JUNEAN TO HAVE PENMANSHIP SCHOOL

Prof. H. D. Poore, teacher of penmanship in the Juneau public school, will open a private school in penmanship, shorthand, typewriting, English, spelling, business letter writing, and all the branches that make one proficient in this line of work, in Juneau.

Prof. Poore will begin his work next week, and temporarily the students will be accommodated at Apartment 5, Cliff Apartments, located just back of the Court House.

Prof. Poore was formerly with the Behne-Walker Business College of Portland, Oregon, and has had a thorough training in business college work. He says it is his purpose to conduct his school strictly on a business college basis.

The Juneau school authorities, students and parents are pleased with the results that are being obtained by Prof. Poore with his public school classes with his special system of teaching. He will give his personal and special attention to penmanship students.

The hours in Prof. Poore's school will be from 10:30 until 4 p. m., with evening classes Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

It is Prof. Poore's desire that those wishing to enroll to do so before Monday.

WOMEN'S SOCIAL UNION MEETING

The Woman's Social Union of the Methodist church will meet tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at two o'clock at the home of Mrs. Edgar Province, corner of Calhoun Road and Distin avenue.

SPECIAL MEETING.

A special meeting of Juneau Musical Club will be held on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the school house.

It is important that all members be present.

McCULLOUGH DESTROYS AN OLD WHALER

After having lain for years after she sank in the harbor at Unalaska, a menace to navigation, the old steam whaler Fearless was blown up by the captain of the revenue cutter McCullough on August 15, according to an official report of the Hydrographic Bulletin, issued by the U. S. navy.

The Fearless was a vessel about 175 feet long. She was under the Norwegian flag and was brought to this coast by Capt. McKenna, who was in command when she sank. The old whaler was lying in the harbor at Unalaska under an attachment for debt. She sprang a leak and one evening sank without warning.

Capt. McKenna later was in command of the schooner Redfield, which was lost off Cape Prince of Wales, four years ago.

According to the report from the McCullough, the soundings over the spot where the old hulk lies show a minimum depth of ten and one-half fathoms at mean low tide.

PREPARATIONS PROGRESSING FOR GOLDSTEIN OPENING

Preparations are progressing for the formal opening and reception that is to be held by the Goldstein Emporium Monday evening, October 26, celebrating the completion of the big Goldstein block. It will be in the nature of a housewarming for the new home of the big Goldstein store.

A fine musical program has been arranged for the entertainment of visitors on the occasion, including as special features, violin selections by Mr. Willis E. Nowell and several selections by the Juneau Musical club as vocal selections by well known Juneau singers.

Every lady who attends the reception will be presented with a handsome souvenir. A general invitation is extended to all the people of Juneau and other Gastineau channel towns to be present.

There has been a slight change in the schedules that were announced for the special ferry service for this occasion. The first ferry will leave Thane at 6:55; Treadwell, 7:05; Bouglas, 7:10. The second ferry will leave Thane at 7:40, Treadwell, 7:50; Douglas, 7:55. Returning from Juneau the first ferry will leave at 10 o'clock and the second at 11 o'clock. All who travel on the ferries mentioned will be carried gratis, and be the guests of Mr. Goldstein, just the same as when in the handsome new stores.

JOHN BUNNY AT THE ORPHEUM THEATRE

Tonight John Bunny, the highest salaried photo-player in the world, assisted by Miss Clara Kimball Young, the winner of the world's voting contest for the most popular actress on the screen in motion picture magazine, will appear in "The Pirates," a special feature in two parts. "The Coast of California," is an educational film by the Pathe Co.

The Lubin Co. presents "A Love of 64," a strong story of the south.

Also a rattling good comedy by the Selig Co., "Sure-Cure for Carelessness." A special program arranged for Saturday matinee, so don't forget to bring the children.

