OH, YOU PRETTY PIGSKIN CHASERS

It has been definitely decided to have a football game next Sunday between the picked town team known as the Outlaws, and the high school lads designated as the High Browns. The lineup of the teams subject to change without notice is as follows: Outlaws—Perry Ward, right end; Sid McPetree, left end; Harry Smith, right tackle; Hillery McKanna, left tackle; Jake Cropley, right guard; Jess Neville, quarter back; Max Pitzman, left half-back; Frank Booth, right half-back; C. Nichols, full back; Frank Murray, center; Louis Derry, left guard; High Browns—O. Paul, left end; A. King, left tackle; E. Sweeney, left guard; G. Nelson, center; Wm. Greer, right guard; R. Casey, right tackle; H. Fremming, right end; E. Jamison, quarter back; R. Healey, left half-back; Carl Johnson, full back; P. Johnson, right half-back.

The high school lads held practice yesterday on the high school grounds. They went through their paces with a vim that augurs well for the coming contest. Harvey Fremming and Mr. Paul are showing real speed, giving promise of good defensive work.

Nelson, Greer, King, Casey and Sweeney demonstrated some class in the positions assigned them. Half-backs Healey and P. Johnson; full-back C. Johnson and quarter back Jamison are all to the good. The whole team is on its toes all the time. If Ray Day gets his wrenched ankle in shape he will probably play right half-back.

The Outlaws practiced down in the baseball park yesterday and they went at their work in east-um-up style. Neville and Nichols are whipping this bunch of huskies into shape though they are letting the public think that they are outclassed and expect to lose.

There is a persistent rumor to the effect that Jess Neville has a card up his sleeve that will turn the trick. This will not be sprung until the last moment. It is said that he has a dark horse that will be placed in the line-up next Sunday, an old college player that has not forgotten how.

It is expected to keep right on with the practice until the game is called next Sunday. In the meantime many changes may be announced.

IN MEMORY OF DEPARTED BROTHERS

Elks' Hall was comfortably filled last night by the lodge members and others who attended the annual memorial exercises.

The beautiful and impressive ceremonial of the order was presented with exactness and in all its detail. The Treadwell orchestra was in attendance and rendered several excellent numbers. Montgomery A. Snow sang "Crossing the Bar" very effectively. Mrs. Mackay sang "Life's Recompense" in splendid voice. John B. Marshall delivered the memorial address which was full of new thought ideas. G. F. Forrest recited Bryant's masterpiece, "Thanatopsis," with much feeling. The quartet, Messrs Gabbs, Ferte, Egginton and Grey, rendered the "Vacant Chair."

WILL MAKE HOME HERE.

D. A. Thompson is expecting his wife and son, Paul, on the next trip of the Alki. Mr. Thompson came to Juneau a few weeks ago to visit his daughter, Mrs. Walter K. Zott, and liking the busy town of Juneau, decided to remain, providing he could persuade the rest of his family to join him here. Mr. Thompson has taken contract to paint and finish the new theatre building on lower Main street, and it is his intention to locate here permanently.

APPOINTMENTS.

Governor Clark on Nov. 27, appointed John Lyons, of Valdez, and Carl J. Brun, of Chignik, notaries public for the territory of Alaska.

WANTS FINAL PAPERS.

Peter Schramen, a native of Germany, Saturday made application for final citizenship papers. Henry States and J. G. Peterson are his witnesses.

MINERAL LOCATIONS.

Mrs. Swanson has filed location notice for five quartz claims in the Berner's bay section.

Geo. Noble filed location notice for two quartz claims, extensions on the Hallum property on Mt. Juneau.

Miss Burpee, the new matron for the White Pass hospital at Skagway, was a passenger on the Dolphin passing through Juneau Saturday night.

MINING COAL AT KATALLA

The government coal party which has been operating at Katalla will return South on the Yukon having finished their labors in that section. The party despite numerous setbacks in the shape of losing their supplies, have mined about one thousand tons of coal.

The work has been done on one group of claims, the famous Cunningham group located on Trout creek which has been before the public many times. These claims produce a fine grade of anthracite coal, recognized as one of the best steam coals of the country.

FROM THE SOUTH.

The Dolphin arrived from the South about 9 o'clock Saturday night bringing the following passengers for Juneau: S. Martel, Mrs. D. Marks, Frank Moore and Chas. Jovegnott.

Ben Yaeger of the Perseverance mine was in Juneau Friday.
