DEMOCRATS TO HOLD STATE PRIMARY

CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR AND OTHER OFFICES TO BE NAMED BY THE PEOPLE.

At a meeting of the Democratic State Executive Committee held in Louisville, on last Thursday, a call was issued for a primary for the nomination of candidates for state offices, said primary to be held on May 27th. The call states that the primary shall be fair for every candidate, and provides that the county committee shall name the election officers, but if any candidate feels that he is slighted, he may obtain redress from the State Executive Committee itself. Messrs. A. G. Rear, of Russellville, M. J. Meagher, of Frankfort and Will A. Young, of Moreland, three splendid democrats, were appointed as a sub-committee to have charge of arrangements.

Candidates for various offices appeared before the committee and most of them declared in favor of a convention. Senator James B. McCreary said that he was willing to give either but preferred to have the question of the governorship settled directly by the people themselves. Congressman Ben Johnson, who is getting quite a reputation for "cat-in-the-hat" speeches wanted a convention very badly, probably being afraid to trust his chances to the people, preferring the manipulations of a bunch of professional politicians.

The action of the committee is believed to be a great victory for McCreary, for it is generally conceded that before the people he is 30,000 votes stronger than any other candidate for governor. It is believed that McCreary and Johnson will be the only ones to go to the post for the governorship nomination in the primary as candidates Rear, Adams and Hendrick are too little known to have any hold upon the people. With those two in the race, McCreary will win the nomination by 30,000 or more majority and win for governor over whom ever the republicans may nominate, by 25,000. The people of the state are for him and in a primary the people will rule, as they should.

For the first time in the history of Kentucky a great state poultry show is to be held. By the efforts of M. C. Rankin, Commissioner of agriculture, the Kentucky Poultry Association formed some months since and it will hold its first annual show of poultry fair at Lexington on January 16 to 21 next. Premium list and catalogue will be ready for distribution January 1st, and will be sent to anyone on application to Secretary Frank A. Smith, Lexington, Ky.

TO THE INTERIOR JOURNAL READERS

Following its usual custom, there will be no Interior Journal issued on next Friday, the 30th.

The "force" will be given the opportunity of enjoying a Christmas holiday; or as much enjoyment as we can get out of the process of moving the office fixtures, machinery, etc., from the building which has been occupied by the I. J., for the past twenty-five years or so, to the Hopper store room on Main street, directly across from the court house and next door to the postoffice.

This change of quarters has been made necessary by the installation of the Interior Journal's new Miehle press, which is so large and so heavy that it would be unsafe to place it in an upstairs room with no more than the ordinary floor supports beneath it. This press is the very highest type made, and will enable the I. J., to come out in seven column form to the page, and afford room for much more reading matter for our patrons.

There are, moreover, a great many other disadvantages in being in an upstairs store room, which are obvious. The office is hard to get to by those who wish to pay their subscriptions and bring in ads or job work; many ladies and elderly people hesitate to climb the long flight of stairs, and the noise of our engines and jarring of our presses has become unbearable to our good neighbors below, the Lincoln County National Bank and Mr. Sam Robinson. They have been unusually patient with us, and we are highly appreciative of the forbearance they have manifested in a very unpleasant situation.

The Interior Journal hopes to issue its next number, January 3rd, 1911 from its new quarters. As its machinery is moved, and things running properly, it will issue an invitation for its readers and the public in general to pay it a visit on some press day, and see in operation what is beyond doubt the best equipped country newspaper office in the State of Kentucky.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Interior Journal in its new form will give four more columns of matter each issue, and regardless of the cost and increase in the price of white paper, and, in fact, everything that goes into the make-up of a news paper, the price of the Interior Journal will remain at one dollar per year. With the new year however, a new rule will be adopted that every subscription must be paid for strictly in advance. When a subscriber's time expires, he or she will be politely notified, and will be expected to pay promptly if the paper is desired for another year. If payment is not made promptly after notification, the paper will be stopped. The great loss on unpaid subscriptions and the increasing cost of materials, makes such a rule necessary if the price is to be kept at $1 a year. There are very few papers in the state, which issue twice a week for $1 a year, but this rate will continue for the I. J., as long as its subscribers come in regularly with that one little "wheel."

The I. J. hopes that every reader had a merry Christmas and wishes all a happy New Year.

