HALLECK & ARMSTRONG
 NOW OWN THE NORTHERN
 DOUGLAS, March 26.—Bing Halleck and Ed. Armstrong, two popular gentlemen of the island, have taken over the Northern Bar and will hereafter conduct the business of that institution. It is the intention of the new owners to have Mr. Armstrong operate the picture show and entertainment feature of the place, while Mr. Halleck will look after the patrons of the bar.

 Bing Halleck is one of the best known men of the North. For years he was in charge of the bar on the old Cottage City, whose ribs are now bleaching in the waters of Cape Mudge. For the past two years he has resided in Douglas where he presided as manager of the Hotel Hunter. Some repairs will be made in the building and the front is to be repainted and it is very probable that a new name will be given it, that of "Bing's Place."

NEW CABLE OPERATOR
 FORMERLY AN ALASKAN
 DOUGLAS, March 26.—Henry W. Irvine, the new cable operator, who is to succeed Mr. De Long, was formerly stationed at Skagway, where he formed many friendships. The Skagway colony in Douglas and Treadwell will welcome his coming on account of previous acquaintances. Since leaving Alaska Mr. Irvine has become a man of family and it is understood that Mrs. Irvine is coming north with him.

DOUGLAS NEWS NOTES

The newspaper rumor that B. F. Miller had purchased the Gillis house, is without foundation, according to the statement of Mr. Gillis.
 Capt. York announces that the tug Alice, owned by the James sawmill has had her new boilers installed and is now in the water, awaiting inspection, which will take place tomorrow. She will go into service after inspection.
 Registration for spring election is a slow process, only 131 males and 9 females having placed their names on the rolls so far. The city clerk says there should be a registration of about three hundred, but present indications are that it will fall far short of that number.
 Chief Deputy Jack Mullen is in the city this afternoon selecting men for a jury.
 The gasoline launch Teddy is relieving the Lone Fisherman on the Douglas-Juneau-Sheep Creek run, while the latter is being repainted.

TREADWELL NOTES

TREADWELL, March 26.—The frost last night caused the water pipe on St. Ann's avenue to crack in two places, and the fire monitor at the corner of the club building burst. Repairs were made this morning.
 On account of a lack of heat last evening, the boxing class was postponed. Repairs to the boilers have been made and steam has again been turned on.
 Regular firemen meeting tomorrow night.
 The Treadwell band will give its first concert since its reorganization under Paul Kegel, Saturday night, during the regular Saturday night entertainment. The bandsmen will appear in uniform and furnish the music in place of the orchestra which has been supplying that part of the entertainment heretofore.
 The boxing class meets tonight.
 The window decorator at the Treadwell store has an artistic display, consisting of five pillars, covered with snow white goods, representing marble columns, white stretched overhead in the beams, giving the whole an appearance of the hanging gardens of Babylon. Silk and delicate fabrics are scattered at the bases of the pillars like lilies and creeping vines of rare coloring.
