JUDGE GIVES MAT CARLSON CHANCE TO BE GOOD

DOUGLAS, March 17.—Mat. Carlson is afflicted with the disease known as intemperance, and, last evening the symptoms were manifested in a manner that attracted the attention of the city police. With the result that he was taken before Judge Henson this morning and given twenty-five days in the city jail. Mat. is a good worker when not afflicted with the aforementioned disease, so the Judge suspended sentence and permitted

Mat. to go to work, which is said to be the best panacea for such peculiar illnesses.

WOMAN DRAWS A FINE; MAN JUMPS HIS BAIL

DOUGLAS, March 17.—Oscar Forsstrom and Annie Mackie, should have appeared in the municipal court this morning according to the rules of the police department, and answered to the charge of being disorderly. Oscar put up a bond of forty dollars last evening and said he would defend himself in court today, but he did not appear and so forfeited his bail money. Annie showed up on time and told her story to the Judge, who believed that she was only a trifle too exuberant in her patriotic celebration of the Celtic holiday, so he extracted a fine of five dollars from her and sent her to her home in Juneau.

ST. PATRICK'S BALL AT DOUGLAS TONIGHT

DOUGLAS, March 17.—Great preparations are under way for the Alaska Catholic Club St. Patrick's ball that will take place at the Roller rink this evening. It is proposed to make it the best St. Patrick's ball that ever has taken place in this city. The Ladies' Auxiliary has prepared an excellent supper which will be served at midnight in the balcony. A stand has been arranged in the center of the hall for the musicians and the floor is in excellent condition. The grand march will begin at 9 o'clock sharp. The ferry boat will leave for Juneau at 1:30 to accommodate those from that city.

BEAR HUNTERS' STORIES THRILL TREADWELL PEOPLE

TREADWELL, March 17.—The stories of the five bear hunters, C. J. Opperman, George Eitz, J. J. Kennedy, William Mitchell and Pierre de Montozan, increase in thrills with each telling of the harrowing details. The bears have likewise taken on enormous proportions. In fact were not the men so well known some of their recitations would be unbelievable. Artist Mecklem, like all men of genius, is one of the doubters and has gone so far as to sketch a cartoon depicting the scenes of the adventure, which sketch is being shown around the club-room where it is causing some diversion. One of the men is shown as doing the tango with a lop-eared brute, another is jumping from peak to peak in pursuit of a hump-shouldered grizzly, while along the beach is strewn dead carcasses like the hoots of Homer. But the adventurers are home again and they are glad of it—so glad.