SIX COUPLES VERY JOYFUL ON XMAS

USUAL HOLIDAY HAPPINESS AUGMENTED BY WEDDED BLISS.

Six young couples sought Christmas happiness in the blissful bonds of wedlock just before the happy Yuletide event, making the occasion when everyone is supposed to be happy, a particularly joyful occasion for them.

Melvin Kidd, and Miss Murray King, aged 22 and 18 respectively, and a prominent and popular young couple of the Winesburg section, secured license here and were united in marriage on the 15th at the home of William Kidd, the bride's father.

J. L. Cooper and Miss Maggie McWhorter, were joined in wedlock's holy bonds on the 21st. The groom is a prominent young man of the McKinney section, while his bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. McWhorter. A host of friends wish them every happiness.

The next wedding was that of Sam Tarter, a prominent Casey county, farmer and Miss Frances Reed. They were married on the 23d at the home of the bride's father George W. Reed in the Green river section, and received the hearty congratulations of a wide circle of friends.

Robert Kelley, a well known and liked young Boyle county, and Miss Lulu Roberts, one of Lincoln's popular and attractive daughters, were married at the home of R. A. Roberts on the 24th, in the presence of friends and loved ones.

George White, a substantial farmer of Crab Orchard section and Miss Mary Lattie Cummins, also of the east end and a member of a prominent family, were married at the home of Thomas Pence on Christmas day. Their many friends wish them every happiness.

County Judge Bailey said the words which made Fred McClure, a well known carpenter and Miss Hallie Stuart, both of the East End, one, at the court house Saturday, the 24th. Both are popular with all who know them and have good wishes for complete happiness.

Goes to Probate

THE CONTEST WAS MADE AGAINST MRS. HELM'S WILL.

The will of Mrs. Burnetta Helm, who died in the West End a few weeks ago, was ordered to probate by Judge Bailey last week, after a spirited legal contest over it. Contest was made against the probating of the will by Capt. Thomas P. Helm, of Danville and Mrs. Ollie Thurman, children of the deceased, who claim that the document did not make an equal and fair distribution of the property of the deceased.

The will left the bulk of Mrs. Helm's estate to her son, Samp Helm, with whom she had made her home for many years, but provided that pay to each of her other children, the sum of $500. The estate left by Mrs. Helm is said to be valued at about $6,000.

At a retrial in the county court last week of the case of Mrs. Walter Warren against Ed Hubbard, charged with assault and battery, a jury acquitted Hubbard in the first trial the jury had been unable to agree.

MARVELOUS DISCOVERIES

mark the wonderful progress of the age. Air flights on heavy machines, telegrams without wires, terrible war inventions to kill men and that wonder of wonders—Dr. King's New Discovery—to save life when threatened by coughs, colds, a grippé, asthma, croup, bronchitis, hemorrhages, lay fever and whooping cough or lung trouble. For all bronchial affections it has no equal. It relieves instantly, its sure cure. James M. Black of Asheville N. C., R. R. No. 4, writes it cured him of an obstinate cough after all other remedies failed. 50c and $1. A trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Penny's Drug Store.

A DREADFUL WOUND.

FORMER LINCOLN GIRL NOW A DUCHESS

MRS. PAYNE, NEE TATE, MARRIED TO FRENCH DUKE—HER ROMANCE.

The city papers for the past several days have had lengthy articles concerning the marriage of Mrs. Charles Hamilton, formerly Miss Lucy Tate of this city, to the Duke of Choiseul-Praslin in France. Col. W. P. Walton, editor of the Lexington Herald, who knew her well, while he resided here as editor of the Interior Journal, writes this sketch of the new Duchess in a recent issue of the Herald.

The dispatches tell of the recent marriage in Europe of Kentucky woman, whose life has been full of romance than the most imaginative novelists ever conceived. Miss Lucy Tate, born in Liberty, Casey county is now a Duchess, realizing the ambition of her girlhood to be a member of royalty. As a young girl the writer knew her as very handsome, of splendid figure and unusually bright mind and great beauty of manner. Her father, the late William P. Tate, who was a merchant accumulated a good fortune for that section and moved to Stanford, with his only daughter about the time she was budding into young womanhood, and she soon became a social favorite.

Possessed of much music talent, her father sent her to Boston to improve it, and she entered a conservatory there. During her stay at the "Hub" she became acquainted with Mr. Charles Hamilton Paine, a man of fine family and a member of a brokerage firm in that city. It was a case of love at first sight and after a reasonable period of courtship they were married in Stanford the writer witnessing the beautiful ceremony.

