POLICE FIND HEROIC ACT OF LITTLE BOY

THE CITY QUIET

ONLY A FEW DRUNKS ARE CONVEYED TO JAIL.

Reports from the police department state that an unusual quiet prevailed during the night in police circles and an unusually small number of arrests were made. No fights of moment occurred and only a limited number of drunks were apprehended.

A local man giving his name as John Doe was arrested for disturbing the municipal peace but was released on $5 bail and told to go home and "forget it."

Charles Morris again postponed his pilgrimage to the Keeley institute at Salt Lake and proceeded to "load up" with New Year's cheer. He was present at the noon-day spread at the station.

Mamie Freed, Sebena Vena and Mascott Durrant happened into the city New Year's eve from parts unknown and were promptly discovered by the police and arrested, the customary charge of vagrancy being made, and the customary fine of $10 being imposed and paid in the customary way.

Another "John Doe" was later arrested for being drunk. He failed to produce the required bail and is spending the day in jail.

Jane Miller, who was released only yesterday, fell again from grace and lies groaning upon her cot in the women's ward protesting that it was sickness rather than drink that landed her in jail. Jane, who is well known as a former Salt Lake real estate woman, was holding an informal levee on Twenty-fourth street at 2 o'clock this morning when arrested by Officer Hadlock.

Some sensational statements were made regarding her doings of the night, but they are thought to be groundless.

BURTON WILL BE NAMED ON SATURDAY

Columbus, O., Jan. 1.—All opposition to his nomination having disappeared during the last twenty-four hours, Theodore Burton, of Cleveland, will be named by acclamation for United States senator, succeeding Jos. B. Foraker, at a Republican caucus called for Saturday afternoon.

The caucus of Saturday, so far as it has to do with the nomination for senator will be perfunctory. Mr. Burton's election will come on Tuesday, January 21. He will serve out the congressional term ending March 4.

The fight will be written down as one of the most interesting in the history of public life of one of the most notable leaders of the senate—Joseph Benson Foraker.

ROSCOE REESE SAVES LEONORA MURDOCK FROM DEATH.

Orphan Child, With Wonderful Presence of Mind and Unequaled Courage, Prevents a Drowning.

While Leonora Murdock, a girl thirteen years old, was skating on Ogden river, near the ice houses west of Glenwood park, the ice gave way and the child was precipitated into the cold water. The crashing ice drew the attention of Roscoe Reese, an orphan boy nine years old, and the little fellow rushed to the aid of the sinking girl. Leonora had disappeared from view when he reached the edge of the break, but she came to the surface a moment after and Roscoe grabbed an arm and held on with all the strength of his small hands and arms. He screamed for help and was quite exhausted when older people, hearing his cries, hurried to the scene.

Leonora was dragged from the water in a benumbed condition, the ice-cold stream having chilled her entire body. Later she was conveyed to her home and revived.

The youngster, the hero of the accident, joined in the general rejoicing over the saving of the girl's life, but beyond being pleased, he did not seem to think that his brave act entitled him to any special favors and he joined with the other children in their holiday games, all unconscious of the fact that others looked upon him as deserving of a Carnegie medal and even more, a Carnegie award with which to obtain the care and opportunities of which death had robbed him.

Superintendent E. C. Manson returned this morning from a trip of inspection over the Salt Lake division and announced that John Shields had accepted the position of depot master at Ogden and would enter upon his duties at once. The first order issued to the new chief at the union passenger depot was as follows:

Ogden, Utah, Jan. 1, 1909.—John Shields, depot master. The secretary of the state board of health of Utah calls attention to the increasing number of smallpox victims in Utah. Will you kindly call the attention of your train callers to the matter and have them watch for suspicious cases, calling Dr. Joyce's attention to the same by telephone if such cases are discovered. E. C. MANSON, Superintendent. Seems Like Coming Home.

To a Standard reporter Depot Master Shields said he came up from Salt Lake this morning to enter upon his duties and it seemed a good deal like returning home again after a long absence, he having resided in Ogden for twelve years, while serving as a passenger conductor on the Oregon Short Line.

SECRET SERVICE WILL BE THOROUGHLY INVESTIGATED

Washington, Jan. 1.—That the proposed inquiry by the senate committee on appropriations into the methods of the secret service will be comprehensive was stated yesterday by Senator Hale, acting chairman of the committee. This announcement was called by an intimation that the inquiry might be prolonged until after the fourth of March to permit the summoning of President Roosevelt before the committee as a private citizen to testify regarding the operations of the secret service. Prefacing his remarks with the statement that the investigation would not be conducted in a sensational way, Senator Hale said:

"The extent and use, and the kind of work performed by the secret service under the direction of the heads of certain departments, shaming startlingly amplified during the last few years, it is this situation that has attracted the attention of the senate and is at the foundation of its investigation. The President's message is only secondary in its importance as affecting this investigation. The work of the committee will not be in any way limited as an answer to that message. Nor is there any intention of prolonging the investigation until after the fourth of March. Indeed, I doubt whether it ever entered the mind of the most imaginative of senators to call President Roosevelt a witness when he becomes a private citizen."

"The work covered by the secret service in the departments is large and I have no reason to believe that any department will decline to furnish the facts sought. Should there be any undue delay, however, the committee will see that a resolution is presented to the senate directing the heads of the several departments to furnish their information."

"There is very little in the senate investigation that has to do with intimations that members of congress or other house have been shadowed or spied upon by emissaries in the secret service. I doubt whether the President believes that senators and representatives are unduly sensitive upon this, and his message, when carefully read, will bear out the proposition that members of congress were not improperly influenced in their votes restricting the secret service because of any criminality on their part, the exposure of which was feared."