IDITAROD HAS NOVEL HORSE AUCTION

IDITAROD, Sept. 12.—Considerable interest was manifested yesterday afternoon in the sale of government horses and other property which had been the equipment of the U. S. Geological Survey party which arrived at this place last Wednesday. The property was disposed of at public auction at the Adams barn, on Willow Street and a fair-sized crowd had been attracted by the posted notices of the sale. R. H. Sargent, the head of the expedition acted as auctioneer, and Dr. Smith raked in the coin. The officials stated after the sale that they were well satisfied with the prices obtained, in view of the condition of the local market, although the purchasers had secured some good bargains. All of the horses and other property were disposed of.

Among the horses auctioned off were a few ranging in weight around a thousand pounds, and one of these was bought by P. Uotila for $75, that sale being the top price. When in condition, the animals should weigh close to 1,250 pounds. Knute Koland purchased four of the animals at insignificant prices, and W. F. Kilgore bought three. Joe Hovach secured for $9 an animal which has a reputation throughout Eastern Oregon and Montana as a race horse, and which has won much money and many souvenirs on the track. Some of the animals were knocked down at a figure as low as $4. Wada, the Jap, became the owner of an animal which is said to be about as hard a proposition to handle as could be desired for anyone looking for strenuous exercise.

The horses were purchased for the expedition at Pendleton, Ore., last Spring, and are declared to have been excellently adapted to the expedition's needs.—Iditarod Pioneer.

SKAGWAY MAKES PRESENT TO POST-INTELLIGENCER

"Greetings from Skagway to the editor of the Post-Intelligencer," was the only inscription on a mysterious box delivered at the Post-Intelligencer yesterday afternoon. The outside of the box was liberally placarded with postcard views of the Northern city, while the inside was filled with potatoes, turnips, cabbage and red beets, all very choice specimens. The vegetables from the Far North were the equal of any grown in the vicinity of Seattle.—Seattle Post Intelligencer

TACOTNA SHOWING GOOD PROSPECTS

Candle creek, in the Kuskokwim country is showing up strong, Gaines creek, in the Innoko is being taken over by a syndicate headed by Tom Aitken, and the latter is building a wireless station at Tacotna, according to authentic advices received in Juneau from the last named place.

Candle Creek is a tributary of the Tatlena, which in turn, is a tributary of the Tacotna river, the latter being one of the large tributaries of the Kuskokwim, forming a confluence where the town of McGrath is located. According to the news contained in the message referred to, Aitken and McKinnon had already taken out $40,000 this season at the close of July, and the keystone drill had shown up a full million still in the ground.

Working down stream the bedrock becomes deeper and the ground wet, making a drill imperative for prospecting purposes, therefore the value of a great portion of the creek are still unknown. The creek is seven miles long and the paystreak has been proved for a distance of one mile, commencing at the head and getting better going down stream. The pay at the head runs $150 per square foot of bedrock and is 150 feet wide, widening to 300 feet in places. A company consisting of Aitken, McKinnon, Seddon, Henry Riley, and "Red" Ellis, and another prominent mining man whose name was not mentioned, have taken over Gaines Creek in the Innoko, which they will prospect with a drill during the coming winter. It is their idea to prepare for the operation of a dredge on the property. There will also be one or two large scraping outfits working in the Innoko next summer. Yankee Creek in the Innoko is also coming to the front as prospecting advances. Pay is located down as far as No. 10 below, making full five miles of pay on that stream.

Transportation facilities are now much better than formerly on account of the operation of the gasoline boats on the Kuskokwim and up the Tacotna to the Portage.

Tom Aitken is building a wireless station at Tacotna. The plant is to be hauled in and set up as soon as the winter trail will be fit for travel. A winter mail service via Seward is looked forward to with considerable satisfaction. The men have been paying on an average of $16 to $20 per month each to have their mail brought to them.

The Tacotna is spoken of as a veritable "Garden of Eden," so far as table vegetables are concerned, including such items as potatoes, cabbage, rutabagas, cucumbers, celery, beets, green peas, raspberries, currants and the like.