The happy couple were soon at home in Mr. Paine's palatial house in Boston, and Mrs. Paine became a leader of society in that city. Mr. Paine was a fine business man and recognizing in those days the possibilities of the cooper industry, invested largely in it with the result that he became a five-millionaire.

Yielding to the desire of his wife to go to Paris to live, Mr. and Mrs. Paine went thither and one of the most beautiful villas was purchased. They were soon sought after by those, worth while, and royal people were frequent visitors to the magnificent home. Three girls blessed the union and love seemed to fill the hearts of the couple with continual gladness.

Last year Mr. Paine had business in this country, which required his attention, and he came over. While in Boston and sitting at a restaurant table where he and his brother had gone to lunch and while the brother had gone out to answer a telephone call, he fell forward on the table from a stroke of apoplexy and was a corpse when his brother returned. The blow was a terrible one to the wife, as he had left in perfect health, and as soon as possible she came over to this country and saw her loved husband laid away in the family lot in Boston.

Shortly before Mr. Paine's untimely taking off, he being a great fancier of paintings, bought $200,000 worth of them from a man who represented himself as a count, but who really, as has since been proven, was an impostor, who claimed that the pictures he sold were the work of famous painters. It was afterwards discovered that the paintings were imitations and Mrs. Paine refused to pay the balance due on them. The spurious count brought suit against her, and in order to boost his cause made some reflections on Mrs. Paine, as he thought, she was unprotected in a strange country. Since Mrs. Paine has become the wife of the Duke of Choiseul-Praslin, the scamp will probably not be so forward in making the charge as he did. The trial of the case was set in Paris for yesterday.

Briefly, this is the history of an unassuming, though ambitious, Casey county, Kentucky, girl, who has frequently visited the friend of her girlhood in this city. Mrs. Lee F. Huffman a writer with the gift of making the details more prominent, might make a novel that would soon become a best seller, for the reason that the story is true and that the heroine is a Kentuckienne born and bred, with little thought when a girl that her life would prove so full of romance and interest. The local flavor has induced us to write this, which tells the real story that has been much distorted by the papers. A brother of the Duchess, Mr. Clarence E. Tate, of Stanford was here with the tobacco

Hustonville.

The Volunteer Sunday school class of the Christian church here will under the management of Miss Lou Cowan give an old fashion candy pulling on the evening of December 27, at 5 o'clock P. M., at Lair's hall. Everybody cordially invited.

The receipt for the most wonderful "black cake" of the age, that is known as the eggless, butterless and milkless will be sold at the candy pulling for the small sum of 10 cents and satisfaction guaranteed.

For the past week the numerous tobacco raisers in this vicinity have had the busiest season for two years. All day long load after load comes in from the several roads to this place. The past season acreage was large but the quality not quite up to last year crop. Some few crops have been sold at last year prices and some are holding for more than is generally offered. The offering for the week was about 60,000 pounds the majority of which was two grades. The better grades are being held by many in the hope of better prices.

A good farm at a big bargain for Christmas, a 165 acre farm with 130 acres tip top river bottom land, and the balance very rich hill land. 6 room dwelling, 2 large new tobacco barns and one tenant house, close to church and school. The price and terms should sell it quick. Price $6,000.

We bespeak for Mr. G. H. Elwood, 256, W. R. Williams & Co., the successor to Mr. S. W. Coffman at "Geneva" a splendid patronage in his new home. Mr. Floyd is an experienced merchant with a most enviable reputation, and entirely reliable in all his dealings. He is a time tried and fire tested gentleman.

Mr. John J. Newell will have a complete stock of groceries in one room of his house. Give him a trial and you won't regret it.

357 acres of fine Blue Grass land that lays well and hot tired. Has good improvements and in a fine county. Price until January 1st, $70 per acre after that date $75 lowest call W. R. Williams & Co.

110 acre farm with 4 room dwelling, the water at door, on pike and rural route, 50 acres of good tobacco land. A big Christmas bargain at $12.50 per acre. W. R. Williams & Co.

168 3/4 acres of fine Blue Grass land splendid 6 room dwelling large tobacco barn, 3 stock barns 135 acres in grass at a bargain price. W. R. Williams & Co.

