FAMOUS CASE TO BE CLOSED

Andrew Christensen, chief of the field service, general land office, who left Juneau last week for Prince Rupert, has gone on to San Francisco, where he will close up the Lisborne-Cornell coal case, which has been pending ever since the government investigation of the coal situation several years ago.

The claims involved are in the vicinity of Nome but the case was taken before the San Francisco land office owing to the great expense that would be involved by bringing the witnesses to Nome.

WIRELESS TELEPHONE MEN IN JUNEAU

G. L. Milligan, the well known electrical engineer who had charge of the installation of the government wireless plants at Fairbanks, Fort Gibbon and St. Michaels and other points in Alaska, and C. B. McCoy, of the Universal High Power Telephone Company, are recent arrivals in Juneau.

This telephone is a recent invention which makes it possible for the human voice to be transmitted by wireless and the two men claim big things for its future.

Mr. Milligan, who has been in Alaska more or less since 1903, when he installed the United States wireless station at St. Michaels, said:

"This high power telephone is something that will revolutionize long distance conversations."

CHISANA OUTPUT WILL BE FULLY $150,000

Late arrivals at Fairbanks from the Chisana say that the amount of the output of the Chisana district for the year will be fully $150,000.

EBNER TUNNEL NOT TO STOP

Contrary to rumor, there will be no let-up in the work of tunnel driving at the Ebner mine. The work is progressing under the direction of Foreman George Oswald.

Downie D. Muir, Jr., engineer in charge of the property, will leave Juneau about November 1, but will return at intervals of from two to three months, to inspect the work. Mr. Muir has returned from Sitka, where he examined a property.

FEAST OF TABERNACLES NEXT JEWISH HOLIDAY

Today is Yom Kippur, or the day on which the members of the Jewish faith atone for their sins, by supplication. The holiday is being observed here.

Next Wednesday is the Feast of the Tabernacles. Of this festival, which comprises eight days, beginning on September 22 and ending October 1, the Jewish Holidays Press Notice Bureau says:

"Once a year Israel revives its love of the soil, and makes public avowal of the fact that even an industrial civilization, such as ours, depends primarily upon the elements of nature. This re-statement of life for and confidence in Mother Earth is indeed a fact of Jewish religiousness. We know and we reassure ourselves that God is at the center of life through all the seasons and that the prosperity and the satisfaction we seek come or do not come according to His law."

"Judism is a religion in the very midst of the passions, aspirations and complications of life. Nowhere are these more insistent than in the economic interests of men. Here religion has a duty as well as an opportunity. Judaism endeavors not merely to fortify men in their difficulties as to the daily bread, but also to keep them moral large-hearted and just."

"The Sukkoth Festival is meant not as a season of self-congratulation on having garnered in the product of the farm or the gains of business, but as a time for thought on the larger-scope social and international life. The laws are the first to have recognized political economy as the fields where religion and morality must operate for the good of men."

"In its modern form the suggestiveness of this truth of the Sukkoth Festival is made more effective by the fact that it occurs at the beginning of the Autumn, coincident with the increased activities of the economic agencies. It is, as it were, a timely lesson for each one to interpret his life as of larger scope, related to the national life and made possible in fulness only within it."

"The 'dwelling in booths,' as characteristic of the Biblical phrase of the Festival and observed as an archaic symbolism nowadays, is a suggestive domestic ritual which reaffirms the lessons of the 'simple life' and the democracy of the Jewish household. The five symbolic plants, banded together, hint that, as the gifts of God in nature vary and in their totality make human life sweet and satisfactory, so the difference among men, as to service and character, may serve to make 'society' an organization in which each one of us has a place and can make a helpful contribution. Some more effective, some less; some noble, and some commonplace; some for the day and some for all time, according to what they do and what they are."

"The Sukkoth Festival is the culminating lesson of the series of holidays of the month. It addresses itself to the facts of life which we wight, otherwise, leave so cold. It widens the horizon of our individual interests. It approves our vocations and labors not when they bring private satisfactions but when they vitalize our common humanity and make us more efficient in the work upon which depend the weal, the peace and the joy of the community."

KENAI PENINSULA MAN TAMES MOOSE

SEWARD, Sept. 11.—A whole family of moose, including the mother, a yearling and a calf have come under the personal protection of Ben M. Sweeney, "somewhere on Kenai Peninsula" and the animals are said to have become as tame as a flock of domesticated sheep. Whenever the hunters in that vicinity happen along Mr. Sweeney tells them of the herd and that he is "acquainted with its relatives" and the moose are safe.—(Seward Gateway.)

J. H. SMART DEAD.

DAWSON, Sept. 11.—John Smart, an old-time prospector 63 years of age died at the Good Samaritan hospital here Sept. 10. Smart was a native of Ontario, and had been ill for several months.

FUNERAL BY SIGNS.

PORTERVILLE, Calif., Sept. 12.—Funeral services in the sign language were held from her Westfield home for Mrs. Anna Cabelka, aged 42 years, a member of the deaf mute colony of the suburban district. Rev. J. M. Blacklock delivered the address, which was translated into the sign language by Marie Wann, daughter of deaf mute parents. Hymns were also "sung" in the sign language in concert. All in attendance at the service with the exception of the minister, were deaf mutes.—(Ex.)