NOME READY FOR COMING ELECTION

NOME, Oct. 1.—A number of the candidates filed their names with the committee last night, which was the last opportunity given them to file and have their names appear on the ballots which were arranged for the various precincts, says the Nome Nugget. The names will appear in their alphabetical order with such party designation as the candidates may choose. The names which were filed with the secretary of the committee will appear on the ballot with the nominees for Delegate to Congress. The filing with the secretary is not a legal requirement and there is nothing to prevent anyone from running for Senator or Representative even though his name be not placed on the ballot prepared by the committee.

The following are the names of the candidates in the order which they will appear on the ballot:

- For Delegate From Alaska: Brooks, John H. Socialist; Bunnell, Charles E. Democrat; For Members of the Legislature For Senator: Aldrich, Frank A. Democrat; Anderson, Andy. Republican; Douglass, Jack L. Independent; James, George. Independent; Madsen, Jens. Socialist; For Representatives: Chilberg, Joseph. Socialist; Combs, Nate H. Democrat; J. J. Daly, James P. Democrat; Eddy, W. M. Republican; Getchell, W. W. Jones, Charles D. Republican; Barry Keown; Koppitz, George H. Moran, Martin F. Independent; McLean, Thomas. O'Neill, Hugh; Parry, J. A. Socialist; Peterson, P. A. Socialist; Powell, T. C. Republican; Sommers, R. J. Independent; Stipeck, William. Socialist.

EXCURSION INLET TAKES INTEREST IN ELECTION

Robert Bell, head of the Puget Sound and Astoria Packing Co., operating at Excursion Inlet, arrived in town last night on the cannery tender Mercury, accompanied by Mrs. Bell. The election campaign is creating quite an interest in that section of the country Mr. Bell says and results are apt to be surprising.

AT THE JUNEAN.

Tonight is a complete change of program. Feature films, vocal solos, violin solos, trained cannie duets and all. That the music lovers in Juneau appreciate good music, both vocal and instrumental, has been proven by the showers of "by requests" received by Mlle. Violet, and Prof. Crandall. There are five very good features "The Ex-Operation" in two reels, "Crooks and Credulous," a strong society drama and a side splitting comedy "A Mix-up in Pedigrees," making a very evenly balanced bill. Two shows nightly. Across from Goldstein's. Curtain raises 7:30 and 9:15.

TOWNSITE SURVEY PLEAS WRANGELL PROPERTY OWNERS

The prospects of getting title to their town property now that the town site has been surveyed has stimulated interest in among the inhabitants of Wrangell, according to P. C. McCormick, pioneer merchant of that place who is a Juneau visitor. Mr. McCormick went to Wrangell in early days and has been in business there since 1898. "Wrangell is just as prosperous today as ever," said Mr. McCormick. "We have grown come and there has been increased competition, but all the time there has been new development going on and trade has expanded accordingly."

"The salmon pack this year is lighter or than the previous years but the packers are well pleased at the increase in prices, and this helps some."

Mr. McCormick came to Juneau to accompany Mrs. McCormick back home and they will be leaving on the City of Seattle tonight. Mrs. McCormick has been receiving medical treatment in St. Ann's hospital for some time, and is very much improved.

MISS GULICK TO START DANCING CLASSES

Miss Francis Gulick from New York, arrived on the Princess May and is located at the Charon House, on Main street. Miss Gulick was trained at the Chalf Normal School of Dancing. M. Chalf is a graduate of the Imperial ballet school of Russia, and is the head of the leading school of dancing in the States.

The Chalf dancing is an art which while allowing an amateur to make rapid progress, is yet authentic, beautiful and utterly captivating to the student. Miss Gulick, who has a very thorough knowledge of the dances that have been danced the last year as Tango, Maxixe, One Step, Lane Duck, etc. has lately been studying with the Castles, at the Castle School of Dancing. These dances which are to be danced in the leading circles in New York in the coming season are as follows. Lulu Fado, Fox Trot, Rouli, Rouli, Waltz, Canter, Half and Half, etc.

Miss Gulick is preparing to form her classes immediately, and will start the children's morning class on Saturday, Oct. 31.

She is also planning to have a ladies' morning class, which will include rhythmic exercises. She also plans to give a series of subscription dances. Part of the evenings will be spent in instruction in the new dances, a part of the regular social dancing.
