

Don't Use a Scarecrow

To Drive Away the Mail Order Wolf

You can drive him out quickly if you use the mail order houses' own weapon—advertising. Mail order concerns are spending thousands of dollars every week in order to get trade from the home merchants. Do you think for a minute they would keep it up if they didn't get the business? Don't take it for granted that every one within a radius of a mile knows what you have to sell, and what your prices are. Nine times out of ten your price is lower, but the customer is influenced by the up-to-date advertising of the mail order house. Every article you advertise should be described and priced. You must tell your story in an interesting way, and when you want to reach the buyers of this community use the columns of this paper.

FOR JULY.

Copyright 1910, by C. H. Rieth.

When the Ballinger trial is ended, And the jury has said what it thinks; When the case has been made and defended With the wonted political winks— We shall smile—and gads, we shall need That feel it as well has been dropped, And the Guggenheim crowd will proceed To Resume where it was when it stopped.

The signs shall come down in the timber, And the patents shall tie up the coal. The law will get flabby and limber, And the trusts will do well on the whole. It always turns out in that manner, Although we may blush to confess it, And we do not regard it a banner Achievement, exactly, to guess it.

July is a tribute to Cæsar. One day, with some other insurgents, he talked by the Pillar of Pompey on things of political urgency. He was just on the point of explaining the key to some government riddle when a party of regulars jumped him and cut him in two in the middle.

There were Decius Brutus, the speaker, and Cassius, boss of the Senate, together with others insistent upon some political tenet. "The party forever!" they snouted, and what with that terrible slasher Servilius Casca great Cæsar as well had been run through a hasher.

At any rate, Antony found him cut up into fodder for fishes, and begged this request of the Romans, who granted the least of his wishes. And thus it has happened and shall be so long as the Tiber runs by the Pillar of Pompey that Cæsar shall live in the name of July.

The Fourth shall return to discover Us waiting in battle array, And what with one thing and another Regretting we won, anyway. The cannon shall boom, and the scramble For things on the medicine shelves Shall warn inexperienced countries Aspiring to freedom themselves.

The dynamite cap and the rocket shall remind us of tyranny thwarted, and the valiant forefather shall turn in his coffin to see what he started. The eagle shall mount on his pinions and circle the North and the South, and the rapid-fire orator stand on the platform and shoot off his mouth.

The latter, however, is harmless in a strict pathological way, but remains notwithstanding an evil we must in due season ally. Alas, how deficient is nature that might lay this pest on the shelf with railing that shooting his mouth off he gave the lockjaw to himself.

This tetanus, we are quite certain, has good and defensible uses, and all of its manifestations thus far have been only abuses. The idea, as we regard it, is not that it should be the cause of any more serious matter than locking the orator's jaws.

You know that we never hear of it except on the Fourth of July, and whenever some innocent gets it we forever are wondering why. Well, this is the fact of the matter, and by Jove, we are willing to bet it turns out in the long run that no one but a lot of old wind-jammers get it.

However, be that as it may be, And get whom the tetanus will, The jubilant youth of the nation Will resume with its shooting to kill. The safe and the sane celebration Will suit us who are not so skittish, But the youngsters have got to do something To show what we did to the British.

There never was anything safe in the way the forefathers attacked them, and as for the snar attacks, the old fellows seem to have lacked them. They simply cast fear to the bowwows and waded into the affray, and a boy does not think himself worthy if he can't shoot himself, anyway.

At any rate, Jeffries and Johnson will growl like a couple of poodles and observe independence with beating the hair off their mutual noodles. They'll alternate making the other leviathan howl for his mother, and if the country at random is lucky they'll manage to kill one another.

It's only a plan to make money, deserving the strictest of strictures, for what they will have is a race war, dividing what's made on the pictures. We've been pretty mad in this country for dollar, and power, and places, but this is the first time we've trafficked upon the abyss between races.

The fat occupant of the White House Will lie on his back in the grass Beneath the green Beverly maples Observing the aeroplanes pass. The chauffeurs will keep right on abouting. With seeing it's no one but Bill, And they'll sigh just to think what had happened.

