

Conference Fails and Civil War in Sight

LONDON, July 25.—Prime Minister Asquith and Speaker of the Commons Lower this morning informed King George that the conference of party leaders summoned by His Majesty could not bridge the difference between the Nationalists and Ulsterites over the home rule bill.

It is now conceded that the conference has been a complete failure as far as practical results are concerned, and that the Irish question is more critical than ever.

MINER DIES FROM EXPOSURE AND ALCOHOL

William Burns, a miner formerly in the employ of the Alaska Gastineau Mining company, died in St. Ann's hospital this morning from exposure and alcoholism, the former resulting from the latter. He was found in an unconscious state at an early hour this morning in his cabin on the beach just South of the Alaska Juneau mill-site. Death ensued within an hour after entering the hospital, and he never regained consciousness. He had been in the cabin two days cold and wet and without food, but was not discovered until this morning, although he was heard moaning the day before. Deceased was 43 years of age and a native of New York State. He had no friends or relatives in this country.

COUNTY FAIR CAST HAVING GREAT FUN

Rehearsals for the Juneau "County Fair" were held at Eiks' hall yesterday afternoon and evening. The afternoon rehearsal was the rehearsal of little ones. A swarm of about 100 little girls crowded into the hall each eager to have her little part assigned. There was not much time wasted in assigning as these little ones have parts in only two choruses—one, the Teddy Bear chorus and another, the barn dance chorus. The Teddy Bear chorus is the biggest attraction possibly, as it has the full 100 little girls in it and the sight of so many little tots all in a pretty little drill presents a most beautiful picture. The other child's chorus is also a pretty interesting part of the entertainment, and really requires more real acting and talent.

The evening rehearsal was the rehearsal of the older characters and it was alive with interest. The best parts of the play were all assigned and read and the musical numbers were also given out. Miss Annie Sara Beck, the director, showed herself well fitted for the work she is undertaking and each character entered well into the part she assigned. Everyone there seemed to echo: "Won't it be fun?" Did anyone ever see anything so silly and foolish as a country bride and groom going to a country fair and their wedding "tower." The bride and groom in this particular country fair are a sight to behold. Their costumes are the real thing and they eat more peanuts and drink more lemonade than you would expect of a dozen persons. But at the groom says, "We ain't ever calculating to go on another wedding tower so I might as well spend a whole two days wages on you, so it's all right this once." Widow Smithers, whose fourth husband has just died has not yet entirely combed her hair but she reads it with great ability and will have her speeches about her four dead partners down pat before July 31.

LAST BALL GAME LIKELY TOMORROW

The Gastineau channel baseball season for 1914 will be brought to a close, probably with the playing of the thirteenth game tomorrow, on the Treadwell grounds. This is the tentative agreement recently reached by L. S. Ferris, manager of the Douglas-Treadwell team and Manager R. W. Wilson of the Gastineau team. Thus far each team has won six games and tomorrow's game being the deciding game of the series promises to bring out a banner crowd.

The series was, as originally agreed upon, to consist of 15 games to be played alternately on each side of the channel with a toss-up for the deciding game. Both managers are anxious to take their teams to Skagway and play an exhibition game in the Gem City during the progress of the Democratic convention and by closing the season tomorrow this can be arranged. It is expected that the teams will leave for Skagway next Saturday or Sunday and play Monday.

LONDON'S "SEA WOLF" PLEASURES BIG AUDIENCE

Jack London's "Sea Wolf," as adapted to the photo-play art and presented to the public in the Juneau theatre last night, is a pronounced success. The great sea story is reproduced in animated scenes with a fidelity that is remarkable considering the difficulty of bringing out book characters complete in animated pictures. From the sinking of the ferry in San Francisco harbor, to the finale, the principal events, filled with excitement and absorbing interest, are faithfully reproduced. The company engaged in making the play a success have done their work well. Boswell as the "Sea Wolf" is great, and all the minor characters are well represented. The little theatre was filled with Juneau society folk who turned out to witness the first performance here and they all went home satisfied. This is the second play of "Famous Players" series of photo-plays that are to be presented in Juneau. The "Sea Wolf" will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night.

ORPHEUM CHANGE TONIGHT.

