Of This and That

By BETHA DIGREE

Don't forget that Saturday, February 27 is the day to have that delicious home cooked food prepared by the ladies of the Russian Orthodox Church. They plan to serve in the church basement from 11 am until 7 pm, but it is wise to go early. . . . Their food disappears quickly. . . .

Don and Irene Lawhead hosted a cocktail party at their home before the BPOE Purple Bubble Ball last Saturday evening. Don is Exalted Ruler of the local Elks Lodge. . . . A very pleasant party enjoyed by their many friends present. . . .

The Purple Bubble Ball committee headed by Archie Zehe, deserves much praise. . . . Tender, juicy prime ribs cooked by George Kappos. . . . Good salad and baked potatoes. . . . The fast, efficient service given by Walt Muller and Harry Nicolet. . . . The smooth, danceable music. . . . All these helped make it a pleasant evening. Everyone seemed to be having a gay time, and we hear that the fun went on until the early morning hours. Congratulations to the hard working committee for their successful efforts. . . .

Sunday evening was another "fun" evening when Jack and Justine Hinckel hosted a buffet dinner party. After feasting on Jack and Justine's specialty dish, Beef Stroganoff (which was goooooo!), guests Ann Tucker, Coy and Helen Stockard, Sig Digree and this writer took a trip to Hawaii with Jack and Justine. . . . Not an actual trip, of course, but the next best thing through the medium of their excellent color slides taken on their recent trip to the Islands. We could almost forget the cold rain here, and feel the soft breeze and warm sunshine shown in the pictures. . . . One could imagine the sweet music being played while the lovely girls danced. . . . All too soon we came back to reality as we wended our way homeward through the dampness and wind. . . .

More beautiful slides were seen at the Business and Professional Women's Club dinner meeting held at the Island Fountain when Mrs. Paul Haggland, Director of BPW District 2, showed slides of some of the lovely gardens in Fairbanks, wild flowers in that area, wild life and scenic views in the Brooks range and Mc Kinley Park. Especially appealing were pictures of wild birds and their fledglings in their nests. The photography and subject matter were among the best we have ever seen. . . .

Happy Birthday to Dorothy Albrecht on February 19. . . . We are a bit late on that one. . . . Birthday wishes, too, to David Kraft, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kraft, who became 10 years old on February 25. He celebrated his birthday in advance with a luncheon party and matinee at the theatre with 8 guests on the previous Saturday. His baby sister Jennifer had her first birthday on February 26. . . .

Death Comes To Frank Jay Wolf

Just 16 days old, little Frank Jay Wolf died at Griffin Memorial Hospital on Sunday, February 21. Frank Jay was born there on February 5. The cause of death was not determined. . . .

The baby is survived by his parents, Terry and Betty Chya Wolf, and brother Terry. . . .

Burial services were conducted by Rev. Roman Sturmer at the Russian Orthodox Church at 10 am Tuesday with interment in the Russian Cemetery. . . .

YOUNG IDEAS

from Polly Ponds

Q: My hair is sort of mouse-colored. Do you think I'd look better if I dyed it a more interesting shade?

A: No. Naturalness is your most appealing asset—and that includes the color of your hair.

Your hair will appear less neutral in tone if you wear light, bright colors—complexion make-up with a slightly rosy tint to it—and clear red lipstick.

A clean and shining head of hair is a dozen times more attractive than a brightly, but artificially, colored one. Shampoo yours once or twice a week and brush it dry. You'll discover it has all kinds of lovely highlights that completely take away its so-called "mousey" look.

Housekeeping With Great Grandmother

"Very light and pleasant" was great grandmother's description of a thing called apple bread, the recipe for which came originally from France. It was made by a mixture of apples and flour, in the proportion of one of the former to two of the latter. The usual quantity of yeast was employed, as in making common bread, and was beaten with flour and warm pulp of the apples after they were boiled, and the dough was then considered as set. It was then put in a proper vessel and allowed to rise for eight or twelve hours, and then it was baked in long loaves. Very little water was required—none, generally, if the apples were fresh.

Toothpaste, it wasn't on sale at the drug store in great grandmother's day, but cleaning teeth was still just as important a routine as it is now. This was the formula used a century ago for a tooth-cleaning substance: Dissolve two ounces of borax in three pints of water; before cold, add thereto one teaspoonful of tincture of myrrh and one teaspoon of spirits of camphor; bottle the mixture for use. One wineglass of the solution, added to half a pint of tepid water, was sufficient for each application. This solution, applied daily, "preserved and beautified the teeth, extirpated tartarous adhesion, produced a pearl-like whiteness, arrested decay and induced a healthy action in the gums."