AMERICA'S GREATEST WEEKLY.

TOLEDO BLADE,
TOLEDO, OHIO.

The Best Known Newspaper in the United States.

CIRCULATION, - - - 200,000

Popular in Every State.

The seventy-fourth year of its existence finds the Toledo Blade more popular than at any period of its remarkable career. It is now read each week by more than a million people. Its field is not circumscribed by State boundaries, but involves the length and breadth of the United States, giving it an unquestionable right of claiming to be the greatest national weekly newspaper in the country.

The Weekly Blade is distinctly a family newspaper. The one object of its publishers has always been to make it fit for the American home, for the fireside, and of interest to every member of the family. To fulfill this purpose it is kept clean and wholesome. The news of the world is handled in a comprehensive manner, and the various departments of The Blade are edited with painstaking care. The Household page is a delight to the women and children; current affairs are treated editorially without prejudice; the serial stories are selected with the idea of pleasing the greatest number of fiction lovers; the Question Bureau is a scrapbook of information; the Farmstead columns are conducted with the purpose of giving the patrons a medium for the exchange of ideas and information on farm topics. No department is neglected, but every feature is taken care of with the idea of making The Blade worth many times the price of subscription—one dollar a year. Sample copies mailed free. Address, THE BLADE, Toledo, Ohio.

Had they flown over Sagamore Hill. But not every man can be Cæsar, as someone has stated, alas! and in the due course of the matter somebody must lie in the grass. It's hard on a strenuous nation, afflicting us all in a way, but we'll look on the brighter side of it, and conclude it is good for the hay.

However, Time flies is a proverb, And one day, his foot on his gong And his engine back-pedaling, August Will come aeroplaning along.

I do your family washing easier, quicker and better; save rubbing and save the clothes; make them clean, wholesome and snowy white; brighten colors, soften woolsens and kill germ. A Timely Warning About Flies.

In every town and locality in the state many people have failed to heed the numerous warnings that have been issued against flies. Attention has been called to the fact that they are one of the most dangerous menaces to life and health with which mankind has to contend, being responsible for a large proportion of all cases of typhoid fever and diarrhoeal diseases of infants and many cases of tuberculosis and other contagious diseases.

They have caused thousands of deaths in Kentucky and will continue their work of destruction until housekeepers awaken to the fact and inaugurate a warfare that will result in their extermination. This can be accomplished definitely and effectively. It requires only THE REMOVAL OF FILTH. FLIES BREED IN FILTH and in filth alone. Without filth there can be no flies. More than 90% of them breed in stable manure and the balance in garbage, out-houses and other forms of refuse.

The fly season is at hand. Prompt action at this time may prevent many deaths during the summer and fall and a grave responsibility rests upon all health officers and other citizens. An immediate and thorough cleaning of premises should be effected and further accumulations of filth avoided. Stable manure should be kept in vaults or boxes screened or covered or frequently sprinkled with lime or kerosene and should be removed at least once a week.

Garbage receptacles should be carefully covered and the contents sprinkled with unslaked lime or oil. Privy vaults should be made fly-proof and their contents frequently sprinkled with lime. In addition to the measures for the prevention of the breeding of flies every effort should be made to prevent them from entering the house or having access to milk or other foods.

All doors and windows especially those of the kitchen and dining room should be screened. Food exposed for sale should be screened and ordinances to this effect should be enacted and enforced. Flies should be especially kept away from the sick and if one is discovered in the sick room it should be killed. Excreta and urine from the sick should be covered with fresh lime for an hour and then buried.

People who have cleaned their own premises should demand that their neighbors should do likewise and notify the Board of Health of any failures or refusals. It is important to remember that no house is safe unless every other one for a mile around is clean. This applies especially to tenant's houses and negro quarters.

The saving of life and suffering will amply repay for all the trouble and expenses

EITHER MAN MUST KILL THE FLY OR THE FLY WILL KILL THE MAN.