The newspaper talk from Pittsburg that Cannitz will likely play the coming season with the Pirates is not Dreyfus is the whole cause of the trouble and Cannitz is not the first man outside of Paducah that Barney would like to fix. Cannitz will not be suspended either. Bait your hook with green bate and Barney is sure to bite. Barney only wants the $1,200 because Cannitz took the medicine the physician prescribed for him, and not one spoon full of the other. He can't fool all of the people all the time. See.

POPULAR YOUNG MAN SURPRISED FRIENDS

TOM NEWLAND QUIETLY MARRIED TO MISS ADA WHITE MONDAY AT LOUISVILLE

In the presence of a few intimate friends, the ceremony was said Monday afternoon in the parlors of the Willard Hotel at Louisville, which united in the holy bonds of matrimony Mr. Thomas D. Newland, Jr., of this city and Miss Ada White, of Bowling Green.

Mr. Newland had kept the approaching event a profound secret at home and only a few of his most intimate friends were aware of his approaching nuptials. He was accompanied to Louisville by Messrs. Hays Foster and Thurman K. Tudor, who were present at the happy event. His brother-in-law Rev. L. C. Kelley, of Elowah, Tenn., said the words which united this young pair for life. After a few days spent in Louisville, they will return here to make their home, taking apartments which Mr. Newland has already arranged for his bride on West Main street.

Mr. Newland is one of the best known and most progressive young business men in Stanford. For about ten years he was connected with the firm of Welsh and Wiseman in Danville, but returned home less than a year ago to assist his father in the conduct of their large grocery establishment. He is very popular and will be heartily congratulated on this occasion, for while his bride is known to few people here, she is said to be very attractive and a sweetness of disposition and charm of presence which makes friends of all who come to know her. She will be cordially welcomed to her new home by everyone.

Mr. Helm Right.

DECLARES AGAINST SPEAKER APPOINTING COMMITTEES.

Congressman Harvey Helm returned home from Washington Saturday to spend the Christmas holidays. Mr. Helm has been highly commended because he was one of the Kentucky members went on record against the new speaker, who will be Champ Clark, of Missouri appointing the committees of the House. Mr. Helm contended that this has been one of the abuses which the democrats charged against Speaker Cannon and the Republican regime. He declared that the democrats should begin on the right lines, by putting the committees directly into the hands of the members.

NOTICE OF SALE

Lincoln Circuit Court. Geo. Burton etc., Plaintiffs, vs Jas. Burton, etc., Defendants.

In obedience to a judgment rendered in the above styled court and action at the November term, 1910 the undersigned commissioner will on Monday, January 9th, 1911, County court day at 1 o'clock P. M., in front of the court house door in Stanford, Ky., sell at public outcry to the highest and best bidder on a credit of six months, the following described real estate in Lincoln county, Ky., to-wit:

"Beginning at a stake, corner to Nance, Hiram Lee and John Bright" thence S 3 1/2 W 62 poles to a stake in Gover's line, thence S 73 1/2 W 25 poles to a stake, thence N 5 1/2 W to Nance's line, thence N 73 1/2 W with Nance's line to the beginning, containing 9 3/4 acres.

The purchaser will be required to give bond with personal security, approved by the commissioner, the said bond bearing six per cent interest from date of sale, having the force and effect of a judgment, and further secured by lien on the land sold. The share of Mamie Burton an infant, will also remain a lien upon the land sold until her arrival at 21 years of age, or the execution of a bond by her guardian.

This December 20th 1910. GEO. D. FLORENCE, M. C. L. C. C. K. S. ALCORN, Atty. for Plff.

A SIMPLE SAFE GUARD FOR MOTHERS.

Mrs. D. Gilson, 326 Ingles Ave., Youngstown, Ohio, gained wisdom by experience. "My little girl had a severe cold and coughed almost continuously. My sister recommended Foley's Honey and Tar. The first dose I gave her relieved the inflammation in her throat and after using only one bottle her throat and lungs were entirely free from inflammation. Since then I always keep a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar in the house. Accept no substitutes. Sold by Shugars and Tanner.

A BARGAIN.

76 1/2 acres of land in Lincoln county. About 45 acres of fine tobacco land, and 14 acres of fine bottom land. Good tobacco barn 34x48—13 feet to eave. This barn is new. Other buildings are old. Good chance for
