BUNNELL IS WINNING IN SECOND AND THIRD

BUNNELL AT NOME AND WEST

NOME, Nov. 3.—There was a tremendous attendance at the Bunnell rally held here last night. Bunnell going fully one hundred votes through holding the meeting.

There is heavy betting here with Bunnell the favorite for carrying this Division.

NUGGETT

SEWARD, Nov. 3.—Charles E. Bunnell spoke to a large crowd here last night, and made a splendid impression. There is plenty of money offered that he will carry Seward.

GATEWAY.

BIG MAJORITY AT VALDEZ VALDEZ, Nov. 3.—The voting here is heavy. There will be 700 votes polled, and Bunnell will have a big majority. There is no Wickersham money in sight.

BUNNELL'S BUILDING BURNS The Bunnell building, owned by Charles E. Bunnell, was burned last night. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

"WHAT HAS HE DONE?"

The Wickersham supporters have circulated a yellow "dodger" today that not only claims credit for Wickersham for practically all of the beneficial legislation for Alaska that has been enacted during recent years—but IT CLAIMS CREDIT FOR LEGISLATION THAT HAS NOT BEEN ENACTED.

For instance: He has secured an appropriation of $25,000 for the building of a home for aged and indigent prospectors at Fairbanks.—Yellow Dodger.

NO SUCH APPROPRIATION HAS EVER BEEN MADE. Again: He has secured an appropriation of $250,000 for public buildings at Cordova.—Yellow Dodger.

NO 250,000 APPROPRIATION WAS EVER MADE FOR PUBLIC BUILDINGS AT CORDOVA. Some Other Things.

He has protected the homes of the people of Valdez in securing government aid in harnessing the Valdez glacial stream.—Yellow Dodger.

Wickersham's name was never connected in the records of Congress or any committee with the Valdez Dike legislation.

He accomplished almost a miracle in defeating the infamous "Beveridge bill"—Tatt's pet scheme to place Alaska under a military commission form of government, the same that governed the negroes in the Philippines.—Yellow Dodger.

Wickersham prepared a bill incorporating practically the same iniquitous provisions which Cale introduced in 1907.

He has protected the lives of the miners, by securing the passage of the "Mine Inspection Act"—Yellow Dodger.

His bill provided for one mine inspector for all of Alaska.

He has secured the passage of the "Miner's lien law" thereby protecting the wages of the laboring men of Alaska.—Yellow Dodger.

The lien is limited to the "dump," Mine property and equipment is immune from attack by the miners.

His bill secured an appropriation of $250,000 for public buildings at Juneau.—Yellow Dodger. Wickersham had no connection with this bill.

He has now introduced a bill for an additional appropriation of $400,000 for the same purpose, with every assurance of its early passage.—Yellow Dodger.

He introduced the bill after Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo wrote him a more or less curt note asking what he was going to do about it.

THE WEATHER TODAY.

Maximum—44.
Minimum—39.
Cloudy—Rain.
Precipitation—30.

LOOKS GOOD FOR BUNNELL

The Juneau election is passing off quietly, and the indications are that a good vote will be polled. At 3 p. m. 587 votes had been cast, 355 in precinct No. 2, the residence precinct, and 232 in the downtown precinct. Fifty votes had been cast in Gold Creek precinct, just outside of the city limits. The election has been quiet.

The Bunnell workers at the polls predict the Democratic nominee will carry Juneau by a comfortable plurality. The women vote will play an important part in the contest. They are voting strongly in the residence precinct, but only 12 of them had voted down town up to 3 o'clock.

Both Bunnell and Wickersham workers are in evidence at the voting places in the two precincts, and there are also supporters of both the Democratic and Non-Partisan legislative tickets. All are working hard.

The saloons closed this morning and will not open until after the polls are closed.

The polls opened promptly at precinct No. 2, with the following election board in charge. Judges—J. T. Martin, Allen Shattuck, I. Sowerby; Clerks—A. A. Gabbs, H. L. Lucas. The first vote was cast by Sam Williamson, followed by John J. Clarke, R. L. Cardello, L. E. Van Winkle, M. E. Russell, in order.

In precinct No. 1, some little delay was occasioned in opening the polls on account of the failure of two members of the election board to be present and qualify. However, others were chosen from those present to fill out the vacancies and the polls opened with the following board in charge: Judges—A. G. Bally, Sam Kohn Charles Holsing; Clerks—Isa Goldstein, Frank Harvey. The first vote was cast by William Rugg, followed by Max Endeman, John Welch and James Kelly in the order named.

Up to noon there were 103 votes cast in precinct No. 1; 181 in No. 2, and 33 in Gold creek. It is variously estimated that these three precincts will cast from 800 to 1200 votes. The voting has not been very fast. Indications are that the morning vote in precinct No. 1 will be about equally divided on the Delegate to Congress between Bunnell and Wickersham with the Democratic legislative ticket having a slight lead. Precinct No. 2, so far as indications go, voted overwhelmingly for Bunnell in the morning vote, conservative estimates placing it at 3 to 1 in favor of the Democratic candidate. The legislative tickets may show greater strength for the Non-Partisans than for Wickersham, although there seemed to be little scratching done. The Gold creek precinct morning vote is believed to be over two-thirds for Bunnell. This precinct will have about 125 votes.
