DOUGLAS NEWS NOTES

of Juneau and Gus Roene's Roene plane, now about completed at the Perry warehouse, and which will be launched Monday. The latter craft is being constructed entirely of heavy galvanized sheetiron, by the unaided efforts of Mr. Roene, an expert tinsmith and metalworker of this city. It is about 30 feet in length and eight feet beam, with air tight compartments and a cabin forward. The ribs are of angle iron. The new model has all the appearance of being serviceable, and when equipped with an engine may show some surprises in the way of speed.

DOUGLAS, May 8.—Marshal Shafer is riding the city of undesirables. A couple young men claiming homes in Juneau arrived here a few days ago and started to sleep in the obscure places. They had no visible means of support and the marshal took them before the judge who administered a fine of five dollars. They didn't pay and took three days in the city lockup on a diet of bread and plenty of water. Yesterday they were escorted to the ferry boat and told to go. They went.

WORK STARTS ON DOUGLAS THREE STORY HOTEL
DOUGLAS, May 8.—Yesterday afternoon the first shovelful of dirt was turned on what Mr. E. H. deWolf promises will be one of the prettiest and commodious hotels in Southeastern Alaska. Mr. deWolf was there with his shovel, as were a large number of citizens from both Douglas and Juneau. Bing Halleck christened "The Douglas" with the breaking of a bottle of wine and scattering the bubbles over the site of the new project. W. H. Case of Juneau had his photographer there to take a number of views and the preliminaries were being arranged.

DOUGLAS CITY BARBER SHOP
is now located in their new quarters where they are in a position to meet and treat all alike. Our work and baths speak for themselves. Best of workmanship in the city.—MAYNOR AND MILLER

After a visit of several weeks in the States, Mrs. E. Eggen returned this morning on the Jefferson, bringing her sister, Miss R. Fager, with her. Elmer E. Smith and Mayor M. J. O'Connor have gone to Warm Springs for a few days outing. They left on His Honor's gasboat Celtic. They intend to do a little bear hunting while out.

This morning Mr. deWolf informs us that he has let the contract for the ground sluicing for the basement to Julius Johnson and work of removing the debris and excavating the basement will begin today. There will be five or six hundred cubic feet of dirt to be removed before the concrete piers for the basement can be placed. The first load of lumber was hauled to the grounds at ten o'clock this morning.

TREADWELL NOTES.
TREADWELL, May 8.—A new ore car, manufactured in the Treadwell shops, was run out yesterday and caused considerable interest. It is a gondola type, made of steel and mounted on two pairs of trucks, and about three or four times larger than the ordinary pattern of ore cars. It weighs 12,200 pounds.
A new bubble drinking fountain has been installed on the walk in front of the baseball grounds.
Tonight the Treadwell firemen will meet.
