THE ORPHEUM GETS GREATEST FILM

Starting Thursday the Orpheum Theatre will exhibit what is conceded to be the peer of all feature film productions. Homer's Odyssey presages a new era in film making. It thrills and staggers imagination and the most remarkable of all is the fact of getting giant's lone eye with it. They then escape by binding each other under sheep belonging to the giant. After the voyagers are safely in their boat they throw back taunts to the enraged giant, who in a fit of extreme anger breaks off the top of a mountain and hurls it at the ship, just missing it. Continuing the little band of Ulysses encounter many strange adventures, and it sets one wondering how it is possible to photograph such enormities.

The production is in three reels of three thousand feet of gorgeously tinted colored film and will surely be a big surprise to the picture goers who see it. The regular show will be run in addition to this special.

WRANGELL BOOSTS STICKINE ROUTE

The Wrangell Chamber of Commerce has issued a pamphlet setting forth the advantages of the Wrangell-Stikine route to the new gold diggings, which they call the "Nahlin Placer Strike," but which has been variously described as the "Teslin," Jennings river, or "Silver Creek" districts by others. The Wrangell business men represent that the distance for the overland trip, from Telegraph creek, on the Stikine, to be 115 miles.

The circular, in part, reads: "In view of the conflicting reports in circulation in regard to the extent and exact location of the recent placer gold discovery northeast of Wrangell in British Columbia, the Wrangell Chamber of Commerce feel it due to themselves and the public to make a statement pertaining to the special advantages of the route to the new strike via Wrangell and Telegraph creek (over all other routes recommended from other sources). The Wrangell Chamber of Commerce is not, at this early date, in a position to confirm or deny the discovery of gold in paying quantities. None of the parties who have staked claims appear to have come out as yet, except the Indian, Skookum Jim, who is understood, on good authority, to have one claim recorded on each of the three new creeks discovered.

ALASKAN MAKES FORTUNE IN ENGLAND

Nat Lyons, formerly an Alaskan printer and prospector, turned his Northern experience into profit to himself in an unusual manner. He was visiting last year at his old home, St. Ives Bay, Cornwall, England. His connection with the stream tin deposits of Seward peninsula enabled him to recognize the tin in the seasons of his native land. Assays disclosed that the sand carried 15 pounds of tin to the square yard, and as the tin is worth 40 cents a pound it made the sand worth $6 to the yard.

Lyons organized a company that acquired 1,200,000 square yards of the Cornwall sands, and the $500,000 necessary to hold and develop it was quickly secured.

Cornwall has been producing tin for many centuries, but the sands along this particular shore were never believed to be valuable until the practiced eye of the Alaskan discerned its riches.

Lyons' last residence in Alaska was at Iditarod, where he was employed on the Iditarod Pioneer.

FIRST BANKING BILL BEFORE LEGISLATURE

The first banking bill to make its appearance in the Legislature has been introduced by Representative Milo Kelly, of Knik. It is understood that Representative W. T. Burns, of Fairbanks, has a mining bill in course of preparation, but so far it has not been given to the public.

Among the salient features of Mr. Kelly's bill are the following: It makes the Secretary of the Territory ex-officio Bank Examiner; requires a minimum of $25,000 paid up capital; not less than five incorporators; every director to be a bona fide stockholder; no money shall be loaned to any director or other officer, nor shall an overdraft be permitted them; makes it unlawful for any bank to purchase the capital stock in whole or part of any other bank, except where it is made necessary in order to get security or satisfaction of a debt previously contracted with the bank; each bank is assessed $100 to bear the expense of maintaining a bank examiner; all banks must report to the bank examiner at least three times a year.

FISHER'S BLEND FLOUR is a scientific combination of Eastern Hard Wheat and Western Soft Wheat, preserving the best qualities of each. It costs you from 20 to 25% less than a straight Eastern Hard Wheat Flour—does
