REMEASUREMENT IS NOT REQUIRED
Collector of Customs John F. Pugh this morning received telegraphic instructions from J. O. Davies, collector for the Port of San Francisco, and promulgated by E. T. Chamberlain, U. S. Commissioner of Navigation, for the purpose of facilitating the change of foreign built ships to American register under the act recently passed by Congress and signed by President Wilson. The San Francisco collector of customs was directed to repeat the instructions to all Pacific coast collectors and Honolulu.
The instructions are that "Merchant vessels of Great Britain, Belgium, Denmark, Austria Hungary, German Empire, Italy, Sweden, Norway, Spain, Netherlands, Russia, Finland, Japan, and France will be deemed to be of tonnage denoted in their certificates of register and other national papers and it should not be necessary for such to be remeasured at any port in the United States, the measurement laws of those countries being similar to the laws of the United States, according to the Act of August 5, 1882." "This regulation supersedes the department's regulations included in Article 85 of the Customs Regulations and so much of Article 87 as may conflict with this order. Approved by E. F. Sweet, acting secretary."
Advance sheets giving in brief the salient points of the recent act providing for American register of foreign built ships, have also been received at the local customs house.
