ACCOUNT OF TILTON-CARTWRIGHT WEDDING
In the society columns of the Seattle Times of September 3, appears the following account of the wedding at Seattle of Mr. Clarence E. Cartwright, of this city, to Miss Edna Pierce Tilton, of that city:
"The home of Dr. and Mrs. Edward W. Tilton, 2022 Nob Hill Avenue, was the scene of a pretty wedding Sunday evening, August 30, at 6 o'clock, when their daughter Edna Pierce, was united in marriage to Mr. Clarence E. Cartwright, of Juneau, Alaska, formerly of this city.
"A number of close friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Sydney Strong in the living room, under a beautiful bower of autumn leaves intertwined with white asters and white sweet peas. The same flowers, with green foliage and autumn leaves, were used throughout the decorations of this room.
"Preceding the ceremony 'A Perfect Day' was sung by Miss Ruth Davidson. At the first strain of the 'Bridal Chorus' from 'Lohengrin,' played by Miss Margaret Wayland, the minister took his position at the altar and was immediately followed by the groom and his best man, Mr. Clark Birkeheimer.
"Next descending the stairs came the two bridesmaids, Miss Ruth Cartwright, a sister of the groom, and Miss Lois Tilton, a sister of the bride. They were becomingly gowned alike in dainty white lingerie dresses, having girdles of taffeta. Miss Cartwright wore lavender and Miss Tilton pink and carried arm bouquets of sweet peas of corresponding colors.
"Following the bridesmaids came the matron of honor, Mrs. Albert John Krekeler. Her gown was of blue crepe de chine with an overdrap of cream lace. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and pink sweet peas.
"Then came the bride leaning on the arm of her father, looking radiantly lovely in a modish gown of soft taffeta with an accordion pleated tunic of chiffon cloth. The bodice was elaborated with pearl trimmings and ornaments. Her tulle veil was artistically arranged in cap effect and caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a large shower bouquet of bride roses and white sweet peas.
"The color scheme used in the reception hall was yellow, golden blow and yellow roses being used. The dining room was especially dainty with pink candles and hanging gold baskets of pink sweet peas and asters. Huge baskets of the same flowers adorned the table and buffet.
"Assisting in this room were Miss Helen Bogue, Miss Mayme Arnold, Miss Mildred Walsh and Miss Adrine Tilton.
"Dr. and Mrs. Tilton were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Sanford Cartwright, mother of the groom, Mrs. Ewing Dean Colvin, Mrs. Gilbert Bogue and Mrs. Daniel W. McMorris.
"The bride's wedding was caught by Miss Mayme Arnold.
"Mr. and Mrs. Cartwright left for Juneau, Alaska, where they will make their home.
"A cape suit of midnight blue serge, lined with white satin, and a hat of black velvet with white satin crown and white flowers were worn by the bride on her trip North."

PLANT WILL HAVE GREATER CAPACITY
With the addition of the new boiler which will be ready for use in another month the Alaska Light and Power company's steam power plant in Juneau will be able to carry a load fifty per cent. heavier than at present. The company has been working hard during the past season to bring the efficiency of the plant up to the prospective as well as the actual needs of the community. With this idea in view both the hydro-electric and steam power adjuncts have been enlarged and put in first class condition. In addition to this miles of new service lines have been established.
The iron for the big fuel oil tanks is expected on the Spokane and as soon as it arrives a tank will be built with a capacity of 15,000 gallons.
The new building for the power station is practically completed. All that remains to be done is the placing of the metal covering on the frame work that is now in place. The metal for this is expected to arrive on the Spokane with other material.

TEN OLD TIMERS GET THEIR PICTURES TAKEN
Yesterday a bunch of the oldtime commercial men who more than ten years ago travelled out of Juneau for their respective houses held a sort of reunion. After telling a few stories of the old days they went over to Winter & Pond's and had themselves photographed. Several of the old travellers are now fixtures in Juneau and engaged in business on their own account. Those forming the party included Samuel Guyot, J. F. Chamberlain, L. E. Buel, D. W. Terwilliger, Charles E. Hooker, Oak Olson, C. M. McGrath (now in business in Sitka), D. A. Epsteyn, F. M. Davis, H. J. Raymond. All of them except McGrath still make Juneau headquarters.

