SLEEPLESS KIDS DELIGHT AUDIENCE
Having had but five hours of sleep in sixty hours, but with their faces wreathed in smiles that have made them favorites wherever they have appeared in the golden north, the dainty little members of the Juvenile Bostonians reached Juneau at 7:45 last night, on the Mariposa and an hour later were captivating the large audience that gathered in the Orpheum to see them in "Pantana." Tonight they play "Tipperary Mary," and tomorrow night their bill will be King Dodo. The Sunday night bill has not been announced.
This is the "why" for their insomnia—Tuesday night they played in Prince Rupert, B. C., and an hour after the show they were aboard the gasoline launch El Paso, bound for Ketchikan, to fill an engagement at that place in time to catch the steamship Mariposa on to Juneau. No time slept on the launch ride, according to "Mother" Lang, guardian of the flock, and when the boat finally reached Ketchikan it was almost time for the curtain to rise on their performance. So on the stage they went and played and laughed and sang, while Tongass residents applauded and encored. Immediately after the show they were hustled aboard the Mariposa and discovered that the boat was crowded with passengers for the interior and the westward. Accordingly all but a few of the kiddies slept in the social hall, or tried to sleep. Last night it was the same performance here, rushing to the theatre from the boat.
Reports this morning from their hotel say the kiddies failed to respond to the ringing of alarm clocks, and at noon several of them were still in Dreamland.

KETCHIKAN HAS TWO NEW COUNCILMEN
Old faces disappeared and new ones took their places at the council chambers last night, when A. E. Walker was unanimously elected by the Council to fill the vacancy caused by M. J. Heneghan's failure to qualify. When Mr. Walker had been sworn in, Geo. M. Chesney tendered his resignation as councilman owing to the fact that he had moved to George Inlet and was thus unable to continue in the office. The resignation was accepted and an advisory ballot taken to select his successor. Five votes were cast, P. C. Shark receiving two, Mrs. W. A. Bryant, one, W. C. Strong, one, and W. H. Patching one. A discussion followed, on who could be considered as available timber for the office, after which a second ballot was taken, that resulted in the unanimous choice for Mr. Patching, and he was declared elected.—(Ketchikan Miner.)

WHITE PASS LOOKS FOR BIG TRADE
WHITEHORSE, May 22.—General Manager Wheeler, who returned this week from the Outside, having left Chicago on April 19, stopping three weeks in Seattle after reaching the coast, says the outlook for tourist travel to Alaska and the Yukon is very encouraging—that hundreds who come west to visit the Panama Exposition at Frisco, will make the northern trip and that a large number of those who come up the Alaskan coast will visit the Yukon before returning to their homes in the east.
Mr. Wheeler has been busy since his arrival but says he has found all departments in just as good condition as though he had been right here all the time, the various superintendents each being "Johnny on the spot" in his respective department. He also spoke of the successful work being carried on at the shipyards where the various steamers are being overhauled before being placed in commission and of how the big lower river steamers, Alaska and Yukon, have been successfully changed from wood into oil burners.

SEATTLE ASKED TO AID LIBRARY
SEATTLE, May 31.—From Council, Alaska, 100 miles northeast of Nome, on the Seward peninsula, comes an appeal to the Alaska bureau of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce for help in restocking the library of the Arctic Brotherhood, which was destroyed by fire last winter. The letter says:
"Camp Council, No. 11, Arctic Brotherhood, has just experienced the misfortune of having a fire in its library, which destroyed the entire collection of about 1,000 books.
"The Arctic Brotherhood is the one fraternal organization of the little mining camp of Council upon which devolves the duty of caring for the social and literary needs of its people. Good books and good magazines are needed very much during the long winter months and the A. B. library has heretofore supplied the need. Now it is gone and the scanty funds of the camp will all be required to make the necessary repairs on the building itself, leaving very little, if anything, to provide a new supply of books.
"We know there must be hundreds, perhaps thousands of people who probably would only be too glad to contribute good books from their own library if only they knew our need. The difficulty is to get in touch with the ones who would help."

GERMAN-AMERICANS BACK UP WILSON
The New York World of May 17th contains the following:
What would your organizations do if America and Germany became involved in war?
This question was put yesterday by The World to officials of German shooting societies in several of the larger cities. They replied that they, naturalized Americans, would stand by their adopted country, even to the point of bearing arms against their Fatherland. Their statements follow:
SIOUX CITY, Ia.—"We will stand by the President to the last ditch, although it should necessitate our taking up arms against our beloved Fatherland," Rudolph Heerndt, President of Deutscher Kriegerbund von Nord Amerika, the American branch of the Sons of German Veterans, who in their loyalty to Germany have been prominent features of the European war, made this statement today. He was speaking for more than 9,000 prominent German-Americans.
"All of our members able to bear arms will enlist under the banner of our adopted country in case war is declared," he concluded.

CHICAGO—Officers of the Chicago Schuetzen Verein, the only German shooting corps in Chicago, said it would be absurd to suppose that their organization would not support the United States to a man in the event of difficulties with Germany. Circuit Judge George Kersten, President of the club, said that numerous enlistments might be expected among the younger members.
"Above all," said Emil Demme, the treasurer of the organization, "we are Americans. The United States stands first in our hearts, for it is the land we have chosen as our home. To a man we will support President Wilson in whatever he does."
Similar opinions were expressed by Police Lieut. Max Heidelemer, Comptroller of the organization, and former Sheriff Zimmer, who was an official of the Schuetzen Verein.

WHITEHORSE LOOKING FOR A BIG CROWD
Prospects for a good crowd here on the 29th, the date of the International Baseball tournament, are very flattering, letters having been received from a number of baseball teams accepting the invitation to be present. People from points on Lynn Canal and Gas-tineau Channel enjoy coming the Whitehorse and getting a few days sunshine just as we of Whitehorse and other interior points enjoy a trip to the coast for a "sniff" of salt water.—(Whitehorse Star.)

COPPER OUTLOOK FOR WHITEHORSE
WHITEHORSE, May 22.—The latest reports from the outside are that copper is now selling at 22 cents per pound and will probably reach thirty cents within the next six weeks or two months, the supply of all Europe being exhausted and the United States and Canada being practically the only countries where it can be produced at present.
In connection with the above, it is in order to mention that General Manager Wheeler of the W. P. & Y. R., and General Manager Greenough of the Atlas Mining Company, both of whom returned Tuesday from the outside, have, as yet nothing definite to announce about the resumption of work at the Pueblo but, like President Wilson in connection with the European war, are "watching and waiting" while hopeful that "the cat will jump."
In the meanwhile, there are several copper properties in this locality that could be very profitably operated with

PHILADELPHIA—Emil Guenther, President of the Guenther Lumber company, a member of the Union League and a leading spirit in the Schuetzen Verein, said today:
"Expressions of loyalty to the President by citizens of German birth are neither new nor unexpected. From the day that Pastor Muhlenberg laid aside his clerical robes and stood forth in the full uniform of the Continental army, throughout the Civil War, when men of German extraction were found among officers and privates, to the present day—wherever our government has been in need, there has never been a call unanswered by the former sons of the Fatherland and their descendants."
"Let us not speak of war," said Franz Ehrlich, Jr., counsel for the Pennsylvania branch of the German-American Alliance, which in this city has a membership of 45,000. "I do not believe the United States will become involved in war, but if it does, German-Americans will be found fighting for the land of our adoption, shoulder to shoulder with every true citizen of the United States."
"Every American should heartily support the President's declaration," Mr. Ehrlich continued.
