Farmers are happy.
The crops are booming.
Have you had your "picter" took?
The artesian well in Mitchell is a failure.
Kimball is now a Post Office money order office.
James D. Farrell, of Chamberlain, was in town Tuesday.
The District Court opened at Chamberlain on Tuesday last.
Ponghtheighteens are doing finely most of them being blossomed out.
Don't forget to attend the festival at the Presbyterian church to-night.
"Wanted beard" as the young lady exclaimed while wading through the mud one day last week.
Kimball, live town, "you bet." Ask J. W. Orcutt. Last Monday, girl, "Nuff ced." Everybody smoke.
R. D. Prescott Esq., of Mitchell, Treasurer of Davison Co., spent last Sunday in town accompanied by his wife.
An amateur poetess anxiously wails: "O where can I find rest." Get a position in a Kimball store that doesn't advertise, darling.
All Odd-Fellows are requested to meet at Masonic Hall, on Thursday evening July 19, for the purpose of organizing a Lodge in this place.
A meeting was held at the Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon for the purpose of organizing a Womans Christian Temperance Union.
Reed's new building on Main St. is fast approaching completion. When finished it will be one of the most attractive stores in the town and a credit to it.
We refer our readers to C. H. Caryl's advertisement in another column of this paper. He has the largest barn in the county and will give his personal attention to the business.
A prominent physician says: "A person should never be waked except when there is urgent necessity for it." Caesar should bear this in mind when he passes the hat Sunday morning.
DIED.
On June 28th, at Colvin, Charles Mix Co. Dakota, Clara Budrow, aged 5 years, of Diphtheria, daughter of Edward Budrow, formerly of Moscow, N. Y.
Kimball will soon have a Zoological garden. J. W. Orcutt has a number of grouse and prairie chickens, Frank Richards has two young eagles and A. B. Wymer and Mr. Sedgwick have each a pair of two months old foxes.
New subscriptions are coming in rapidly for which we are grateful. Nothing is so indicative of a live town as its newspapers. It takes money and support from the citizens of a town however, to run a paper. Bear this in mind.

Ground has been broken for Basset, Hunting & Co's. new elevator. The location chosen is a very desirable one being just east of the depot upon a slight rise of ground. The dimensions will be 30x90. R. R. Taylor will have charge of it.
Vain attempts have been made by some of our business men to entice some of our Indian friends into the Picture gallery for the purpose of having their photo's taken. One young man here, who has lately been jilted by his girl back east, said he would give a V just to have his picture taken with a squaw so he could send it back to the girl.
The Kimball young lady who is "just too sweet to live," should remember when she receives her evening caller, that although it were easier for a Star Router to enter the kingdom of Heaven than to see through a screen door into the outer darkness, yet it were akin to falling off a greased log to gaze through one into the "inner lightness."
A Chicago woman is said to have had a bronze sarcophagus made for her, which weighs a thousand pounds. It seems as though a thousand pound sarcophagus would be pretty heavy to wear this weather, unless there is an ice box in it. Seems as though it would cause a woman to interfere. However, if sarcophagus are in style they have got to have 'em.—Pecks Sun.
We saw a squaw in town the other day whom we thought had a small one on, but upon closer examination discovered it to be a papoose.
The "Fourth," in all eastern cities, is always followed by a period of depression in all branches of trade. 'Tis then the weary merchant lies to the Sea side or other summer resort, and the overtaxed clerk takes his much needed vacation. How great the contrast here. In these live western towns, where all is bustle and life from one month's end to another, neither the merchant nor clerk have time to take a vacation. Kimball merchants report trade and business of all kinds as being fully equal to that previous to this time and in some cases even better. We are pleased to note this for it shows our prosperity is of a steady and healthy growth.
He Got His "Sassaparille."
On the afternoon of the Fourth a country youth from the neighborhood of the Bijou Hills might have been seen wandering around in the company of a small party of youths and maidens from his section. Slipping away from the party he entered Hutchingson & French's drug store and stepping gaily up to the magnificent soda fountain he enquired of George
"Say mister, got any soda water?"
"Yes plenty of it."
"What kind of seerup yer got?"
"Well we have vanilla, lemon, ginger, pineapple and—"
"Am't yer got no sassaparille?"
"No we are just out of that but—"
"Never mind I'll be back in a little while." And the future Governor of Dakota started out. Rejoining his party he accosted them with: "Say lets all go and get some soda water." Of course they readily assented and soon were all standing around the sweetened wind apparatus like bees around a clover blossom.
"What kind of syrup please?" asked the genial George.
"Oh, I'll take sassaparille" spoke up the sod destroyer from the Hills, "its the only kind that's healthy in warm weather. Our doctor says its the only kind its safe to drink. Yes sir, that's what I want, you bet, nothing else for me."
"What's yours?" turning to another.
"Oh, I'll take the same." And they all "took it."
In less time than it takes to write it the glasses were filled with the great American drink flavored with the "only healthy seerup," much to the lavish youth's surprise, the fountain having been replenished with the syrup during his absence. Anyone passing by at that time might have seen eight lads and "rosy lasses" gazing at the ceiling through glass cylinders with one end plugged up. As the party were filing out the door filled with joy, peace and carbonic gas, our gentle friend layed down fifteen cents on the counter and hissed in George's ear: "That's every cent I've got and if I ever catch you out of this store I'll lam you so that your folks will think you have been through an Iowa cyclone."