"Drink's Lure" is a strong object lesson by the Biograph Co. "Tempest Tossed" is of a ship wreck and storm at sea with a pretty little story interwoven. "The 13th Man" is a college drama by the Essanay Co. "His Honor, the Mayor," with John Bunny and Flora Finch, is a sure enough laugh. The above program will be shown this evening.
Program for Sunday and Monday: "Fate's Weekly"—showing happenings at San Francisco, St. Louis, Princeton, Panama Canal, and other interesting events, closing with "Mutt and Jeff," calling that traveling in a Pullman car is not what it is cracked up to be.
"The Grip of a Charlatan," is a clever exposure of a modern fad, by Alice Joyce and Tom Moore, of the Kalem Co.
"The New Day's Dawn" is a good Edison drama by Rev. E. B. Stockton.
"The Amateur Ice Man" is a Lubin comedy-drama with Arthur Johnson and Lottie Briscoe in leading roles.
"The Stenographer's Troubles" is a farce, by the Vitagraph artists, including John Bunny and Florence Turner.
Remember five good reels for the regular price, 10 and 25 cents. (An account of not revealing the right series of "What Happened to Mary," it will not be shown this week. ()

CAILLAUX JUDGE TO FIGHT DUEL

PARIS, July 25.—A challenge was sent this morning by Louis Albaladejo, presiding judge of the court that is trying Mme. Caillaux by Louis Da-gour, one of the three judges who are sitting with him, because the latter, commenting upon the ruling of the court admitting the Caillaux letters, presented by Mme. Gueydan, to the jury, exclaimed, "you dishonor us, sir."

Albaladejo named as his seconds in the duel Gen. Jules Dalstein, former military governor of Paris, and Amlele Bruneau de Labori. Mme. Caillaux collapsed. Mme. Caillaux collapsed when the reading of the Mme. Gueydan letters began. She was carried out of the court room in an insensible condition. The court suspended its proceedings. M. WILSON TO WAIT FOR SENATE ACTION

WASHINGTON, July 25.—President Woodrow Wilson has determined that he will not name a successor to Thos. D. Jones, whose nomination for membership on the Federal bank reserve board was withdrawn, until the Senate acts upon the nomination of Paul M. Warburg, of New York.

It is believed that the criticism of the Senate by the Eastern press for its action practically compelling the withdrawal of Jones' nomination will have the effect of causing it to confirm the nomination of Warburg in spite of the opposition of Senator James A. O'Gorman, of New York.

TREND OF COMMENT IS NOW WILSONWARD

Woodrow Wilson, albeit his administration is traveling a rough road, is not to be underestimated politically. He is stronger than his party.

If half the newspapers of the land are today criticizing his policies the other half are just as earnestly and aggressively championing him. In the independent press of the East, it is significant to note, more is to be found in praise of him than of criticism and censure. So, too, of the magazines that go in for discussion of politics and current affairs. The trend of the comment is now Wilsonward.

Administration Seeking Amnesty.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The State Department is redoubling its efforts to convince Carranza that he owes the civilized world a pledge that Mexico shall be obtained by peaceful parley rather than taken by battle. NEW YORK, July 25.—The New York Herald quotes Representative Julius Kahn, of California, author of the resolution asking for information concerning the negotiations and relations of the United States government with the Mexican Constitutionalists, as saying that the resolution was pigeon-holed by the House foreign relations committee at the request of Secretary of State William J. ST. PETERSBURG, July 25.—The rapidly developing crisis between Austria-Hungary and Servia became so serious this afternoon that orders were issued looking to the immediate mobilization of the Russian army. It was announced to the diplomatic representatives of the Powers here that Russia will go to war rather than permit the downfall of Servia.

Austria Preparing for War.

VIENNA, July 25.—Austrian and Hungarian officers of the reserves who are living abroad have all been notified to be in readiness to join their regiments immediately. Everywhere there are signs that the Nation is preparing for war. Regiments are being recruited to their full strength, and ammunition is being distributed. MAY PROSECUTE CLAFLIN FOR HAVING BANK

NEW YORK, July 25.—Talk of prosecuting the officials of the H. B. Claflin company for violating the State banking act has been revived. It has been shown that the company had large accounts that were kept for country merchants, subject to draft at any time, upon the balances of which interest was paid at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent. Several Alabama and Mississippi mercantile houses had from $4500 to $29,000 each with the company on that basis. Claflin attorneys insist that the banking laws were not violated by this business practice.

Claflin Says Notes Are Regular.

John Claflin has again denied the constantly arising rumor that he negotiated notes of any of the branch stores of the New York house except those of which it was the sole owner. Several millions of the notes of the branch stores were made at their New York offices without the knowledge of the local managers. Claflin's investigation has corroborated the statement of John Claflin that he or NeW York company, for the benefit of which the notes were issued, owned all the capital stock of the note issuing companies.
