GLEANINGS FROM GREAT NORTHERN EMPIRE

Fifty feet of the Chitina bridge was carried out by the breaking up of the ice in the Copper river early this month.

The eBrry postoffice on Ester creek, Fairbanks district, has been re-established. It had been discontinued by the Department.

Six United States soldiers were indicted by the grand jury at the March term of the United States District Court at Nome for felonies.

The Sons of Norway have made such a success of their organization at Petersburg that the Norwegian women of that town are about to organize a society of the Daughters of Norway.

The Ketchikan Miner says preparations are under way for the establishment of an All-Alaskan magazine at that place. It is proposed to call it the Alaskan Ay-Keh-Nam.

The first clean-up of the season in the Fairbanks was on Eva creek and amounted to $26,000. It was much more than the owners of the dump

OPERA COMING TO JUNEAU JUNE 2

The Juvenile Bostonians will open at the Orpheum in Juneau Monday evening June 2, with the "Dream Girl," and close Tuesday night, June 3, with "The Rose of Blandeen."

This may be the last tour of the West that the Juvenile Bostonians will make for some years. Their success last season in the Middle West attracted the attention of the Shuberts and other New York managers who made flattering inducements to Cosgrove and Lang for an Eastern invasion. Considering the very few Western organizations that make an Eastern success this offer is one that establishes the merit and the public favor of the organization.

The eighth season of the Juvenile Bostonians will be the most notable tour of the organization. Mrs. Lang is still the director who has been responsible for the past triumphs. Mr. George Bromley will continue as musical director and his success in training the voices of the young ladies gives every indication that within a few years not a few of these girls will be numbered among the great expected. It was the result of two and a half days' sluicing.

The gas boat Sockeye burned to the water's edge May 15th in Frederick Sound. Ed. Baggan, the owner of the boat, and Louis Miller escaped from the boat and reached their home port at Petersburg in a row boat. The explosion of the gas engine fire.

Louis Mohr, a pioneer of the Fairbanks district, dropped dead as he was entering near the depot at Goldstream, Fairbanks district, May 5th. He owned claims on Spruce creek and Lost Horse creek. Heart failure caused the death.

The Grand Trunk Steamship Prince Albert was aground last week at Port Simpson bay near Prince Rupert several days. Beyond denting some of her plates and having to discharge some of her cargo there was little damage done. She was floated last Friday.

Herbert Mills, of Kasan, one of the pioneers of Southeastern Alaska, died at that place May 16th. Mills was going from Kasan to Hadley and stayed all night at the home of the watchman at the Mt. Andrew mine. When the latter went to call Mills for his breakfast he discovered that he had breathed his last during the night.

Dependence.
"Women are terribly unreasonable!" exclaimed the small man with straw-colored hair.

"Trouble with your wife?"
"Not exactly. She told me to buy myself a hat and a pair of shoes, but she didn't say a word about whether it was to be a straw or a felt or whether she wants me to get low-cut or high shoes. Why will some women be so thoughtless and unreasonable!"

Isn't it the Truth.

Some men have a knack of making trouble for other people and then coming around and sympathizing with them.

Pleasures of Observation.

"What is your favorite game?"
"Golf."
"But you never play it."
"Probably that's the reason I like it. The men whom I have seen playing it abused it terribly and didn't appear to get any enjoyment out of the fresh air and the scenery."

Forced out of business by owner of building. Sale to run only 10 more days.

operatic stars of the country. Cosgrove and Lang, the managers, have assembled a clever staff of competent assistants and have provided for this year's tour the best scenic, electrical and costume equipment that money can buy. Everything is complete.

No age of woman is more attractive than "sweet sixteen." And when a score of young ladies of that charming age are assembled in an organization, it goes without saying that the company is most fascinating. The Juvenile Bostonians, organized eight years ago and now on its eighth season, has the cream of the "sweet sixteen" girls. Many of them were in the original Juvenile Bostonians as children and have been with it continuously. They are now past the child age but not yet real grown-ups, retaining in consequence that charm and beauty of youth so characteristic of "sweet sixteen."

The several years of experience gained by these young girls has given them stage presence, confidence and a knowledge of their art but it has not spoiled them or made them stagey. They still view their work with enthusiasm of children, and are still able to maintain the juvenile standard.

MILITARY PROMOTIONS ON MERIT ONLY

WASHINGTON, May 27—In the designation of Capt. Robert S. Griffith, U. S. N., to be chief of the bureau of steam engineering, the administration has followed the declaration made that the army and navy appointments shall go by merit and not by favor.

Capt. Griffith was chosen on his record. Not a single letter advocating his advancement from the post of assistant to be chief of the bureau did he inspire to be laid before the President or the Secretary of the Navy nor did he indicate that he desired or expected the promotion.

REDFIELD AND THE THREATENING EMPLOYERS

Secretary Redfield meets the Associated Employing Lithographers on their own chosen ground in his address at Washington last night. He can threaten as well as they. They threaten reductions of work and wages if the Underwood bill passes. He threatens a Government inquiry in that case which will put them to the proof of the necessity. Any Government coercion of industry in this? Rather is it simply a case of industry trying to coerce the Government.—New York World.

PROLONGED CONTEST ON TARIFF BILL NOT WANTED

As this newspaper views the situation, there is no possible profit to the Republican party or to business interests in entering upon prolonged opposition in the Senate to the Underwood tariff bill.

Certainly the Republican party is not just in protracting this extraordinary session of Congress. If unimpaired debate be attempted, let the cloture be invoked; if a breaking of the quorum be sought, then resort to the Reed rules and count a quorum.

A few innovations in the United States Senate at this juncture will not provoke the nation's wrath. Action is wanted, and speedily.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

WHITEHORSE EXPECTS BIG CROWD NEXT SATURDAY

Excellent progress is being made in the matter of arranging for the celebration of the King's birthday on May 31. Reports coming from Alaska coast towns are to the effect that their people are all coming with bells and the indications are that Whitehorse will entertain a banner crowd on that occasion. Good baseball will be played and good money will be paid the winning teams, there being first and second prizes.

Whitehorse has better baseball material this year than she has had for several years, but the same thing is said of other towns over the line.—Whitehorse Star.