COHOES RUNNING HEAVY NEAR WRANGELL NOW

The City of Seattle on the southbound trip, Mr. Moulton says, loaded fresh salmon and halibut at Wrangell for five hours. The fish was consigned for the Seattle market.

JUNEAU SCHOOL HAS LARGE ENROLLMENT
With an unexpectedly large enrollment the city schools opened formally yesterday morning. There are many students registering from other schools and a large first grade as well as a large Freshman class in the high school.
The high school enrollment numbers fifty-nine regular students and two who will take special work in one class only. The Freshman class numbers twenty-nine, and is the largest Freshman class in the history of the Juneau high school.
Miss Lorraine Andrews and Miss Lovina Willson of the high school staff arrived on the Jefferson yesterday. Several grade teachers for different parts of the territory were on the Jefferson also, among them Miss Merrie Magill and Miss Florence Getchell of the Juneau Schools and Miss Myrtle Rhodes who is at the Treadwell school again this year.
Miss Harriet Case came in Monday night on the J. B. Stetson from Portland, Miss Case has spent the summer at Baker, Oregon, and reports a very pleasant vacation.
City Clerk E. W. Pettit concedes that yesterday was his "busy day" and one watching him and his assistant handling the sale of school books would be inclined to agree with him.
Formal class work began this morning, and the machinery of the school system will settle down to regular work at once. Both buildings have undergone some necessary repairs, and are in far better shape to meet the needs of the students and teachers than before.

A. E. HARRIS SEES GOOD THINGS FOR FAIRBANKS
A. E. Harris, of the Chicago, St. Paul and Milwaukee, who has returned from a trip to Fairbanks, Dawson and other interior towns, says there is a feeling of optimism at Fairbanks, largely the result of the coming of the railroad, the terminus of which they hope to hold for a time, at least.
He says the mining situation at Fairbanks is equaling expectations.
Mr. Harris is particularly pleased at the outlook at Dawson. He said:
"In spite of the circumstance that the war is taking some of the people of their town away and absorbing a great deal of their interest, the people of Dawson are hopeful and they are increasing their productiveness each year."
"The people of Fairbanks expect the government railroad to be carried passed their town to the Yukon river eventually," said Mr. Harris, "but they expect to retain the terminus long enough to have that town established thoroughly as its interior headquarters—and they are looking forward with anticipation of improved conditions when the work begins next year."
Mr. Harris will remain at Juneau.

PROMINENT MINING ENGINEER HERE
H. G. Young, consulting engineer for the Algonquin Development company, which is the holding company of many mining companies operating in Canada, the Congo country, and also of the Juallin Alaska Mines company, operating at Juallin, arrived in Juneau on the Princess May last night accompanied by his family and will probably remain in this section for several months. General Superintendent A. N. Deneau of the Juallin mines came to Juneau to meet Mr. Young and they will proceed to Juallin Friday.
The Algonquin Development company is financed largely by French and Belgian capital, and Mr. Jean Vanopem, of Brussels, Belgium, who is well known in Juneau, is the president of the organization. Word is brought that all of the company's properties except the Juallin mines have been closed down on account of the slump in copper. All of the company's holdings except Juallin are copper and silver mines. Mr. Young came direct from Porcupine, Canada to Juneau.

AN APPRECIATION FOR GENERAL OF JESUITS
Two weeks ago, when the attention of the world was centered on the Vatican palace where Pius X died of a broken heart caused by the ruthless Continental war that is raging now all over Europe, another figure, far less exalted and conspicuous, but important for all that, was removed from the stage of this world. Francis Xavier Werners, General of the order of Jesuits, received his last summons at Rome only two hours after Pius had closed his eyes in the sleep of death.
The dead General came from a land made famous by a Kepler, a Schiller, Hebel and others. He was born in 1842 in Wuerternberg, Germany.
On September 8th, 1906, he was elected the 29th General of the small army of Jesuits scattered throughout the world. He has earned fame and gratitude as an able General, though his rule was not long in time; but he has earned still greater fame and gratitude as a learned canonist. Through his books in which he clearly explained the most intricate laws of his Church he became known throughout the world as a great authority on ecclesiastical matters.
His death is keenly felt among the learned ones, as well as by the great and militant body of men whose leader he was for the short period of eight years.
