ANCHORAGE MAY CHANGE ITS NAME

While at the new town of Anchorage recently Gov. J. F. A. Strong said that he would like for the people of that city to change the name of their growing little city to something that would have a broader meaning than "Anchorage." The suggestion has caused a great deal of comment, and all classes of people are becoming interested in a new name for the new city in Alaska.

Among the names that have been suggested are "Matanuska," "Alaska City," "Terminal," "Woodrow," and "Wilson City."

Mears Suggests Matanuska. In a letter to the Cook Inlet Pioneer, Lieut. Frederick Mears of the railroad engineering commission, suggested "Matanuska," saying that the town that will be established at the coal fields could then be called "Chickaloon."

The letter follows: "Following the expressed wish of the Governor that a new name be given to the town of Anchorage, 'Matanuska' is suggested as being appropriate because of the geographical position of the town in relation to the coal fields.

"This will doubtless be the shipping point for Matanuska coal and is a name well known throughout the United States, identifying this section of Alaska.

"The town in the coal fields could be called 'Chickaloon' and the junction could be designated 'Chickaloon Junction.'

"If this name meets with the approval of the residents, I would be pleased to suggest it to the proper authorities.

"The Cook Inlet Pioneer has kindly consented to receive votes on this name and publish the result in next week's issue."

PROPOSAL TO STANDARDIZE U. S. DOLLAR

President Wilson wishes to internationalize the United States dollar. Admirable!

The dollar ought to be the coin in which all Americans think from Palagonia to the North Polar sea. There are many different dollars and have been since the first one was made five centuries ago in Germany, but ours is the best dollar that is or was.

Washington Irving labeled it "the Almighty dollar, that great object of universal devotion throughout our land." In the Spanish-American countries the invariably refer to the dollar of our republic as a "dollar gold," while their is a "dollar Mex," the Mex being short for Mexican.

worth two Mexican dollars. They use dollars in China and down in the Malay Peninsula. There is a Dutch dollar in the various islands belonging to Holland.

Germany's standard of value was also a dollar until after the Franco-Prussian war, when mark was put upon the throne.

The first dollar was made from silver mined in Bohemia, and it was called a "Joachim's thaler."

It bore an effigy of St. Joachim. That thaler has had many different dresses such as dalar, delar, Dolder, tolere, before budding forth into the English language as dollar.

Our American dollar was born the year the Constitution of the United States was made in Independence square. Gouverneur Morris was the daddy of our dollars and cents.

Up until that time the American Colonies and states had used the English pounds, shillings, pence and farthings. Down in the Spanish lands they never fail to mention as pieces of eight.

They were very often called dollars by those who used them. But the United States dollar has stability as well as history behind it. It is what Frederick T. Chandler would call "very pretty money."

It would be a great advance toward that dreamed-of Pan-America were this gold dollar to become the monetary unit for the whole Western Hemisphere.

My broker friend, William Sherrell, who is just home from California via the northern border of Mexico, had an illustration of what cheap money means. He bought a five-dollar note issued by Carranza for a quarter.—Philadelphia Ledger.
