"Perhaps it is not generally known," continued the late Washington visitor, "that the charges made against these Senators by Delegate James Wickensham, was not delivered in a speech in Congress, but were extended in the Congressional Record under the privilege that is granted members."

MAYOR O'CONNOR PROMISES TO HELP

Douglas and Treadwell are to join Juneau in making the Alaska railroad celebration in the Capital City of Alaska something worth while. The towns across the channel will declare a holiday and the population will come over to Juneau and swell the throng, according to Mayor M. J. O'Connor, of Douglas, who was present at the meeting of the celebration committee yesterday noon.

The committee is much encouraged over the manner in which the celebration idea is being received and is now collecting funds with which to defray the expense of preparing industrial exhibits and symbols representing the progress and development of the country. It is desired that the parade shall be something out of the ordinary and for this reason the day will not be announced until the preparations have reached the stage that there can be no failure in any particular.

The pageant is to be recorded by moving picture machines and will be sent all over the world. In the meantime collections are being made and plans formulated for the big event.

BANNER YEAR PREDICTED FOR ATLIN SECTION

James McCloskey, who arrived on the Humboldt yesterday from an extended visit in the States, predicts that this will be a banner year in the Atlin country. The McCloskey brothers, James and John, of Juneau, are among the heavier Atlin mining operators and are thoroughly familiar with conditions that exist there. Speaking of the season's outlook Mr. McCloskey said:

"We expect to begin earlier, to work more men and to take out more gold than in any season since we commenced operating. John will go in and start operations about April 15, and I will remain here until July before going in. The Atlin country will have a remarkably successful season this year. Everybody will do better than in past years. The strike on O'Donnell river will help swell the output to a large amount compared with previous years, and conditions are generally favorable for a good season."

JUNEAU BASE BALL NOW ORGANIZED

J. C. McBRIDE, J. R. WILLIS, MILTON WINN, TOM RADONICH, A. N. HUMPHRIES, PERRY JACKSON, R. J. WULZEN.

The foregoing constitute the board of managers chosen at the mass meeting of fans in the Council chambers last night to take command of all matters relating to base ball for the Town of Juneau during the season of 1914. This committee will have a general supervision of the grounds, organize the representative team of the town and provide for its management. J. C. McBride is chairman of the board.

The finance committee reported that $2457.50 had been subscribed to the fund for preparing the new base ball grounds in the recreation park donated to the city by the Alaska Gastineau Mining company. It was also voted to transfer the $348 left over from last year's base ball fund for ground improvement into the present fund. The finance committee stated in making their report that they had not asked contributions from wage earners and had no intention of doing so, but later in the season if it became necessary to raise money the committee might institute a tag day or something of that nature.

Ground Breaking. The office of H. T. Tripp to donate his services in superintending the work of improving the grounds in Last Chance basin was favorably received, and it was officially announced that tomorrow at high noon or thereabouts, J. C. McBride would formally break ground in the new park, wheeling the first barrow load of dirt to be moved in the improvement project. It is quite evident that cameras will be on hand at this event.

It was one of the most enthusiastic gatherings of fans ever held in Juneau. J. B. Marshall was chosen chairman of the meeting and H. R. Shepard was made secretary. Everyone seemed to be well pleased that the grounds had been secured in Last Chance basin, and it is believed the public will be better pleased with the new location than with the old. The distance to the grounds is not quite so great and the land being higher and free from the sea winds, will be much more favorable, besides the park can be beautified owing to its favorable location. It is planned to construct a plank walk out to the place from town.

Before the meeting closed a vote of thanks was passed, extending the appreciation of the gift from the Alaska Gastineau Mining company to the City of Juneau.

BERING COAL NOT SUITABLE FOR NAVY

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels reported to Congress yesterday afternoon that the coal of the Bering river fields is unsuitable for use in the navy according to tests made by the Geological survey officials, officials at Annapolis, and aboard the Maryland. He said that all of the tests were unfavorable except that the Alaska coal made less smoke than normal. The report states that the Bering river coal is incapable of generating a sufficient quantity of steam and could produce only about 60 per cent. efficiency of power.

Director of the Bureau of Mines Holmes is quoted as authority for the statement that the Bering coal could be mined only at great cost. He says it is full of faults, and that it would be chiefly valuable if turned into coke and shipped.

DANIELS FAVORS NAVAL MERCHANT SHIPS

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels announced yesterday that he favors the Massachusetts, who has proposed that the government establish a line of fast naval cruisers to carry mail and passengers and freight between the United States and South America, Atlantic and Pacific ports.

This plan is one that was suggested first by William J. Bryan several years ago, following an extensive tour of South America. Mr. Bryan suggested it as a method of extending American commerce without the evils of subsidies and in a manner where the government would be benefitted, in case of necessity, by the investment in the ships.

BIG DIVIDENDS ON 70 CENTS A TON PROFIT

Thompson, Towle & Company's News Letter, speaking of the profits of the Utah Copper Company, one of the Jacking properties, and low grade operators, says: "An analysis of the last quarterly report of the Utah Copper Co., develops the interesting point that from 2,113,080 tons of rock treated, which averaged 1.2165% copper, net earnings of $1,479,787 were derived. This is just 70c per ton profit. "Of course the low toner of the rock treated the past year was largely responsible for this, but it is interesting to note the ability of the Utah Copper Co. to develop such large net earnings when it gets but 70c per ton profit out of the mining, transportation and milling of a ton of rock. This should likewise prove of considerable interest to stockholders of the Alaska Gold Mines Co., as the original estimates of that company only promised a profit of 75c per ton of rock treated."
